(2) Except as otherwise provided, parties to a contested case may jointly waive in writing a formal proceeding under this part. The parties may then utilize informal proceedings under [section 3]. Parties to contested case proceedings held under Title 37 or under any other provision relating to licensure to pursue a profession or occupation may not waive formal proceedings.

(3) If a contested case does not involve a disputed issue of material fact, parties may jointly stipulate in writing to waive contested case proceedings and may directly petition the district court for judicial review pursuant to 2-4-702. (2) The proposal for decision must contain a statement of the reasons therefor and of each issue of fact or law necessary to the proposed decision, prepared by the person who conducted the hearing unless he becomes unavailable to the agency.

(3) The agency may adopt the proposal for decision as the agency's final order. The agency in its final order may reject or modify the conclusions of law and interpretation of administrative rules in the proposal for decision but may not reject or modify the findings of fact unless the agency first determines from a review of the complete record and states with particularity in the order that the findings of fact were not based upon competent substantial evidence or that the proceedings on which

Thereupon the party so paying or his legal representatives may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction against the officers to whom said license or tax was paid or against the county or municipality in whose behalf the same was collected and the department of revenue. Both the officers to whom the license fee or tax was paid or the county or municipality in whose behalf the same was collected and the department of revenue must be served with summons and complaint within the time prescribed. Any action instituted to recover any such portions of license or tax paid under protest shall be commenced and summons served within 90 days after the date of payment of the same. When any such license or tax is payable in installments, the first installment portion of such tax or license as may be deemed unlawful may be paid under written protest and suit commenced and summons served to recover the same within the time herein prescribed, and if any subsequent installment of such license or tax shall become due or payable before the final determination of the suit commenced to recover the first installment portion paid under protest, then such subsequent installment portion deemed unlawful may also be paid under written protest and no suit or action need be commenced to recover the same, but the determination of the suit or action commenced to recover the first installment portion paid under protest shall determine the right of the party paying such subsequent installment to have the same or any part thereof refunded to him. All such portions of licenses and taxes when so paid under protest shall be deposited by the treasurer of the county or municipality to the credit of a special fund to be designated as protest fund and shall be invested in interest-bearing deposits in local banks or savings and loan associations and retained in such protest fund until the final determination of any suit or action to recover the same. Nothing contained herein prohibits the investment of the moneys of this fund in the state unified investment program.

(2) If no action is commenced within the time herein specified or if such action be commenced and finally determined in favor of the county or municipality or treasurer thereof, the amount of such protested portions of the license or tax shall be taken from such protest fund and deposited to the credit of the fund or funds to which the same property belongs, but if such action is finally determined adversely to such county or municipality or the treasurer thereof, then the treasurer shall, upon receiving a certified copy of the final judgment in said action, refund to the person in whose favor such judgment is rendered the amount of such protested portions of the license or tax, with costs of suit and interest at the rate currently paid on short-term interest-bearing time deposits in banks in the county or 5% a year, whichever is greater, from the date of payment under protest. If such action was commenced for the purpose of recovering the first installment portions of any such license or tax and any subsequent installment thereof has been paid under protest as herein provided, then the county treasurer shall, at the time of refunding the amount of such first installment required by such judgment, also refund such portion of any subsequent installment as the person holding such judgment is entitled to recover, together with interest thereon at the rate of 6% a year from the date of payment under protest."

CHAPTER NO. 288

AN ACT ALLOWING SCHOOL DISTRICTS TO CONDUCT LESS THAN THE MINIMUM NUMBER OF SCHOOL DAYS PROVIDED BY LAW; PROVIDING DEFINITIONS AND CONDITIONS; PROVIDING FOR PROPORTIONAL REDUCTIONS IN SCHOOL EQUALIZATION AID; AMENDING SECTIONS 20-1-301, 20-6-209, AND 20-9-311, MCA; PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Purpose. [Sections 1 through 5] govern a school district's entitlement to state equalization apportionment funds for any school year during which the school district is unable to conduct the minimum number of school days required by law by reason of one or more unforeseen emergencies. The provisions of [sections 1 through 5] must be narrowly interpreted.

Section 2. Definitions. As used in [sections 1 through 5], unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Unforeseen emergency" means a fire, flood, explosion, storm, earthquake, riot, insurrection, community disaster, or act of God or any combination of the foregoing that acts as a principal cause for a school district's inability to conduct one or more scheduled school days.

(2) "School day" means the school day defined in 20-1-302.

(3) "Reasonable effort" means the rescheduling or extension of the school district's instructional calendar in an effort to attain the minimum number of school days required by law by:

(a) extending the school year 1 week beyond the last scheduled day; or

(b) the use of scheduled vacation days.

Section 3. Unforseen emergency minimum. In no case may a district be considered to have made a reasonable effort unless at least 3 school days that have been lost by reason of one or more unforeseen emergencies have in fact been made up.

Section 4. Determination of eligibility. If the county superintendent or, in a county with no county superintendent, the superintendent of public instruction determines that a reasonable effort has been made to make up all school days lost by reason of one or more unforeseen emergencies but fewer than the minimum number of school days required by law have been conducted, the school district will nevertheless be credited with full annual equalization apportionment according to the rate established in [section 5].

Section 5. Rate of reduction in annual apportionment entitlement. (1) For each school day short of the minimum number of school days required by law that a school district fails to conduct by reason of one or more unforeseen emergencies or by reason of any other cause and for which the school district is not entitled to apportionment credit, the superintendent of public instruction shall reduce the equalization apportionment and entitlement of the district for that school year by 1/180th.

(2) Kindergarten and grade 1 through 12 programs shall be considered separately for the purpose of computing compliance with minimum school day requirements and any loss of apportionment.

Section 6. Section 20-1-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-1-301. School fiscal year. The school fiscal year shall begin on July 1 and end on June 30. At least 180 school days of pupil instruction shall be conducted during each school fiscal year, unless a variance for kindergarten has been granted under 20-1-302 or a district is granted a variance under the provisions of [sections 1 through 5]. Any district that fails to provide for at least 180 school days of pupil instruction shall not be entitled to receive any apportionment of the state interest and income funds. Any such forfeited moneys shall be apportioned by the county superintendent to the other elementary districts of his county."

Section 7. Section 20-6-209, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-6-209. Elementary district abandonment. (1) The county superintendent shall declare an elementary district to be abandoned and order the attachment of the territory of such district to a contiguous district of the county when:

(a) a school has not been operated by a district for at least 180 days under the provisions of 20-1-301 for each of 3 consecutive school fiscal years or a lesser number of days as approved by the county superintendent or the superintendent of public instruction under the provisions of [section 4]; or

(b) there is an insufficient number of residents who are qualified electors of the district that can and will serve as the trustees and clerk of the district so that a legal board of trustees can be organized.

(2) The county superintendent shall notify the elementary district that has not operated a school for 2 consecutive years before the first day of the third year that the failure to operate a school for 180 days or a lesser number of days than approved by the county superintendent or the superintendent of public instruction as provided under the provisions of [section 4] during the ensuing school fiscal year shall constitute grounds for abandonment of such district at the conclusion of the succeeding school fiscal year. Failure by the county superintendent to provide such notification shall not constitute a waiver of the abandonment requirement prescribed in subsection (1)(a) above.

(3) Any abandonment under subsection (1)(a) shall become effective on July 1. Any abandonment of an elementary district under subsection (1)(b) shall become effective immediately on the date of the abandonment order."

Section 8. Section 20-9-311, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-9-311. Calculation of average number belonging (ANB). (1) Average number belonging shall be computed by determining the total of the aggregate days of attendance by regularly enrolled, full-time pupils during the current school fiscal year plus the aggregate days of absence by regularly enrolled, full-time pupils during the current school fiscal year and by dividing such total by 180. However, when a school district has approval to operate less than 180 school days under [section 4], such total shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of [section 5]. Attendance for a part of a morning session or a part of an afternoon session by a pupil shall be counted as attendance for one-half day. In calculating the ANB for pupils enrolled in a program established under 20-7-117 prior to January 1, 1974, or pursuant to 20-7-117(1), attendance at or absence from a regular session of the program for at least 2 hours of either a morning or an afternoon session will be counted as one-half of a day attended or absent as the case may be. If a variance has been granted as provided in 20-1-302, ANB will be computed in a manner prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction, but in no case shall the ANB exceed one-half for each kindergarten pupil. When any pupil has been absent, with or without excuse, for more than 10 consecutive school days, including pupil-instruction-related days, his absence after the 10th day of absence shall not be included in the aggregate days of absence and his enrollment in the school shall not be considered in the calculation of the average number belonging until he resumes attendance at school.

(2) If a student spends less than half his time in the regular program and the balance of his time in school in the special education program, he shall be considered a full-time special pupil but shall not be considered regularly enrolled for ANB purposes. If a student spends half or more of his time in school in the regular program and the balance of his time in the special education program, he shall be considered regularly enrolled for ANB purposes.

(3) The average number belonging of the regularly enrolled, full-time pupils for the public schools of a district shall be calculated individually for each school, except that when:

(a) more than one school of a district, other than a junior high school in an elementary district which has been approved and accredited as a junior high school, is located within the incorporated limits of a city or town, the average number belonging of such schools shall be based on the aggregate of all the regularly enrolled, full-time pupils attending such schools located within the incorporated limits of a city or town;

(b) a junior high school which has been approved and accredited as a junior high school is located within the incorporated limits of a city or town in which a high school is located, all of the regularly enrolled, full-time pupils of the junior high school shall be considered as high school district pupils for the purposes of calculating the average number belonging of the high schools located within the incorporated limits of such city or town;

(c) a middle school has been approved and accredited, in which case pupils below the 7th grade shall be considered elementary school pupils for ANB purposes and the 7th and 8th grade pupils shall be considered high school pupils for ANB purposes; or

(d) a school has not been accredited by the board of public education, the regularly enrolled, full-time pupils attending the nonaccredited school shall not be eligible for average number belonging calculation purposes, nor will an average number belonging for the nonaccredited school be used in determining the foundation program for such district.

(4) When 11th or 12th grade students are regularly enrolled on a part-time basis, high schools may calculate the ANB to include an "equivalent ANB" for those students. The method for calculating an equivalent ANB shall be determined in a manner prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction."

Section 9. Effective date. This act is effective upon passage and approval.

Approved March 26, 1979.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 3-15-401, MCA, is amended to read:

"3-15-401. Jury lists — by whom and when made. The chairman or, in his absence, any member of the board of county commissioners and the county clerk and recorder of each county must meet at the county seat of each county at the office of the county clerk and recorder on the second Monday of December of each year for the purpose of making a list of persons to serve as trial jurors for the ensuing year. If they fail to meet on the day specified in this section, they must meet as soon thereafter as practicable."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. I 728 1979

Section 2. Section 3-15-411, MCA, is amended to read:

"3-15-411. Term of service of jurors. (1) The persons whose names are so returned are known as regular jurors and must serve for 1 year and until other persons are selected and returned unless they are excused by the court or a judge pursuant to 3-15-501.

(2) If jurors are drawn before the selection and return of the new jury list as provided in this part and thereafter a new jury list is returned, they shall continue to serve as jurors, if the business of the court requires the attendance of a jury, for a period not exceeding 90 days.

(3) Notwithstanding such limitation of service, a jury composed of such jurors duly impaneled to try any cause shall continue to serve in such cause until discharged by the court from any further consideration of such cause. The fact that a new jury list has been returned shall not affect their status as jurors."

Section 3. Section 3-15-501, MCA, is amended to read:

"3-15-501. Order directing that trial jury be drawn and summoned. (1) At least once each year in each county, when a civil or criminal case has been at issue and ready for trial for more than 6 months and the plaintiff or defendant in such case has requested a jury trial or whenever the business of a district court requires the attendance of a trial jury for the trial of civil or criminal cases and no jury is in attendance, the court must make an order directing a trial jury to be drawn and summoned to attend before said court. Such order must specify the number of jurors to be drawn and the time at which the jurors are required to attend, which time may be at the same term in which the jurors are drawn or at the next succeeding term, in the discretion of the court.

(2) The court may direct that such causes, either criminal or civil, in which a jury may be required or in which a jury may have been demanded be continued and fixed for trial when a jury shall be in attendance.

(3) A district court may draw more than one trial jury in a given year if, in the opinion of the judge or judges thereof, the service of the trial jury in attendance has been unduly demanding, and in such case the trial jury in attendance may be excused by the court from further jury duty in that year.

(4) The judge or judges of a district or the judge of a department may designate that jury service in his or their district or department is on a "one-day or one-trial" basis; that is, each individual juror is excused for the rest of the year after having attended for 1 day and not having been selected to serve at the trial of a particular cause or after having completed service at such a trial.

(5) If the number of unexcused jurors is not sufficient to meet current requirements at any time, jurors excused under subsection (3) or (4) may be required to serve."

Section 4. Section 3-15-503, MCA, is amended to read:

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. I 729 1979

"3-15-503. Drawing — how conducted. (1) The clerk shall place the box on a rod so that it may readily revolve. The box must be revolved a sufficient number of times to ensure that the numbered slips in it become thoroughly mixed. Thereafter the judge shall draw from the box, one at a time, as many of the numbered slips as are ordered by the court.

(2) A record of the drawing shall be entered in the minutes of the court. It must show the names of the jurors corresponding to the numbers drawn from the jury box.

(3) If the court is satisfied that any person whose name is drawn is deceased or mentally incompetent or has permanently moved from the county, the name of the person shall be omitted from the list and another name shall be drawn in its place. The reason for the omission shall be entered upon the minutes of the court. The same procedure shall be followed as often as may be necessary, until the number of names of jurors required has been drawn.

(4) No person may be asked to serve for more than one term during any year unless all the numbers in the jury box have been drawn and there are no other qualified jurors available."

Section 5. Section 3-15-505, MCA, is amended to read:

"3-15-505. Notice to jurors. The clerk shall serve notice by mail on the persons drawn as jurors and require response thereto by mail in such form as the supreme court designates. He may attach to the notice a form for an affidavit claiming exemption, provided for in 3-15-314. If a person fails to respond to the notice, the clerk shall certify the failure to the sheriff, who shall then serve notice personally on such person and require a response to the notice."

Section 6. Section 3-15-506, MCA, is amended to read:

"3-15-506. Obtaining additional jurors when necessary. (1) Whenever it appears to a district judge that additional jurors will be needed for any term or trial, the judge shall draw as many numbers from the jury box as are necessary to secure the required number of additional jurors. Before drawing the numbers, the judge shall by appropriate order designate the number of jurors needed.

(2) When the judge believes that securing the additional jurors from all of the county would cause unnecessary delay or expense, he may order the jurors selected from only a designated portion of the county, which portion shall never be less than the corporate limits of the county seat. If, in the selection of the additional jurors, a number is drawn and the jury list shows the person represented by the number to be a resident of an area outside the area designated by the court order, that number shall be returned to the jury box and a new number drawn.

(3) When the required number of names have been selected, the judge may order the prospective jurors notified by telephone or mail by the clerk of the court."

Approved March 26, 1979.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to any petition provided for by this chapter, and all such petitions may be signed in any number of original parts with the same effect as though all signatures had been affixed to one instrument."

Section 7. Section 85-8-101, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-8-101. Petition for creation of district. (1) Whenever a majority of the owners of lands within any district of land who shall represent one-third in area of the land within said district to be reclaimed or benefited or whenever the owners of more than one-half of the lands within such district desire to construct one or more drains, ditches, levees, waste ditches, or other works across the lands of others or to straighten, widen, deepen, or otherwise alter any natural stream or watercourse not navigable, for the promotion of the public health or welfare and the drainage of the lands and removal of surface waters therefrom; or desire to maintain and keep in repair any such drain, ditch, or levee heretofore constructed under any law of this state, such owners may file, in the district court of any county in which the lands or any part of them shall lie, a petition setting forth:

(a) the proposed name of the drainage district;

(b) the necessity of the proposed work;

(c) a general description of the proposed starting points, routes, and termini of the proposed drain, ditches, and levees;

(d) a general description of the lands proposed to be included in the district;

(e) the names of the owners of all lands in the district, when known.

(2) If the purpose of the petitioners is the enlargement, repair, and maintenance of a ditch, levee, or other work heretofore constructed under any law of this state, the petition shall give a general description of the same, with such particulars as are considered important. The petition shall pray for the organization of a drainage district by the name and with the boundaries proposed and for the appointment of commissioners for the execution of such proposed work, according to the provisions of this and the following sections.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 755 1979

in the same manner as is by law provided for adding other lands to drainage districts whenever it is found necessary to include lands in drainage districts as provided by the preceding subsections.

(b) All copies of petitions or notices required by law to be served on account of such lands being included in such drainage districts shall be served on the president of the board having control of such lands in the same manner as is hereinafter provided for the service of petitions and notices on other owners of lands in the district in which said lands are situated."

Section 8. Section 85-8-102, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-8-102. Amendment and circulation of petition — court consideration. No petition having as many signers as are required by 85-8-101 may be declared void, but the court may at any time permit the petition to be amended in form and substance to conform to the facts, if the facts justify the organization of a drainage district. Several similar petitions for the organization of the same district may be circulated and, when filed, together shall be regarded as one petition having as many signers as there are separate signers on the several filed petitions who own lands within the proposed drainage district. All petitions for the organization of the district filed prior to the hearing on the petition shall be considered by the court the same as if filed with the first petitions placed on file, and the signatures thereon shall be counted in determining whether sufficient landowners have signed the petition."

Section 9. Section 85-8-118, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-8-118. Determination of sufficiency of petition. The court shall hear and determine whether or not the petition contains the signatures of a majority of the owners of lands within the proposed district who are of lawful age and who represent one-third in area of the lands proposed to be affected by said work or the signatures of the owners of more than one-half of such lands and shall determine all questions of law arising on said contest. The district court in which such petition shall be filed or the judge thereof may adjourn the hearing on the petition from time to time for want of sufficient notice, to give time to prepare for trial, or for other good cause."

Section 10. Section 85-8-119, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-8-119. Receiving affidavits on question of petition sufficiency. The affidavits of any 10 or more of the signers of the petition, stating that they have examined it and are acquainted with the locality of the district and that the petition is signed by a sufficient number of owners of lands in the district to satisfy 85-8-101, may be taken by the court or judge as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. The affidavit of any petitioner or other landowner before the court or represented before the court asserting his ownership of lands in the district, properly described, is sufficient evidence to the court of such facts."

Section 11. Section 85-8-201, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-8-201. Dissolution of districts. Whenever the owners of more than one-half of the lands within any drainage district organized under the provisions of this chapter shall present to the district court having jurisdiction of the drainage district a petition signed by them, praying that such drainage district be dissolved, the judge of the court shall cause notice of such petition, together with a copy of the petition, to be served upon the commissioners of the district, directing them to show cause on a day certain, not less than 15 or more than 30 days from the date of the filing of the petition, why the petition should not be granted. The judge, at the time of receiving the petition, shall make an order forbidding the commissioners from incurring any further expense or proceeding with the work of constructing a drain. On the day of hearing the court shall hear the same, and if it appears that the owners of more than one-half of the lands in the drainage district have signed the petition, it shall be granted. Thereupon, the court shall make an order directing the commissioners to file a written report, under oath, setting forth the amount of the debts and obligations of the drainage district. Within 30 days after such report is filed, the court shall cause an assessment to be levied against all lands in the district on the basis of the final report of the commissioners, as confirmed by the court, and if no final report has been made, then on an area basis. The court shall also enter judgment dissolving the district and authorize the commissioners to settle the business of the district on the basis of the final report of the commissioners or on the area basis as confirmed by this court, the commissioners to render their services for same without pay."

Section 12. Section 85-8-624, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-8-624. Assessments on improvements — taxpayers' approval, limitations, and election procedures. (1) It shall require a vote of the persons on the assessment rolls in any existing district to make Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, applicable to such districts.

(2) Nothing in Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, confers upon districts created for drainage purposes only the authority to levy assessments on benefits to improvements.

(a) Notice of the election shall be as provided in 85-8-303, except that the form of the ballot shall be as hereinafter provided.

Commissioners shall prepare a list of such persons and give them notice as provided in 85-8-303.

(d) The commissioners of any district in existence prior to March 21, 1973, who wish to hold an election to determine if the district shall be governed by Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, shall at any regular or special meeting adopt a resolution calling for an election to determine whether or not the voters of said district wish to be governed by Chapter 409, Laws of 1973. The resolution shall contain a short summary of the changes made by Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, and shall include the summary as part of the notice provided for by 85-8-303. In addition, the commission shall provide copies of Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, to any person interested in obtaining a copy of the same and the notice to the persons in the district calling the election shall describe where and how copies may be obtained. The commissioners may authorize a reasonable charge for providing said copies, not to exceed 20 cents per page.

(e) The ballot shall include the summary as provided for in the preceding subsection and the form of the ballot shall conform as closely as possible to that provided for in Title 13, chapter 27.

(f) A simple majority of those who cast valid ballots shall determine the outcome of the election."

practical or clinical part, and an oral interview with the board which may include questions pertaining to the practice of dentistry. The board may accept, in satisfaction of the written part, successful completion of an examination by the national board of dental examiners and, whenever the board determines necessary, successful completion of a board examination in jurisprudence. The board may accept, in satisfaction of the practical part, successful completion of an examination by a board-designated regional testing service.

(2) Acceptance by the board of such written and practical examination shall be conditioned on evidence that the examination is sufficiently thorough to test the fitness of the applicant to practice dentistry. It shall include, written in the English language, questions on anatomy, histology, physiology, chemistry, pharmacology and therapeutics, metallurgy, pathology, bacteriology, anesthesia, operative and surgical dentistry, prosthetic dentistry, prophylaxis, orthodontics and endodontics, and any additional subjects pertaining to dental service.

(3) The board has the right to administer its own examination in lieu of acceptance of the national board written examination and a regional testing service practical examination. The board is authorized to make rules governing any such examination procedures.

(g) a recent photograph of the applicant.

(5) Applications must be submitted no less than 20 days prior to the board interview and jurisprudence examination.

(6) Applicants may not take the jurisprudence examination or the oral interview without first having completed all other parts of the examination.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 772 1979

(9) The board may in its discretion permit a dental student who has successfully completed his junior year in a recognized dental school and who files proof satisfactory to the board that he has the preliminary education described in this section to take a written examination in the subjects he has completed. Satisfactory grades secured shall be credited on the final examination of the student. The board shall require a fee commensurate with costs and set by the board for this examination, which shall apply on the final examination taken by the applicant."

Section 3. Section 37-4-307, MCA, is amended to read:

"37-4-307. Annual renewal fee — absent registered dentist — default. (1) A licensed dentist practicing within this state shall annually pay to the department before March 1, as a renewal fee for the year, a sum set by the board and not to exceed $50. The board may increase or decrease the annual renewal fee to maintain in the earmarked revenue fund at all times an amount, to be known as the emergency fund, to be used for the purpose of administering, policing, and enforcing this chapter. Notice of the change in the amount of renewal fees shall be given to each dentist registered in this state by the department.

(2) If a registered dentist absents himself from the state for a period of 1 or more years or does not engage in active practice within this state, he may continue his license in good standing by a payment set by the board each year, not to exceed $25, or at the discretion of the board, he may be reinstated on the payment of a fee of $25 for each year's absence. The annual payments shall be made prior to March 1 of each year, and a receipt or certificate shall be issued by the department.

(3) In case of default in payment of the annual renewal fee by a dentist, his license shall be revoked by the board on 30 days' notice given to the delinquent of the time and place of considering the revocation. A registered or certified letter addressed to the last-known address of the party failing to comply with this requirement, as the address appears on the records of the department, constitutes sufficient notice of revocation of license, but no license may be revoked for nonpayment if the dentist notified pays the renewal fee plus a late payment penalty of $10 before or at the time fixed for consideration of revocation. The department may maintain in the name of this state a suit to collect renewal fees and penalties applicable and to recover from the delinquent dentist the cost of the action, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

(4) No license fee or tax may be imposed on dentists by a municipality or any other subdivision of the state."

The board may accept, in satisfaction of the practical part, successful completion of an examination by a board-designated regional testing service.*

(4) The board has the right to administer its own examination in lieu of acceptance of the national board written examination and a regional testing service practical examination. The board is authorized to make rules governing any such examination procedures.

(5) Applicants for licensure shall submit an application, which shall include, when required:

(a) certification of successful completion of the national board written examination;

(b) certification of successful completion of a regional board practical examination;

(c) two affidavits of good moral character;

(d) certificate of graduation from a board-approved dental hygiene school;

(e) an examination fee commensurate with costs and set by the board;

(f) a licensure fee commensurate with costs and set by the board;

(g) a recent photograph of the applicant.

(6) Applications must be submitted no less than 20 days prior to the board interview and jurisprudence examination.

(7) Examination results will be accepted for a period of time as set by board rule. An applicant failing to pass his first examination, if otherwise qualified, may take a subsequent examination on payment of a fee commensurate with costs and set by the board.

(8) The board is authorized to adopt necessary and reasonable rules governing application procedures."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 774 1979

not to exceed $10, excuses the default. The department may collect the fee by suit.

(2) The board may likewise revoke or suspend the license of a dental hygienist for violating this chapter."

Approved March 27, 1979.

(2) Whenever the application is made by telephone, the applicant's telephonic oath or affirmation is considered to have been made before the judge, and the sworn or affirmed telephonic testimony must be electronically recorded by the judge on a recording device in the custody of the judge when the application is made. The recording must be retained in the court records and transcribed verbatim, including the time and date of recording, as soon as possible thereafter.

CHAPTER NO. 341

AN ACT TO ALLOW AND REGULATE DEFERRAL CHARGES BY MONTANA CONSUMER LOAN LICENSEES.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

A deferral postpones the scheduled due date of the earliest unpaid installment and all subsequent installments as originally scheduled or as previously deferred for a period equal to the deferral period. The deferral period is that period during which no installment is scheduled to be paid by reason of the deferral.

Section 2. Deferral charge — rate. The deferral charge for a 1-month period may not exceed an amount equal to the difference between the refund which would be required for prepayment in full under subsection (5) of 32-5-301 as of the scheduled due date of the first deferred installment and the refund which would be required for prepayment in full as of 1 month prior to such date. A proportionate charge may be made for deferrals for periods of more or less than 1 month. A deferral charge is earned pro rata on a daily basis during the deferral period and is fully earned on the last day of the deferral period. Should a loan be prepaid during a deferral period the licensee shall make or credit to the borrower a pro rata refund of the unearned deferral charge in addition to any refund or credit made pursuant to subsection (5) of 32-5-301.

Section 4. Collection of deferral charge. A deferral charge may be collected at the time it accrues or any time thereafter.

CHAPTER NO. 343

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE REGULATION AND REGISTRATION OF PERSONS WHO COLLECT CHARGES OR PREMIUMS OR ADJUST OR SETTLE CLAIMS ON LIFE OR HEALTH INSURANCE POLICIES OR ANNUITIES OF RESIDENTS OF MONTANA.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Administrator defined. As used in [this act], the term "administrator" means any person, corporation, partnership, or association who collects charges or premiums from residents of this state in connection with life or health insurance coverage or annuities or who adjusts or settles claims on such coverage but does not include:

(1) an employer on behalf of its employees or on behalf of the employees of one or more subsidiary or affiliated corporations of such employer;

(2) a union on behalf of its members;

(3) an insurance company which is either licensed in this state or acting as an insurer with respect to a policy lawfully issued and delivered by it in and pursuant to the laws of a state in which the insurer was authorized to do an insurance business or health service corporation as defined in 33-30-101;

(4) a life or health agent who is licensed in this state and whose activities are limited exclusively to the sale of insurance;

(5) a creditor on behalf of its debtors with respect to insurance covering a debt between the creditor and its debtors;

(6) a trust established in conformity with 29 U.S.C. 186, its trustees, or agents and employees acting thereunder;

(7) a trust exempt from taxation under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, its trustees, or employees acting thereunder;

(8) a custodian acting pursuant to a custodian account which meets the requirements of section 401(f) of the Internal Revenue Code or its agents and employees;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 779 1979

(9) a bank, credit union, or other financial institution which is subject to supervision or examination by federal or state banking authorities;

(10) a credit card issuing company which advances for and collects premiums or charges from its credit card holders who have authorized it to do so, provided such company does not adjust or settle claims; or

(11) a person who adjusts or settles claims in the normal course of his practice or employment as an attorney at law and who does not collect charges or premiums in connection with life or health insurance coverage or annuities.

Section 2. Written agreement required. (1) No person may act as an administrator without a written agreement between the person and the insurer. The written agreement shall be retained as part of the official records of both the administrator and the insurer for the duration of the agreement and for 5 years thereafter. The written agreement shall contain provisions which include the requirements of [sections 4 through 10] insofar as these requirements relate to the functions performed by the administrator.

(2) The agreement shall contain a provision with respect to the underwriting or other standards pertaining to the business underwritten by such insurer.

(3) Whenever a policy is issued to a trustee, a copy of the trust agreement and any amendments thereto shall be furnished to the insurer by the administrator and shall be retained as part of the official records of both the administrator and the insurer for the duration of the policy and for 5 years thereafter.

Section 3. Maintenance of information. For the duration of the agreement required by [section 2] and for 5 years thereafter, each administrator shall maintain at its principal administrative office adequate books and records of all transactions between the administrator, insurers, and insured persons. These books and records shall be maintained in accordance with prudent standards of insurance recordkeeping. The commissioner of insurance shall have access to these books and records for examination, audit, or inspection. Any trade secrets contained in the books and records, including but not limited to the identity and addresses of policyholders and certificate holders, shall be confidential, except that the commissioner may use such information in any proceedings instituted against the administrator. The insurer retains the right to continuing access to those books and records of the administrator sufficient to permit the insurer to fulfill all of its contractual obligations to insured persons, subject to any restrictions in the written agreement between the insurer and the administrator.

Section 4. Approval of advertising. An administrator may use only such advertising pertaining to the business underwritten by an insurer as is approved by the insurer in advance of its use.

Section 5. Collection of charges and premiums. (1) All insurance charges or premiums collected by an administrator on behalf of or for an insurer or insurers and return premiums received from such insurer or insurers are held by the administrator in a fiduciary capacity. These funds shall be immediately remitted to the person or persons entitled thereto or shall be deposited promptly in a fiduciary bank account established and maintained by the administrator. If deposited charges or premiums were collected on behalf of or for more than one insurer, the administrator shall require the bank in which the fiduciary account is maintained to keep records clearly recording the deposits in and withdrawals from such account on behalf of or for each insurer. The administrator shall promptly obtain and keep copies of all these records and, upon request of an insurer, shall furnish the insurer with copies of the records pertaining to deposits and withdrawals on behalf of or for the insurer.

(2) The administrator shall not pay any claim by withdrawals from the fiduciary account. Withdrawals from the fiduciary account shall be made, as provided in the written agreement between the administrator and the insurer, for:

(a) remittance to an insurer entitled thereto;

(b) deposit in an account maintained in the name of such insurer;

(c) transfer to and deposit in a claims paying account, with claims to be paid as provided in [section 7];

(d) payment to a group policyholder for remittance to the insurer entitled thereto;

(e) payment to the administrator of its commission, fees, or charges; or

(f) remittance of return premiums to the person or persons entitled thereto.

Section 6. Treatment of payments. Whenever an insurer utilizes the services of an administrator under the terms of a written contract as required in [section 2], the payment to the administrator of any premiums or charges for insurance by or on behalf of the insured is considered to be received by the insurer and the payment of return premiums or claims by the insurer to the administrator is not considered payment to the insured or claimant until the payments are received by the insured or claimant. This section does not limit any right of the insurer against the administrator resulting from the administrator's failure to make payments to the insurer, insureds, or claimants.

Section 7. Payment of claims. All claims paid by the administrator from funds collected on behalf of the insurer shall be paid only on drafts of and as authorized by such insurer.

Section 8. Delivery of documents. Any policies, certificates, booklets, termination notices, or other written communications delivered by the insurer to the administrator for delivery to its policyholders shall be delivered by the administrator promptly after receipt of instructions from the insurer to do so.

Section 9. Claim adjustment and settlement. With respect to any policies where an administrator adjusts or settles claims, the compensation to the administrator with regard to the policies shall in no way be contingent on claim experience. This section does not prevent the compensation of an administrator from being based on premiums or charges collected or number of claims paid or processed.

Section 10. Bonding requirements. Every administrator shall be bonded. The amount of the bond shall be not less than 10% of the amount of total funds handled and not less than $1,000, but need not be more than $500,000 unless a larger amount has been agreed to between the insurer and the administrator. For fixing the amount of the bond, the amount of funds handled shall be determined by the total funds handled by the administrator during the preceding year or, if no funds were handled during the preceding year, the amount of funds reasonably estimated to be handled during the current calendar year by the administrator. The bond shall provide protection to the insurer or insurers against loss by reason of acts of fraud or dishonesty and may include individual bonds or schedule or blanket forms of bonds. Only one bond shall be required of the administrator for all insureds which utilize the services of the administrator, unless provided otherwise in the written agreement between the insurer and the administrator.

Section 11. Insured persons to be notified of availability of administrator. Whenever the services of an administrator are utilized, the administrator shall provide a written notice, approved by the insurer, to insured individuals, advising them of the identity of and relationship between the administrator, the policyholder, and the insurer. Whenever an administrator collects funds, the administrator shall identify and state, separately in writing, to the person paying to the administrator any charge or premium for insurance coverage the amount of such charge or premium specified by the insurer for the insurance coverage.

Section 12. Certificate of registration. (1) Except as provided in [section 13], no person may act as or hold himself out to be an administrator in this state unless he holds a certificate of registration as an administrator.

(2) An application for a certificate of registration must be accompanied by a fee of $100. The commissioner of insurance shall issue the certificate unless he finds that the applicant is not competent, trustworthy, financially responsible, or of good personal and business reputation or that the applicant has had a previous application for an insurance license denied for cause within 5 years.

(3) The certificate of registration is renewable annually on the date of issue. A request for renewal must be accompanied by a renewal fee of $100.

(4) The certificate of registration may be suspended or revoked if, after notice and hearing, the commissioner finds that the administrator has violated any of the requirements of [sections 2 through 11] or that the administrator is not competent, trustworthy, financially responsible, or of good personal and business reputation.

(5) Unless the certification requirement is waived, any administrator who acts as such without the certificate of registration is subject to a fine of not less than $500 or more than $1,500.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 782 1979

Section 13. Waiver of certification requirements. The commissioner of insurance may waive the requirements of [section 12] for any person or class of persons. The factors taken into account in granting such waiver shall include but are not limited to:

(1) whether the person acting as an administrator is primarily in a business other than that of administrator;

(2) whether the financial strength and history of the organization indicates stability in its continuity of doing business;

(3) whether the regular duties being performed as an administrator are such that the covered persons are not likely to be injured by a waiver of such requirements.

Approved March 28, 1979.

(4) Subject to the agent's contract rights, an insurer may terminate an agency appointment at any time. The insurer shall promptly give written notice of such termination to the commissioner and to the agent where reasonably possible. The commissioner may require of the insurer reasonable proof that the insurer has given such notice to the agent.

(5) As part of the notice of termination given the commissioner, the insurer shall file with the commissioner a statement of the facts relative to the termination and the cause thereof. Any information or statement contained in the notice of termination shall be privileged and shall not be admissible as evidence in any action or proceeding against the insurer or any representative thereof by or in behalf of any person affected by such termination."

Section 8. Section 33-17-401, MCA, is amended to read:

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 791 1979

"33-17-401. Nonresident agent — reciprocity. The commissioner may license as an agent a person, partnership, or corporation otherwise qualified under this code but not a resident of this state if pursuant to the laws of the state of his residence a similar privilege is extended to persons resident in Montana."

Section 9. Section 33-17-404, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-17-404. Countersigning coverage of residents. A nonresident agent shall not sign or countersign policies covering subjects of insurance located or to be performed in Montana. Except as provided in 33-17-1111, these policies must be countersigned by a licensed resident agent."

Section 10. Section 33-17-1101, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-17-1101. Place of business — display of license — records. (1) Every agent shall have and maintain a place of business accessible to the public. Such place of business shall be that wherein the licensee principally conducts transactions under his license. The address of such place shall appear upon the license, and the licensee shall promptly notify the commissioner of any change thereof. Nothing in this section prohibits maintenance of such place of business in the licensee's place of residence.

(2) The license of the licensee and the license of each solicitor appointed by and representing the licensee shall be conspicuously displayed in such place of business in a part thereof customarily open to the public.

(3) The agent shall keep at his place of business complete records pertaining to transactions under his license and the licenses of his solicitors, for a period of at least 3 years after completion of the respective transactions."

Section 11. Section 33-17-1103, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-17-1103. Exchange of business — sharing commissions. (1) An agent may, occasionally only, place an insurance coverage with an insurer as to which he is not then licensed or appointed as an agent, and the insurer shall accept such business, only when placed through an agent, licensed under this chapter and appointed by the insurer. Both agents involved in such an exchange of business must be licensed as to all of the kinds of insurance represented by the coverage so placed.

(2) The agents involved in a lawful exchange of business under subsection (1) above may divide between them the commission or compensation payable on account of such coverage.

(3) No agent or solicitor shall directly or indirectly share his commissions or other compensation received or to be received by him on account of a transaction under his license with any person not also licensed under this chapter as to the same kind or kinds of insurance involved in such transactions, except as provided in 33-17-1113. This provision shall not affect payment of the regular salaries due employees of the licensee or the distribution in regular course of business of compensation and profits among members or stockholders if the licensee is a firm or corporation or use of funds for family or personal purposes.

(4) This section does not apply as to those transactions with surplus lines agents which are lawful under 33-2-306 or as to life or disability insurance placed as provided in 33-17-1104."

Section 12. Section 33-17-1111, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-17-1111. Resident agent required — countersignature — records — exceptions. (1) No authorized insurer shall issue a policy covering a subject of insurance resident, located, or to be performed in Montana unless:

(a) the policy is written through a licensed agent, resident in Montana, of the insurer; or

(b) the policy is written through a nonresident agent and the policy or countersignature endorsement attached thereto is countersigned by a resident licensed agent.

(2) No such countersignature shall be made in blank. The agent may by express written authorization given in advance delegate to his salaried clerical employee the power to so countersign in the name of the agent such contracts or classes of contracts as are designated in such authorization so long as the initials of such employee are written below the agent's name on such countersignature, but the agent shall not thereby delegate or have power to delegate to any other person the power or authority to bind an insurer with respect to any risk not already bound by the agent or other person having clear authority from the insurer so to bind. The agent shall be responsible for all of the acts of such employee within the scope of the authority so delegated. The agent shall keep a record of each and all coverages countersigned by him or by his authority.

(3) This section shall not apply to:

(a) reinsurance;

(b) life insurance, disability insurance, or annuity contracts;

(c) insurance of the rolling stock, vessels, or aircraft of any common carrier in interstate or foreign commerce or of any vehicle principally garaged and used in another state or covering any liability or other risks incident to the ownership, maintenance, or operation thereof;

(d) insurance of property in course of transportation interstate or in foreign trade or any liability or risk incident thereto;

(e) insurance of wet marine and transportation risks;

(f) countersignature to policies issued through agents compensated only by salary or issued by insurers not using agents in the general solicitation of business;

(g) bid bonds, as required under Title 18, chapter 1, part 2.

(4) Violation of this section shall not invalidate any contract otherwise valid as between the insurer and the insured."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 793 1979

Section 13. Section 33-22-813, MCA, is amended to read:

(2) A person licensed to transact disability insurance as an insurance agent may transact extended health insurance and may be paid a commission thereon."

Section 2. Section 33-2-524, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-2-524. Individual and group annuity and pure endowment contracts — valuation. (1) The minimum standard for the valuation of all individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after the operative date of this section, as defined herein, and for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after that operative date, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts shall be the commissioner's reserve valuation methods defined in 33-2-525 and the following tables and interest rates:

(a) for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued prior to July 1, 1979, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, the 1971 individual annuity mortality table or any modification of this table approved by the commissioner and 6% interest for single premium immediate annuity contracts and 4% interest for all other individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(b) for individual single premium immediate annuity contracts issued on or after July 1, 1979, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, the 1971 individual annuity mortality table or any modification of this table approved by the commissioner and 7 ½% interest;

(d) for all annuities and pure endowments purchased prior to July 1, 1979, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under such contracts, the 1971 group annuity mortality table or any modification of the table approved by the commissioner and 6% interest;

(e) for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after July 1, 1979, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under such contracts, the 1971 group annuity mortality table or any modification of this table approved by the commissioner and 7 ½% interest.

(2) After March 17, 1973, any insurer may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of subsection

(1) after a specified date before January 1, 1979, which shall be the operative date of subsection (1) for such insurer. An insurer may elect a different operative date for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts from that elected for group annuity and pure endowment contracts. If an insurer makes no such election, the operative date of this section for such insurer shall be January 1, 1979."

Section 3. Section 33-2-525, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-2-525. Commissioner's reserve valuation method. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (3) and 33-2-526(3), reserves according to the commissioner's reserve valuation method, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums, shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (a) over (b), as follows:

(a) a net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due; provided, however, that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the 19-year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age 1 year higher than the age at issue of such policy;

(b) a net 1-year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year.

(2) Reserves according to the commissioner's reserve valuation method for the following shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of this section, except that any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards shall be disregarded in the determination of modified net premiums:

(a) life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums;

(b) group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended;

(c) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts; and

(d) all other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies and benefits provided by all other annuity and pure endowment contracts.

(3) (a) Subsection (3)(b) applies to any annuity and pure endowment contracts other than group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended.

(b) Reserves according to the commissioner's annuity reserve method for benefits under annuity or pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, shall be the greatest of the respective excesses of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits, including guaranteed nonforfeiture benefits, provided for by such contracts at the end of each respective contract year, over the present value, at the date of valuation, of any future valuation considerations derived from future gross considerations required by the terms of such contract that become payable prior to the end of such respective contract year. The future guaranteed benefits shall be determined by using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate or rates specified in such contracts for determining guaranteed benefits. The valuation considerations are the portions of the respective gross considerations applied under the terms of such contracts to determine nonforfeiture values."

Section 4. Section 33-2-526, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-2-526. Limits — options — minimum reserves. (1) In no event shall an insurer's aggregate reserves for all life insurance policies, excluding disability and accidental death benefits, be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the methods set forth in 33-2-525 and subsection (3) of this section and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for such policies.

(2) Reserves for any category of policies, contracts, or benefits as established by the commissioner may be calculated at the option of the insurer according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for such category than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided, but the rate or rates of interest used for policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein.

(3) If in any contract year the gross premium charged by any life insurer on any policy or contract is less than the valuation net premium for the policy or contract calculated by the method used in calculating the reserve thereon, but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest, the minimum reserve required for such policy or contract shall be the greater of either the reserve calculated according to the mortality table, rate of interest, and method actually used for such policy or contract or the reserve calculated by the method actually used for such policy or contract but using the minimum standards of mortality and rate of interest and replacing the valuation net premium by the actual gross premium in each contract year for which the valuation net premium exceeds the actual gross premium."

Section 5. Section 33-20-201, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-20-201. Short title. This part shall be known as the "Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance"."

Section 6. Section 33-20-206, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-20-206. Mortality tables — policies issued after operative date. (1) In the case of ordinary policies issued on or after the operative date of this section as defined herein, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this part shall be calculated on the basis of the commissioner's 1958 standard ordinary mortality table and the rate of interest specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits, provided that:

(a) such rate of interest shall not exceed 3 ½ % per annum, except that a rate of interest not exceeding 4% per annum may be used for policies issued on or after March 17, 1973, and prior to July 1, 1979, and a rate of interest not exceeding 5 ½% a year may be used for policies issued on or after July 1, 1979;

(b) for any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be calculated according to an age not more than 6 years younger than the actual age of the insured;

(c) in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the commissioner's 1958 extended term insurance table;

(d) for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

(2) After July 1, 1961, any insurer may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1966. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date of this section for such insurer), this section shall become operative with respect to the ordinary policies thereafter issued by such insurer. If an insurer makes no such election, the operative date of this section for such insurer shall be January 1, 1966."

Section 7. Section 33-20-207, MCA, is amended to read:

"33-20-207. Industrial policies — mortality tables. (1) In the case of industrial policies issued on or after the operative date of this section as defined herein, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this part shall be calculated on the basis of commissioner's 1961 standard industrial mortality table and the rate of interest specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits provided that:

(a) such rate of interest shall not exceed 3 ½% per annum except that a rate of interest not exceeding 4% per annum may be used for policies issued on or after March 17, 1973, and prior to July 1, 1979, and a rate of interest not exceeding 5 ½% a year may be used for policies issued on or after July 1, 1979;

(b) in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the commissioner's 1961 industrial extended term insurance table;

(c) for insurance issued on a substandard basis the calculations of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

(2) After February 22, 1965, any insurer may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1968. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date of this section for such insurer), this section shall become operative with respect to the industrial policies thereafter issued by such insurer. If an insurer makes no such election, the operative date of this section for such insurer shall be January 1, 1968."

Section 8. Short title. [Sections 8 through 20] shall be known as the "Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities".

Section 9. Application. [Sections 8 through 20] do not apply to any reinsurance, group annuity purchased under a retirement plan, or plan of deferred compensation established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended, premium deposit fund, variable annuity, investment annuity, immediate annuity, any deferred annuity contract after annuity payments have commenced, or reversionary annuity or to any contract which is delivered outside this state through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the contract.

Section 10. Nonforfeiture provisions. In the case of contracts issued on or after the operative date of [sections 8 through 20] as defined in [section 20], no contract of annuity except as stated in [section 9] shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this state unless it contains in substance the following provisions or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the commissioner are at least as favorable to the contract holder, upon cessation of payment of considerations under the contract:

(1) that upon cessation of payment of considerations under a contract the company will grant a paid-up annuity benefit on a plan stipulated in the contract of such value as is specified in [sections 13 through 16, and 18];

(2) that if a contract provides for a lump-sum settlement at maturity or at any other time, than upon surrender of the contract at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, the company will pay in lieu of any paid-up annuity benefit a cash surrender benefit of such amount as is specified in [sections 13, 14, 16, and 18]. The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of such cash surrender benefit for a period of 6 months after demand therefor with surrender of the contract.

(3) a statement of the mortality table, if any, and interest rates used in calculating any minimum paid-up annuity, cash surrender, or death benefits that are guaranteed under the contract, together with sufficient information to determine the amounts of such benefits;

(4) a statement that any paid-up annuity, cash surrender, or death benefits that may be available under the contract are not less than the minimum benefits required by any statute of the state in which the contract is delivered and an explanation of the manner in which such benefits are altered by the existence of any additional amounts credited by the company to the contract, any indebtedness to the company on the contract, or any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract.

Section 11. Exception. Notwithstanding the requirements of [section 10], any deferred annuity contract may provide that if no consideration has been received under a contract for a period of 2 full years and the portion of the paid-up annuity benefit at maturity on the plan stipulated in the contract arising from consideration paid prior to such period would be less than $20 monthly, the company may at its option terminate such contract by payment in cash of the then present value of such portion of the paid-up annuity benefit, calculated on the basis of the mortality table, if any, and interest rate specified in the contract for determining the paid-up annuity benefit, and by such payment shall be relieved of any further obligation under such contract.

Section 12. Minimum nonforfeiture amounts. (1) The minimum values as specified in [sections 13 through 16, and 18] of any paid-up annuity, cash surrender, or death benefits available under an annuity contract shall be based upon minimum nonforfeiture amounts as defined in this section.

(2) (a) With respect to contracts providing for flexible considerations, the minimum nonforfeiture amount at any time at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall be equal to an accumulation up to such time at a rate of interest of 3% a year of percentages of the net considerations (as hereinafter defined) paid prior to such time, decreased by the sum of any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract accumulated at a rate of interest of 3% a year and the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued, and increased by existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract.

(b) The net consideration for a given contract year used to define the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be an amount not less than zero and shall be equal to the corresponding gross considerations credited to the contract during that contract year less an annual contract charge of $30 and less a collection charge of $1.25 per consideration credited to the contract during that contract year. The percentages of net consideration shall be 65% of the net consideration for the first contract year and 87 ½% of the net consideration for the second and later contract years. Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding sentence, the percentage shall be 65% of the portion of the total net consideration for any renewal contract year which exceeds by not more than two times the sum of those portions of the net consideration in all prior contract years for which the percentage was 65%.

(3) With respect to contracts providing for fixed schedule consideration, minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be calculated on the assumption that consideration is paid annually in advance and shall be defined as for contracts with flexible payments of consideration which are paid annually with two exceptions:

(a) The portion of the net consideration for the first contract year to be accumulated shall be the sum of 65% of the net consideration for the first contract year plus 22 ½% of the excess of the net consideration for the first contract year over the lesser of the net considerations for the second and third contract years.

(b) The annual contract charge shall be the lesser of $30 or 10% of the gross annual consideration.

(4) With respect to contracts providing for a single consideration, minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be defined as for contracts with flexible payments of consideration except that the percentage of net consideration used to determine the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be equal to 90% and the net consideration shall be the gross consideration less a contract charge of $75.

Section 13. Present value to equal minimum nonforfeiture amount. Any paid-up annuity benefit available under a contract shall be such that its present value on the date annuity payments are to commence is at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount on that date. Such present value shall be computed using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate specified in the contract for determining the minimum paid-up annuity benefits guaranteed in the contract.

Section 14. Cash surrender benefits. For contracts which provide cash surrender benefits, such cash surrender benefits available prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value as of the date of surrender of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit which would be provided under the contract at maturity arising from considerations paid prior to the time of cash surrender reduced by the amount appropriate to reflect any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract, such present value being calculated on the basis of an interest rate not more than 1% higher than the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine such maturity value, decreased by the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. No cash surrender benefit may be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time. The death benefit under such contracts shall be at least equal to the cash surrender benefit.

Section 15. Paid-up annuity benefits. For contracts which do not provide cash surrender benefits, the present value of any paid-up annuity benefit available as a nonforfeiture option at any time prior to maturity may not be less than the present value of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit provided under the contract arising from considerations paid prior to the time the contract is surrendered in exchange for or changed to a deferred paid-up annuity, such present value being calculated for the period prior to the maturity date on the basis of the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine such maturity value and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. For contracts which do not provide any death benefits prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, such present values shall be calculated on the basis of such interest rate and the mortality table specified in the contract for determining the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit. However, the present value of a paid-up annuity benefit may not be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time.

Section 16. Maturity date. For the purpose of determining the benefits calculated under [sections 14 and 15], in the case of annuity contracts under which an election may be made to have annuity payments commence at optional maturity dates, the maturity date is the latest date for which election is permitted by the contract but may not be later than the anniversary of the contract next following the annuitant's 70th birthday or the 10th anniversary of the contract, whichever is later.

Section 17. Statement of noninclusion of certain death benefits. Any contract which does not provide cash surrender benefits or does not provide death benefits at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall include a statement in a prominent place in the contract that such benefits are not provided.

Section 18. Adjusted benefit. Any paid-up annuity, cash surrender, or death benefits available at any time other than on the contract anniversary under any contract with fixed scheduled consideration shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of any scheduled consideration beyond the beginning of the contract year in which cessation of payment of consideration under the contract occurs.

Section 19. Calculation of benefits — special benefits excluded. For any contract which provides, within the same contract by rider or supplemental contract provision, both annuity benefits and life insurance benefits that are in excess of the greater of cash surrender benefits or a return of the gross consideration paid with interest, the minimum nonforfeiture benefits shall be equal to the sum of the minimum nonforfeiture benefits for the annuity portion and the minimum nonforfeiture benefits, if any, for the life insurance portion computed as if each portion were a separate contract. Notwithstanding the provisions of [sections 13 through

16, and 18], additional benefits payable in the event of total and permanent disability or as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits or as other policy benefits additional to life insurance, endowment, and annuity benefits, and considerations for all such additional benefits shall be disregarded in ascertaining the minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender, and death benefits that may be required by this section. The inclusion of such additional benefits shall not be required in any paid-up benefits, unless such additional benefits separately would require minimum nonforfeiture amount paid-up annuity, cash surrender, and death benefits.

Section 20. Operative date. After July 1, 1979, any company may file with the commission a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before July 1, 1981. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date, which shall be the operative date of this section for such company, this section shall become operative with respect to annuity contracts thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this section for such company shall be July 1, 1981.

Approved March 28, 1979.

Except for persons in the employ of brokerage firms governed by the regulations of the securities and exchange commission, all salesmen must be legal residents of this state and must have actually resided in this state for a period of at least 1 year next prior to the date of application for registration. The commissioner may, upon request and for good cause shown by an applicant, waive the residency requirement. A salesman acting as agent for an issuer or broker-dealer who is not currently in compliance with the financial responsibility requirements prescribed by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and by regulations adopted under it, may, in the discretion of the commissioner, be required to file with the commissioner a bond of a surety company duly authorized to transact business in this state. The bond shall be in an amount determined by the commissioner, payable to the state of Montana and conditioned upon the faithful compliance with the provisions of parts 1 through 3 of this chapter, and provide that upon failure to so comply, the salesman shall be liable to any and all persons who may suffer loss by reason thereof.

A registered broker-dealer or investment adviser may file an application for registration of a successor, to become effective upon approval of the commissioner.

(9) Every registered broker-dealer and investment adviser shall make and keep such accounts and other records, except with respect to securities exempt under 30-10-104(1), as may be prescribed by the commissioner. All records so required shall be preserved for 3 years unless the commissioner prescribes otherwise for particular types of records. All the records of a registered broker-dealer or investment adviser are subject at any time or from time to time to such reasonable periodic, special, or other examinations, within or without this state, by representatives of the commissioner, as the commissioner considers necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

(10) The commissioner may by order deny, suspend, or revoke registration of any broker-dealer, salesman, or investment adviser if he finds that the order is in the public interest and that the applicant or registrant or, in the case of a broker-dealer or investment adviser, any partner, officer, or director:

(a) has filed an application for registration under this section which, as of its effective date or as of any date after filing in the case of an order denying effectiveness, was incomplete in any material respect or contained any statement which was, in the light of the circumstances under which it was made, false or misleading with respect to any material fact;

(b) has willfully violated or willfully failed to comply with any provision of parts 1 through 3 of this chapter or a predecessor law or any rule or order under parts 1 through 3 of this chapter or a predecessor law;

(c) has been convicted of any misdemeanor involving a security or any aspect of the securities business or any felony;

(d) is permanently or temporarily enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice involving any aspect of the securities business;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 828 1979

(e) is the subject of an order of the commissioner denying, suspending, or revoking registration as a broker-dealer, salesman, or investment adviser;

(f) is the subject of an order entered within the past 5 years by the securities administrator of any other state or by the federal securities and exchange commission denying or revoking registration as a broker-dealer or salesman or the substantial equivalent of those terms as defined in parts 1 through 3 of this chapter or is the subject of an order of the federal securities and exchange commission suspending or expelling him from a national securities exchange or national securities association registered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or is the subject of a United States post office fraud order, but:

(i) the commissioner may not institute a revocation or suspension proceeding under this subsection (f) more than 1 year from the date of the order relied on; and

(ii) he may not enter any order under this subsection (f) on the basis of an order unless that order was based on facts which would currently constitute a ground for an order under this section;

(g) has engaged in dishonest or unethical practices in the securities business;

(h) is insolvent, either in the sense that his liabilities exceed his assets or in the sense that he cannot meet his obligations as they mature, but the commissioner may not enter an order against a broker-dealer or investment adviser under this subsection (h) without a finding of insolvency as to the broker-dealer or investment adviser;

(i) has not complied with a condition imposed by the commissioner under subsection (10) of this section or is not qualified on the basis of such factors as training, experience, or knowledge of the securities business; or

(j) has failed to pay the proper filing fee, but the commissioner may enter only a denial order under this subsection (j), and he shall vacate any such order when the deficiency has been corrected. The commissioner may by order summarily postpone or suspend registration pending final determination of any proceeding under this section.

(11) Upon the entry of the order under subsection (10) of this section, the commissioner shall promptly notify the applicant or registrant, as well as the employer or prospective employer if the applicant or registrant is a salesman, that it has been entered and of the reasons therefor and that if requested by the applicant or registrant within 15 days after the receipt of the commissioner's notification the matter will be promptly set down for hearing. If no hearing is requested within 15 days and none is ordered by the commissioner, the order will remain in effect until it is modified or vacated by the commissioner. If a hearing is requested or ordered, the commissioner, after notice of and opportunity for hearing, may affirm, modify, or vacate the order.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 829 1979

(12) If the commissioner finds that any registrant or applicant for registration is no longer in existence or has ceased to do business as a broker-dealer, investment adviser, or salesman or is subject to an adjudication of mental incompetence or to the control of a committee, conservator, or guardian or cannot be located after reasonable search, the commissioner may by order cancel the registration or application."

Section 5. Section 30-10-210, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-10-210. Examination costs. (1) Any issuer or broker-dealer who is investigated or examined in connection with a registration under parts 1 through 3 of this chapter shall reimburse the commissioner or any of his duly authorized agents, officers, or employees for actual travel expenses, a reasonable living expense allowance, and a per diem as compensation of examiners, as necessarily incurred on account of the examination, all at reasonable rates customary therefor and as established and adopted by the commissioner upon July 1, 1961, and annually thereafter upon presentation of a detailed account of such charges and expenses by the commissioner or pursuant to his written authorization. No person shall pay and no examiner shall accept any additional emolument on account of any such examination.

(2) The commissioner shall pay to the state treasurer to the credit of the general fund all moneys received hereunder. The commissioner may give written authorization for payment of the examination costs referred to in subsection (1) by the person examined directly to the examiner.

(3) If any issuer or broker-dealer fails to pay the charges and expenses referred to above, the same shall be paid out of the funds of the commissioner in the same manner as other disbursements of such funds. The amount so paid shall be a first lien upon all of the assets and property in this state of such issuer or broker-dealer and may be recovered by suit by the attorney general on behalf of the state of Montana and restored to the appropriate fund. Failure of such issuer or broker-dealer to pay such charges and expenses shall also work a forfeiture of his or its right to do business in this state under parts 1 through 3 of this chapter."

Section 6. Section 30-10-303, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-10-303. Unlawful representation concerning registration or exemption. Neither the fact that an application for registration under 30-10-201*(4)* or a registration statement under 30-10-203, 30-10-204, or 30-10-205 has been filed nor the fact that a person or security is effectively registered constitutes a finding by the commissioner that any document filed under parts 1 through 3 of this chapter is true, complete, and not misleading. Neither any such fact nor the fact that an exemption or exception is available for a security or a transaction means that the commissioner has passed in any way upon the merits of qualifications of, or recommended or given approval to, any person, security, or transaction. It is unlawful to make or cause to be made to any prospective purchaser, customer, or client any representation inconsistent with this section."

Section 7. Section 30-10-305, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-10-305. Injunctions and other remedies. (1) Whenever it appears to the commissioner that any person has engaged or is about to engage in any act or practice constituting a violation of any provision of parts 1 through 3 of this chapter or any rule or order hereunder, he may in his discretion:

(a) issue an order directing the person to cease and desist from continuing the act or practice after reasonable notice and opportunity for a hearing. The commissioner may issue a temporary order pending the hearing that remains in effect until 10 days after any hearing is held or that becomes final if the person to whom notice is addressed does not request a hearing within 15 days after receipt of the notice; or

(b) without the issuance of a cease and desist order, bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction to enjoin any such acts or practices and to enforce compliance with parts 1 through 3 of this chapter or any rule or order hereunder. Upon a proper showing a permanent or temporary injunction, restraining order, or writ of mandamus shall be granted and a receiver or conservator may be appointed for the defendant or the defendant's assets. The commissioner may not be required to post a bond. If the commissioner prevails, he is entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees as fixed by the court.

(2) A final judgment or decree, criminal or civil, determining that a person has violated parts 1 through 3 of this chapter in an action brought by the commissioner for such violation, other than a consent judgment or decree entered before trial, is prima facie evidence against that person in an action brought against him under 30-10-307."

Section 8. Name change. Whenever the term "investment commissioner", relating to the investment commissioner, state auditor's office, created by 2-15-1901, appears in the MCA, it means "securities commissioner". The code commissioner is empowered and instructed to change all such references to "investment commissioner" to "securities commissioner".

Approved March 28, 1979.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 61-5-111, MCA, is amended to read:

"61-5-111. Licenses issued to operators and chauffeurs — renewals and expiration thereof — fees. (1) The division shall have authority to appoint county treasurers and other qualified officers to act as its agents for the sale of drivers' licenses receipts, and shall make necessary rules governing such sales. In those areas where the division provides driver licensing services 3 days or more a week the division is responsible for sale of receipts and may not appoint an agent. The division, upon payment of the fees specified in this section, shall issue to every applicant qualifying therefor an operator's or chauffeur's license as applied for. Such licenses shall contain a photograph of such licensee in such size and form as may be prescribed by the division, a distinguishing number issued to the licensee, the full name, date of birth, resident address, and a brief description of the licensee, and either a facsimile of the signature of the licensee or a space upon which he shall write his signature in pen and ink immediately upon receipt of the license. No license shall be valid until it has been so signed by the licensee. Five percent of the license fees collected by the county treasurer shall be deposited by the county treasurer

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 53-9-103, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-9-103. Definitions. As used in this part, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Claimant" means any of the following claiming compensation under this part:

(a) a victim;

(b) a dependent of a deceased victim; or

(c) an authorized person acting on behalf of any of them.

(2) "Collateral source" means a source of benefits, other than welfare benefits, or advantages for economic loss otherwise compensable under this part which the claimant has received or which is readily available to him from:

(a) the offender;

(b) the government of the United States or any agency thereof, a state or any of its political subdivisions, or an instrumentality of two or more states, unless the law providing for the benefits or advantages makes them excess or secondary to benefits under this part;

(c) social security, medicare, and medicaid;

(d) workers' compensation;

(e) wage continuation programs of any employer;

(f) proceeds of a contract of insurance payable to the claimant for loss which was sustained because of the criminally injurious conduct; or

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 858 1979

this state may not provide that benefits under this part shall be a substitute for benefits under the contract or that the contract is a secondary source of benefits and benefits under this part are a primary source.

(3) "Criminally injurious conduct" means conduct that:

(a) occurs or is attempted in this state;

(b) results in bodily injury or death; and

(c) is punishable by fine, imprisonment, or death or would be so punishable but for the fact that the person engaging in the conduct lacked capacity to commit the crime under the laws of this state. Criminally injurious conduct does not include conduct arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle as described in Title 61.

(4) "Dependent" means a natural person who is recognized under the law of this state to be wholly or partially dependent upon the victim for care or support and includes a child of the victim conceived before the victim's death but born after the victim's death, including a child that is conceived as a result of the criminally injurious conduct.

(5) "Division" means the division of workers' compensation provided for in 2-15-1702.

(b) prescribe forms for applications for compensation; and

A statute providing confidentiality for a claimant's juvenile court records does not apply to proceedings under this part.

(b) subpoena witnesses and other prospective evidence, administer oaths or affirmations, conduct hearings, and receive relevant, nonprivileged evidence;

(c) take notice of judicially cognizable facts and general, technical, and scientific facts within its specialized knowledge;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 859 1979

(d) require that law enforcement agencies and officials take reasonable care that victims be informed about the existence of this part and the procedure for applying for compensation under this part; and

(e) require that any person contracting directly or indirectly with an individual formally charged with or convicted of a qualifying crime for any rendition, interview, statement, or article relating to such crime to deposit any proceeds owed to such individual under the terms of the contract into an escrow fund for the benefit of any victims of the qualifying crime or any surviving dependents of the victim, if such individual is convicted of that crime, to be held for such period of time as the division may determine is reasonably necessary to perfect the claims of the victims or dependents. If, after all funds due the victim have been paid to the victim under this section, there remain additional funds in the escrow account, such funds shall be returned to the individual charged or convicted of the crime."

Section 3. Section 53-9-109, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-9-109. Crime victims compensation account. There is a crime victims compensation account in the agency fund. Section 4. Section 53-9-125, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-9-125. Limitations on awards. (1) Compensation may not be awarded unless the claim is filed with the division within 1 year after the day the criminally injurious conduct occurred causing the injury or death upon which the claim is based. The time for filing a claim may be extended by the division for good cause shown.

(2) Compensation may not be awarded to a claimant who is the offender or an accomplice of the offender or to any claimant if the award would unjustly benefit the offender or accomplice. Unless the division determines that the interests of justice otherwise require in a particular case, compensation may not be awarded to the spouse of or a person living in the same household with the offender or his accomplice or to the parent, child, brother, or sister of the offender or his accomplice.

(3) Compensation may not be awarded unless the criminally injurious conduct resulting in injury or death was reported to a law enforcement officer within 72 hours after its occurrence or the division finds there was good cause for the failure to report within that time.

(4) In order to be entitled to benefits under this part, a claimant must fully cooperate with all law enforcement agencies and prosecuting attorneys in the apprehension and prosecution of the offender causing the criminally injurious conduct. The division, upon finding that the claimant or victim has not fully cooperated with appropriate law enforcement agencies or prosecuting attorneys, may deny or reconsider and reduce an award of compensation.

(5) Compensation otherwise payable to a claimant shall be reduced or denied to the extent the compensation benefits payable are or can be recouped from collateral sources.

(6) Persons serving a sentence of imprisonment or residing in any other public institution which provides for the maintenance of such person are not entitled to the benefits of this part.

(7) Compensation may be denied or reduced if the victim contributed to the infliction of death or injury with respect to which the claim is made. Any reduction in benefits under this subsection shall be in proportion to what the division finds to be the victim's contribution to the infliction of death or injury."

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAW REGARDING THE MUNICIPAL POLICE OFFICERS' RETIREMENT SYSTEM BY INCREASING THE CONTRIBUTIONS TO BE MADE BY CERTAIN MEMBERS, CITIES, AND THE STATE AND PROVIDING FOR REDUCTION OF UNFUNDED LIABILITIES; AMENDING SECTIONS 19-9-107, 19-9-503, 19-9-601, 19-9-702, AND 19-9-703, MCA.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 19-9-107, MCA, is amended to read:

"19-9-107. Election to join plan — transfer of assets. (1) Cities other than those participating in the statewide police reserve fund administered by the department of administration in accordance with Chapter 335, Laws of 1974, as of June 30, 1977, may elect to join the plan by passing an ordinance stating the election and the consent of the city to be bound by the provisions of this chapter. Upon the enactment of such an ordinance, the provisions of this chapter become applicable to the city. Any city enacting such an ordinance shall send a certified copy thereof to the board and shall, as soon as possible thereafter, deposit with the board all cash and securities held by it in its local police reserve or retirement fund. The value of the securities shall be determined by the board.

(2) The trustees or other administrative head of the local system as of the effective date of the election shall certify the proportion, if any, of the funds of the system that represents the accumulated contributions of the active members and the relative shares of the members as of that date. Such shares shall be charged to the employer and credited to the respective individual accounts of the members in the plan and administered as if the contributions had been made during membership in the plan. Any excess of employer credits over charges under this section will be offset, with interest, against future required employer contributions. Any excess of employer charges over credits under this section are payable by the employer, with interest, on a basis determined by the procedure described in 19-9-503(2) and (3)."

Section 2. Section 19-9-503, MCA, is amended to read:

"19-9-503. Unfunded liabilities. (1) It is found and declared by the legislature that many cities operating under prior plans have excess and unfunded liabilities under such prior plans, which liabilities cannot be amortized by the percentage contributions set forth in 19-9-702 and 19-9-703.

(2) The administrator shall, on or before October 1, 1977, determine the excess and unfunded liability of each city which participates in the plan created by this chapter. The determination of the administrator, in the absence of fraud, abuse of discretion, or arithmetic error, is final and binding on each city. Each city found by the administrator to have an excess and unfunded liability under a prior plan which as of July 1, 1977, is not funded by sums on deposit or funds available for deposit with the administrator shall pay an additional sum over a period of time to amortize its excess liability as determined by the administrator. If any city and the administrator are unable by January 1, 1978, to negotiate and reduce to writing the terms of an agreement satisfactory to both of them for the city to amortize its excess liability, the administrator shall require such city to pay an additional sum to amortize its excess liability on July 1, 1977, over a period of not more than 40 years.

(3) Each city found by the administrator to be paying an amount in excess of the amount necessary to amortize its liabilities under the prior plan and under this chapter shall receive a credit in the accounts of the administrator for any such excess payments.

(4) The excess unfunded liabiliity for each city shall be revaluated by the administrator on July 1, 1980, as part of the normal actuarial valuations required in 19-9-504 reflecting the change in the contribution rates made in [section 3, 4, and 5 of this bill], and each city's funding position will be changed using the procedures of 19-9-107. The resulting report will be made available to the cities no later than October 1, 1980.

(5) If a majority of the cities participating in the municipal police officers' retirement system do not agree with the results of the revaluation outlined in subsection (4), they may, by mutual agreement of the cities, select a qualified actuary, as defined in 19-9-504, to perform a second actuarial valuation as of July 1, 1980, with the conclusions of the second actuarial valuation to replace the actuarial valuation discussed in subsection (4). The cost of the second actuarial valuation shall be paid by all cities participating in the system in proportion to their active membership in the system as of July 1, 1980.

(6) The time and method of settlement on the unfunded liability will be as agreed on by the administrator and the city. The minimum allowable payment must be equal to or greater than the interest due at the interest rate used in the actuarial study for the unfunded balance."

Section 3. Section 19-9-601, MCA, is amended to read:

"19-9-601. Member contributions. The treasurer or other appropriate official of each employer shall retain from the monthly compensation of each active member a sum equal to 6% or, in the case of a member first employed by an employer as a police officer after June 30, 1979, 7 ½% of his monthly compensation, excluding overtime, holiday payments, shift differential payments, compensation time payments, and payments in lieu of sick leave and annual leave, for his services as a police officer. The monthly deduction from the salaries of police officers shall be paid to the administrator for the purpose of paying the retirement allowances of retired police officers."

Section 4. Section 19-9-702, MCA, is amended to read:

Each employer shall make its contribution on behalf of members through the city treasurer or other appropriate official out of moneys available to the city for such purpose. (a) such resident or nonresident person, wholesaler, subjobber, or retailer is exempt from state cigarette taxation provisions;

(b) such resident or nonresident person, wholesaler, subjobber, or retailer furnishes documentary evidence that he is exempt from state cigarette taxation provisions; and

(c) such resident or nonresident person, wholesaler, subjobber, or retailer signs a receipt of purchase for any cigarettes evidencing that he is exempt from state cigarette taxation provisions.

CHAPTER NO. 383

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE SUPERVISION, REHABILITATION, AND LIQUIDATION OF INSURERS; REPEALING SECTIONS 33-2-901 THROUGH 33-2-948, MCA.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Short title, construction, and purpose. (1) [This act] shall be cited as the "Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act".

(2) [This act] may not be interpreted to limit the powers granted the commissioner by other provisions of the law.

(3) [This act] shall be liberally construed to effect the purpose stated in subsection (4).

(4) The purpose of [this act] is the protection of the interests of insureds, claimants, creditors, and the public generally, with minimum interference with the normal prerogatives of the owners and managers of insurers, through:

(a) early detection of any potentially dangerous condition in an insurer and prompt application of appropriate corrective measures;

(b) improved methods for rehabilitating insurers, involving the cooperation and management expertise of the insurance industry;

(c) enhanced efficiency and economy of liquidation, through clarification of the law, to minimize legal uncertainty and litigation;

(d) equitable apportionment of any unavoidable loss;

(e) lessening the problems of interstate rehabilitation and liquidation by facilitating cooperation between states in the liquidation process and by extending the scope of personal jurisdiction over debtors of the insurer outside this state; and

(f) regulation of the insurance business by the impact of the law relating to delinquency procedures and substantive rules on the entire insurance business.

Section 2. Definitions. For the purposes of [this act] the following definitions apply:

(1) "Ancillary state" means any state other than a domiciliary state.

(2) "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance of this state.

(3) "Creditor" is a person having any claim, whether matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, secured or unsecured, absolute, fixed, or contingent.

(4) "Delinquency proceeding" means any proceeding instituted against an insurer for the purpose of liquidating, rehabilitating, reorganizing, or conserving such insurer and any summary proceeding under [section 9 or 10]. "Formal delinquency proceeding" means any liquidation or rehabilitation proceeding.

(5) "Doing business" includes any of the following acts, whether effected by mail or otherwise:

(a) the issuance or delivery of contracts of insurance to persons resident in this state;

(e) operating under a license or certificate of authority, as an insurer, issued by the commissioner.

(6) "Domiciliary state" means the state in which an insurer is incorporated or organized or, in the case of an alien insurer, its state of entry.

(7) "Fair consideration" is given for property or obligation:

(a) when in exchange for such property or obligation, as a fair equivalent therefor and in good faith, property is conveyed or services are rendered or an obligation is incurred or an antecedent debt is satisfied; or

(b) when such property of obligation is received in good faith to secure a present advance or antecedent debt in amount not disproportionately small as compared to the value of the property or obligation obtained.

(8) "Foreign country" means any other jurisdiction not in any state.

(9) "General assets" means all property, real, personal, or otherwise, not specifically mortgaged, pledged, deposited, or otherwise encumbered for the security or benefit of specified persons or classes of persons. As to specifically encumbered property, "general assets" includes all such property or its proceeds in excess of the amount necessary to discharge the sum or sums secured thereby. Assets held in trust and on deposit for the security or benefit of all policyholders or all policyholders and creditors, in more than a single state, shall be treated as general assets.

(10) "Guaranty association" means the Montana insurance guaranty association, the workers' compensation security fund, the Montana life and health insurance guaranty association, and any other similar entity now or hereafter created by the legislature of this state for the payment of claims of insolvent insurers. "Foreign guaranty association" means any similar entities now in existence in or hereafter created by the legislature of any other state.

(11) (a) "Insolvency" or "insolvent" means:

(i) for an insurer issuing only assessable fire insurance policies, the inability to pay any obligation within 30 days after it becomes payable; or

(ii) for any other insurer, the inability to pay its obligations when they are due or when its admitted assets do not exceed its liabilities plus the greater of:

(A) any capital and surplus required by law for its organization; or

(B) the total par or stated value of its authorized and issued capital stock;

(iii) as to any insurer licensed to do business in this state as of [the effective date of this act] which does not meet the standard established under subsection (ii), for a period not to exceed 3 years from [the effective date of this act], the inability to pay its obligations when they are due or that its admitted assets do not exceed its liabilities plus any required capital contribution ordered by the commissioner under provisions of the insurance law.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 881 1979

(b) For purposes of this subsection "liabilities" include but are not limited to reserves required by statute or by the commissioner upon a subject company at the time of admission or subsequent thereto.

(12) "Insurer" means any person who has done, purports to do, is doing, or is licensed to do insurance business and is or has been subject to the authority of or to liquidation, rehabilitation, reorganization, supervision, or conservation by any insurance commissioner. Any other persons included under [section 3] are considered to be insurers.

(13) "Preferred claim" means any claim with respect to which the terms of [this act] accord priority of payment from the general assets of the insurer.

(14) "Receiver" means receiver, liquidator, rehabilitator, or conservator as the context requires.

(15) "Reciprocal state" means any state other than this state in which in substance and effect [sections 18(1), 52, 53, and 55 through 57] are in force and in which provisions are in force requiring that the commissioner or equivalent official be the receiver of a delinquent insurer and in which some provision exists for the avoidance of fraudulent conveyances and preferential transfers.

(16) "Secured claim" means any claim secured by mortgage, trust deed, pledge, deposit as security, escrow, or otherwise, but not including special deposit claims or claims against general assets. The term also includes claims which have become liens upon specific assets by reason of judicial process.

(17) "Special deposit claim" means any claim secured by a deposit made pursuant to statute for the security or benefit of a limited class of persons, but not including any claim secured by general assets.

(18) "State" means any state, district, or territory of the United States.

(19) "Transfer" includes the sale and every other mode, direct or indirect, of disposing of or parting with property or with an interest therein or with the possession thereof or fixing a lien upon property or upon an interest therein, absolutely or conditionally, voluntarily, by or without judicial proceedings. The retention of a security title to property delivered to a debtor is considered a transfer suffered by the debtor.

Section 3. Persons covered. The proceedings authorized by [this act] may be applied to:

(1) all insurers who are doing or have done insurance business in this state and against whom claims arising from that business may exist now or in the future;

(2) all insurers who purport to do an insurance business in this state;

(3) all insurers who have insureds resident in this state;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 882 1979

(5) all nonprofit service plans and all fraternal benefit societies and beneficial societies; or

(6) all title insurance companies.

Section 4. Jurisdiction and venue. (1) No delinquency proceeding may be commenced under [this act] by anyone other than the commissioner and no court shall have jurisdiction to entertain, hear, or determine any proceeding commenced by any other person.

(2) No court of this state has jurisdiction to entertain, hear, or determine any complaint praying for the dissolution, liquidation, rehabilitation, sequestration, conservation, or receivership of any insurer or praying for an injunction or restraining order or other relief preliminary to, incidental to, or relating to such proceedings other than in accordance with [this act].

(3) In addition to other grounds for jurisdiction provided by the law of this state, a court of this state having jurisdiction of the subject matter has jurisdiction over a person served pursuant to the Montana Rules of Civil Procedure or other applicable provisions of law in an action brought by the receiver of a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state:

(a) if the person served is obligated to the insurer in any way as an incident to any agency or brokerage arrangement that may exist or has existed between the insurer and the agent or broker in any action on or incident to the obligation;

(b) if the person served is a reinsurer who has at any time written a policy of reinsurance for an insurer against which a rehabilitation or liquidation order is in effect when the action is commenced or is an agent or broker of or for the reinsurer in any action on or incident to the reinsurance contract; or

(c) if the person served is or has been an officer, manager, trustee, organizer, promoter, or person in a position of comparable authority or influence in an insurer against which a rehabilitation or liquidation order is in effect when the action is commenced in any action resulting from such a relationship with the insurer.

(4) If the court on motion of any party finds that any action should as a matter of substantial justice be tried in a forum outside this state, the court may enter an appropriate order to stay further proceedings on the action in this state.

(5) All actions herein authorized shall be brought in the district court in the county in which the office of the commissioner is located.

Section 5. Injunctions and orders. (1) Any receiver appointed in a proceeding under [this act] may at any time apply for and any court of general jurisdiction may grant such restraining orders, preliminary and permanent injunctions, and other orders as may be necessary to prevent:

(a) the transaction of further business;

(b) the transfer of property;

(c) interference with the receiver or with a proceeding under [this act];

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 883 1979

(d) waste of the insurer's assets;

(e) dissipation and transfer of bank accounts;

(f) the institution or further prosecution of any actions or proceedings;

(g) the obtaining of preferences, judgments, attachments, garnishments, or liens against the insurer, its assets, or its policyholders;

(h) the levying of execution against the insurer, its assets, or its policyholders;

(i) the making of any sale or deed for nonpayment of taxes or assessments that would lessen the value of the assets of the insurer;

(j) the withholding from the receiver of books, accounts, documents, or other records relating to the business of the insurer; or

(k) any other threatened or contemplated action that might lessen the value of the insurer's assets or prejudice the rights of policyholders, creditors, or shareholders or the administration of any proceeding under [this act].

(2) The receiver may apply to any court outside of the state for the relief described in subsection (1).

Section 6. Cooperation of officers, owners, and employees. (1) Any officer, manager, director, trustee, owner, employee, or agent of any insurer or any other persons with authority over or in charge of any segment of the insurer's affairs shall cooperate with the commissioner in any proceeding under [this act] or any investigation preliminary to the proceeding. The term "person" as used in this section includes any person who exercises control directly or indirectly over activities of an insurer through any holding company or other affiliate of the insurer. "To cooperate" includes but is not limited to the following:

(a) replying promptly in writing to any inquiry from the commissioner requesting such a reply; and

(b) making available to the commissioner any books, accounts, documents, or other records or information or property of or pertaining to the insurer and in his possession, custody, or control.

(2) No person may obstruct or interfere with the commissioner in the conduct of any delinquency proceeding or any investigation preliminary or incidental thereto.

(3) This section shall not be construed to abridge otherwise existing legal rights, including the right to resist a petition for liquidation or other delinquency proceedings, or other orders.

(4) Any person included within subsection (1) who fails to cooperate with the commissioner or any person who obstructs or interferes with the commissioner in the conduct of any delinquency proceeding or any investigation preliminary or incidental thereto or who violates any order the commissioner issued validly under [this act] may:

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 884 1979

(a) be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $10,000 or to undergo imprisonment for a term of not more than 1 year, or both; or

(b) after a hearing, be subject to the imposition by the commissioner of a civil penalty not to exceed $10,000 and to the revocation or suspension of any insurance licenses issued by the commissioner.

Section 7. Bonds. In any proceeding under [this act], the commissioner and his deputies are responsible on their official bonds for the faithful performance of their duties. If the court finds it desirable for the protection of the assets, it may at any time require an additional bond from the commissioner or his deputies, and such bonds shall be paid for out of the assets of the insurer as a cost of administration.

Section 8. Continuation of delinquency proceedings. Every proceeding heretofore commenced under the laws in effect before the enactment of [this act] shall be considered to have commenced under [this act] for the purpose of conducting the proceeding henceforth, except that in the discretion of the commissioner the proceeding may be continued, in whole or in part, as it would have been continued had [this act] not been enacted.

Section 9. Commissioner's summary orders and supervision proceedings. (1) Whenever the commissioner determines, after a hearing held under subsection (5), that any domestic insurer has committed or engaged in or is about to commit or engage in any act, practice, or transaction that would subject it to delinquency proceedings under [this act], he may make and serve upon the insurer and any other persons involved such orders as are reasonably necessary to correct or eliminate such conduct.

(2) If upon examination or at any other time the commissioner determines that any domestic insurer is in such condition as to render the continuance of its business hazardous to the public or to holders of its policies or certificates of insurance, or if such domestic insurer gives its consent, then the commissioner shall notify the insurer of his determination, and furnish to the insurer a written list of the commissioner's requirements to abate his determination.

(3) If the commissioner makes a determination to supervise an insurer subject to an order under subsection (1) or (2), he shall notify the insurer that it is under the supervision of the commissioner. During the period of supervision, the commissioner may appoint a supervisor to supervise such insurer. The order appointing a supervisor shall direct the supervisor to enforce orders issued under subsections (1) and (2) and may also require that the insurer may not do any of the following things during the period of supervision without the prior approval of the commissioner or the supervisor:

(a) dispose of, convey, or encumber any of its assets or its business in force;

(b) withdraw from any of its bank accounts;

(c) lend any of its funds;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 885 1979

(d) invest any of its funds;

(e) incur any debt, obligation, or liability;

(f) merge or consolidate with another company; or

(g) enter into any new reinsurance contract or treaty.

(4) Any insurer subject to an order under this section shall comply with the lawful requirements of the commissioner and, if placed under supervision, has 60 days from the date the supervision order is served within which to comply with the requirements of the commissioner. If the insurer fails to comply within that time, the commissioner may institute proceedings under [section 12 or 17] to have a rehabilitator or liquidator appointed or extend the period of supervision.

(5) The notice of hearing under subsection (1) and any order issued pursuant to such subsection shall be served upon the insurer pursuant to the applicable rules of civil or administrative procedure. The notice of hearing shall state the time and place of hearing, and the conduct, condition, or ground upon which the commissioner would base his order. Unless mutually agreed between the commissioner and the insurer, the hearing shall occur not less than 10 days or more than 30 days after notice is served and shall be either in Lewis and Clark County or in some other place convenient to the parties to be designated by the commissioner. The commissioner shall hold all hearings under subsection (1) privately unless the insurer requests a public hearing, in which case the hearing shall be public.

(6) (a) Any insurer subject to an order under subsection (2) may request a hearing to review that order. Such a hearing shall be held as provided in subsection (5), but the request for a hearing shall not stay the effect of the order.

(b) If the commissioner issues an order under subsection (2), the insurer may, at any time, waive a commissioner's hearing and apply for immediate judicial relief by means of any remedy afforded by law without first exhausting administrative remedies. Subsequent to a hearing, any party to the proceedings whose interests are substantially affected shall be entitled to judicial review of any order issued by the commissioner.

(7) During the period of supervision the insurer may request the commissioner to review an action taken or proposed to be taken by the supervisor, specifying wherein the action complained of is believed not to be in the best interest of the insurer.

(8) If any person has violated any supervision order issued under this section which as to him was then still in effect, he is subject to a civil penalty imposed by the district court not to exceed $10,000.

(9) The commissioner may apply for and any court of general jurisdiction may grant such restraining orders, preliminary and permanent injunctions, and other orders as may be necessary to enforce a supervision order.

(10) If any person subject to the provisions of [this act], including any person described in section 6(1), knowingly violates any valid order of the commissioner issued under the provisions of this section and, as a result of such violation, the net worth of the insurer is reduced or the insurer suffers loss it would not otherwise have suffered, said person is personally liable to the insurer for the amount of any such reduction or loss. The commissioner or supervisor is authorized to bring an action on behalf of the insurer in the district court to recover the amount of the reduction or loss together with any costs.

Section 10. Court's seizure order. (1) The commissioner may file in a district court of this state a petition alleging, with respect to a domestic insurer:

(a) that there exist grounds that would justify a court order for a formal delinquency proceeding against an insurer under [this act];

(b) that the interests of policyholders, creditors, or the public will be endangered by delay; and

(c) the contents of an order considered necessary by the commissioner.

(2) Upon a filing under subsection (1), the court may issue forthwith, ex parte and without a hearing, the requested order which shall direct the commissioner to take possession and control of all or a part of the property, books, accounts, documents, and other records of an insurer and of the premises occupied by it for transaction of its business and until further order of the court enjoin the insurer and its officers, managers, agents, and employees from disposition of its property and from transaction of its business except with the written consent of the commissioner.

(3) The court shall specify in the order what its duration shall be, which shall be such time as the court considers necessary for the commissioner to ascertain the condition of the insurer. On motion of either party or on its own motion, the court may from time to time hold such hearings as it considers desirable after such notice as it considers appropriate, and may extend, shorten, or modify the terms of the seizure order. The court shall vacate the seizure order if the commissioner fails to commence a formal proceeding under [this act] after having had a reasonable opportunity to do so. An order of the court pursuant to a formal proceeding under [this act] shall ipso facto vacate the seizure order.

(4) Entry of a seizure order under this section shall not constitute an anticipatory breach of any contract of the insurer.

(5) An insurer subject to an ex parte order under this section may petition the court at any time after the issuance of such order for a hearing and review of the order. The court shall hold such a hearing and review not more than 15 days after the request. A hearing under this subsection may be held privately in chambers, and it shall be so held if the insurer proceeded against so requests.

(6) If, at any time after the issuance of such an order, it appears to the court that any person whose interest is or will be substantially affected by the order did not appear at the hearing and has not been served, the court may order that notice be given. An order that notice be given shall not stay the effect of any order previously issued by the court.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 887 1979

Section 11. Confidentiality of hearings. In all proceedings and judicial reviews under [sections 9 and 10], all records of the insurer, other documents, and all files and court records and papers of the commissioner, so far as they pertain to or are a part of the record of the proceedings, remain confidential except as necessary to obtain compliance therewith, unless the district court, after hearing arguments from the parties in chambers, orders otherwise or unless the insurer requests that the matter be made public. Until such court order, all papers filed with the clerk of the district court shall be held by him in a confidential file.

Section 12. Grounds for rehabilitation. The commissioner may apply by petition to a district court for an order authorizing him to rehabilitate a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state on any one or more of the following grounds:

(1) The insurer is in such condition that the further transaction of business would be financially hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, or the public.

(2) There is reasonable cause to believe that there has been embezzlement from the insurer, wrongful sequestration or diversion of the insurer's assets, forgery or fraud affecting the insurer, or other illegal conduct in, by, or with respect to the insurer that if established would endanger assets in an amount threatening the solvency of the insurer.

(3) The insurer has failed to remove any person who in fact has executive authority in the insurer, whether an officer, manager, general agent, employee, or other person, if the person has been found after notice and hearing by the commissioner to be dishonest or untrustworthy in a way affecting the insurer's business.

(4) Control of the insurer, whether by stock ownership or otherwise, and whether direct or indirect, is in a person found after notice and hearing to be untrustworthy.

(5) Any person who in fact has executive authority in the insurer, whether an officer, manager, general agent, director or trustee, employee, or other person, has refused to be examined under oath by the commissioner concerning its affairs, whether in this state or elsewhere, and after reasonable notice of the fact the insurer has failed promptly and effectively to terminate the employment and status of the person and his influence on management.

(6) After demand by the commissioner under 33-1-403 or under [this act], the insurer has failed to promptly make available for examination any of its own property, books, accounts, documents, or other records or those of any subsidiary or related company within the control of the insurer or those of any person having executive authority in the insurer so far as they pertain to the insurer.

(7) Without first obtaining the written consent of the commissioner, the insurer has transferred or attempted to transfer, in a manner contrary to chapter 2, part 11, or chapter 2, part 12, of Title 33, substantially its entire property or business or has entered into any transaction the effect of which is to merge, consolidate, or reinsure substantially its entire property or business in or with the property or business of any other person.

(8) The insurer or its property has been or is the subject of an application for the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian, conservator, or sequestrator or similar fiduciary of the insurer or its property otherwise than as authorized under the insurance laws of this state, and such appointment has been made or is imminent, and such appointment might oust the courts of this state of jurisdiction or might prejudice orderly delinquency proceedings under [this act].

(9) Within the previous 4 years the insurer has willfully violated its charter or articles of incorporation, its bylaws, any insurance law of this state, or any valid order of the commissioner under [section 9].

(10) The insurer has failed to pay within 60 days after due date any obligation to any state or any subdivision thereof or any judgment entered in any state, if the court in which such judgment was entered had jurisdiction over such subject matter, except that such nonpayment shall not be a ground until 60 days after any good faith effort by the insurer to contest the obligation has been terminated, whether it is before the commissioner or in the courts, or the insurer has systematically attempted to compromise or renegotiate previously agreed settlements with its creditors on the ground that it is financially unable to pay its obligations in full.

(11) The insurer has failed to file its annual report or other financial report required by statute within the time allowed by law and, after written demand by the commissioner, has failed to give an adequate explanation immediately.

(12) The board of directors or the holders of a majority of the shares entitled to vote request or consent to rehabilitation under [this act].

Section 13. Rehabilitation orders. (1) An order to rehabilitate the business of a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state shall appoint the commissioner the rehabilitator and shall direct the rehabilitator forthwith to take possession of the assets of the insurer and to administer them under the general supervision of the court. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court or clerk and recorder of the county in which the principal business of the company is conducted or the county in which its principal office or place of business is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with the county clerk and recorder would have imparted. The order to rehabilitate the insurer shall by operation of law vest title to all assets of the insurer in the rehabilitator.

(2) Any order issued under this section shall require accounting to the court by the rehabilitator. Accountings shall be at such intervals as the court specifies in its order.

(3) Entry of an order of rehabilitation does not constitute an anticipatory breach of any contracts of the insurer.

Section 14. Powers and duties of the rehabilitator. (1) The commissioner as rehabilitator may appoint one or more special deputies, who shall have all the powers and responsibilities of the rehabilitator granted under this section, and the commissioner may employ counsel, clerks, and assistants. The compensation of the special deputy, counsel, clerks, and assistants and all expenses of taking possession of the insurer and of conducting the proceedings shall be fixed by the commissioner, with the approval of the court and shall be paid out of the funds or assets of the insurer. The persons appointed under this section shall serve at the pleasure of the commissioner. If the property of the insurer does not contain sufficient cash or liquid assets to defray the costs incurred, the commissioner may advance the costs so incurred out of any appropriation for the maintenance of his office. Any amounts so advanced for expenses of administration shall be repaid to the commissioner for the use of his office out of the first available money of the insurer.

(2) The rehabilitator may take such action as necessary to reform and revitalize the insurer. He shall have all the powers of the directors, officers, and managers, whose authority shall be suspended, except as they are redelegated by the rehabilitator. He shall have full power to direct and manage, to hire and discharge employees subject to any contract rights they may have, and to deal with the property and business of the insurer.

(3) If it appears to the rehabilitator that there has been criminal or tortious conduct or breach of any contractual or fiduciary obligation detrimental to the insurer by any officer, manager, agent, broker, employee, or other person, he may pursue all appropriate legal remedies on behalf of the insurer.

(4) If the rehabilitator determines that reorganization, consolidation, conversion, reinsurance, merger, or other transformation of the insurer is appropriate, he shall prepare a plan to effect such changes. Upon application of the rehabilitator for approval of the plan and after such notice and hearings as the court may prescribe, the court may either approve or disapprove the plan proposed or may modify it and approve it as modified. Any plan approved under this section must be, in the judgment of the court, fair and equitable to all parties concerned. If the plan is approved, the rehabilitator shall carry out the plan. In the case of a life insurer, the plan proposed may include the imposition of liens upon the policies of the company, if all rights of shareholders are first relinquished. A plan for a life insurer may also propose imposition of a moratorium upon loan and cash surrender rights under policies, for such period and to such an extent as may be necessary.

(5) The rehabilitator shall have the power under [sections 26 and 27] to avoid fraudulent transfers.

Section 15. Actions by and against the rehabilitator. (1) Any court in this state before which any action or proceeding in which the insurer is a party or is obligated to defend a party is pending when a rehabilitation order against the insurer is entered shall stay the action or proceeding for 90 days and such additional time as is necessary for the rehabilitator to obtain proper representation and prepare for further proceedings. The rehabilitator shall take such action respecting the pending litigation as he considers necessary in the interests of justice and for the protection of creditors, policyholders, and the public. The rehabilitator shall immediately consider all litigation pending outside this state and shall petition the courts having jurisdiction over that litigation for stays whenever necessary to protect the estate of the insurer.

(2) No statute of limitations or defense of laches shall run with respect to any action by or against an insurer between the filing of a petition for appointment of a rehabilitator for that insurer and the order granting or denying that petition. Any action by or against the insurer that might have been commenced when the petition was filed may be commenced for at least 60 days after the order of rehabilitation is entered or the petition is denied.

(3) Any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association covering life or health insurance or annuities has standing to appear in any court proceeding concerning the rehabilitation of a life or health insurer if such association is or may become liable to act as a result of the rehabilitation.

Section 16. Termination of rehabilitation. (1) Whenever the commissioner believes further attempts to rehabilitate an insurer would substantially increase the risk of loss to creditors, policyholders, or the public or would be futile, the commissioner may petition the district court for an order of liquidation. A petition under this subsection shall have the same effect as a petition under [section 17]. The district court shall permit the directors of the insurer to take such actions as are reasonably necessary to defend against the petition and may order payment from the estate of the insurer of such costs and other expenses of defense as justice may require.

(2) The rehabilitator may at any time petition the district court for an order terminating rehabilitation of an insurer. The court shall also permit the directors of the insurer to petition the court for an order terminating rehabilitation of the insurer and may order payment from the estate of the insurer of such costs and other expenses of such petition as justice may require. If the court finds that rehabilitation has been accomplished and that grounds for rehabilitation under [section 12] no longer exist, it shall order that the insurer be restored to possession of its property and the control of the business. The district court may also make that finding and issue that order at any time upon its own motion.

Section 17. Grounds for liquidation. The commissioner may petition the district court for an order directing him to liquidate a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state on the basis:

(1) of any ground for an order of rehabilitation as specified in [section 12], whether or not there has been a prior order directing the rehabilitation of the insurer;

(2) that the insurer is insolvent; or

(3) that the insurer is in such condition that the further transaction of business would be hazardous, financially or otherwise, to its policyholders, its creditors, or the public.

Section 18. Liquidation orders. (1) An order to liquidate the business of a domestic insurer shall appoint the commissioner and his successors in office liquidator and shall direct the liquidator forthwith to take possession of the assets of the insurer and to administer them under the general supervision of the court. The liquidator shall be vested by operation of law with the title to all of the property, contracts, and rights of action and all of the books and records of the insurer ordered liquidated, wherever located, as of the entry of the final order of liquidation. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court and the clerk and recorder of the county in which its principal office or place of business is located or, in the case of real estate, with the clerk and recorder of the county where the property is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that clerk and recorder would have imparted.

(2) Upon issuance of the order, the rights and liabilities of any such insurer and of its creditors, policyholders, shareholders, members, and all other persons interested in its estate shall become fixed as of the date of entry of the order of liquidation, except as provided in [sections 19 and 37].

(3) An order to liquidate the business of an alien insurer domiciled in this state shall be in the same terms and have the same legal effect as an order to liquidate a domestic insurer, except that the assets and the business in the United States shall be the only assets and business included therein.

(4) At the time of petitioning for an order of liquidation or at any time thereafter, the commissioner, after making appropriate findings of an insurer's insolvency, may petition the court for a judicial declaration of such insolvency. After providing such notice and hearing as it considers proper, the court may make the declaration.

(5) Any order issued under this section shall require accounting to the court by the liquidator. Accountings shall be at such intervals as the court specifies in its order.

Section 19. Continuance of coverage. (1) All policies, other than life or health insurance or annuities, in effect at the time of issuance of an order of liquidation shall continue in force only for the lesser of:

(a) a period of 30 days from the date of entry of the liquidation orders;

(b) the expiration of the policy coverage;

(c) the date when the insured has replaced the insurance coverage with equivalent insurance in another insurer or otherwise terminated the policy; or

(d) the liquidator has effected a transfer of the policy obligation pursuant to [section 21(1)(h)].

(2) An order of liquidation under [section 18] terminates coverages at the time specified in subsection (1) for purposes of any other statute.

(3) Policies of life or health insurance or annuities continue in force for such period and under such terms as provided by any applicable guaranty association or foreign guaranty association.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 892 1979

(4) Policies of life or health insurance or annuities or any period or coverage of such policies not covered by a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association shall terminate under subsections (1) and (2).

Section 20. Dissolution of insurer. The commissioner may petition for an order dissolving the corporate existence of a domestic insurer or the United States branch of an alien insurer domiciled in this state at the time he applies for a liquidation order. The court shall order dissolution of the corporation upon petition by the commissioner upon or after the granting of a liquidation order. If the dissolution has not previously been ordered, it shall be effected by operation of law upon the discharge of the liquidator if the insurer is insolvent but may be ordered by the court upon the discharge of the liquidator if the insurer is under a liquidation order for some other reason.

Section 21. Powers of liquidator. (1) The liquidator may:

(a) appoint a special deputy to act for him under [this act] and to determine his reasonable compensation. The special deputy has all powers of the liquidator granted by this section. The special deputy shall serve at the pleasure of the liquidator.

(b) employ agents, legal counsel, actuaries, accountants, appraisers, consultants, and other personnel necessary to assist in the liquidation;

(c) fix the reasonable compensation of employees and agents, legal counsel, actuaries, accountants, appraisers, and consultants with the approval of the court;

(d) pay reasonable compensation to persons appointed and defray from the funds or assets of the insurer all expenses of taking possession of, conserving, conducting, liquidating, disposing of, or otherwise dealing with the business and property of the insurer. If the property of the insurer does not contain sufficient cash or liquid assets to defray the costs incurred, the commissioner may advance the costs so incurred out of any appropriation for the maintenance of the commissioner's office. Any amounts so advanced for expenses of administration shall be repaid to the commissioner for the use of his office out of the first available money of the insurer.

(e) hold hearings, subpoena witnesses to compel their attendance, administer oaths, examine any person under oath, and compel any person to subscribe to his testimony after it has been correctly reduced to writing, and in connection therewith require the production of any books, papers, records or other documents which he considers relevant to the inquiry;

(f) to collect all debts and money due and claims belonging to the insurer, wherever located, and for this purpose:

(i) institute timely action in other jurisdictions in order to forestall garnishment and attachment proceedings against such debts;

(ii) do such other acts as are necessary to collect, conserve, or protect its assets or property, and has the power to sell, compound, compromise, or assign debts for purposes of collection upon such terms and conditions as he considers best; and

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 893 1979

(iii) pursue any creditor's remedies available to enforce his claims;

(g) conduct public and private sales of the property of the insurer;

(h) use assets of the estate of an insurer under a liquidation order to transfer policy obligations to a solvent assuming insurer, if the transfer can be arranged without prejudice to applicable priorities under [section 42];

(i) acquire, encumber, lease, improve, sell, or transfer any property of the insurer at its market value or upon such terms and conditions as are fair and reasonable. He shall also have power to execute, acknowledge, and deliver any and all deeds, assignments, releases, and other instruments necessary or proper to effectuate any sale of property or other transaction in connection with the liquidation.

(j) borrow money on the security of the insurer's assets or without security and execute and deliver all documents necessary to that transaction for the purpose of facilitating the liquidation;

(k) enter into such contracts as are necessary to carry out the order to liquidate, and affirm or disavow any contracts to which the insurer is a party;

(l) continue to prosecute and institute in the name of the insurer or in his own name any and all suits and other legal proceedings, in this state or elsewhere, and abandon the prosecution of claims he considers unprofitable to pursue further. If the insurer is dissolved under [section 20], he shall have the power to apply to any court in this state or elsewhere for leave to substitute himself for the insurer as plaintiff.

(m) prosecute any action which may exist in behalf of the creditors, members, policyholders, or shareholders of the insurer against any officer of the insurer or any other person;

(n) remove any or all records and property of the insurer to the offices of the commissioner or to such other place as may be convenient for the purposes of efficient and orderly execution of the liquidation. Guaranty associations and foreign guaranty associations shall have such reasonable access to the records of the insurer as is necessary for them to carry out their statutory obligations.

(o) deposit in one or more banks in this state such sums as are required for meeting current administration expenses and dividend distributions;

(p) invest all sums not currently needed, unless the court orders otherwise;

(q) file any necessary documents for record in the office of any county clerk and recorder in this state or elsewhere where property of the insurer is located;

(r) assert all defenses available to the insurer as against third persons, including statutes of limitation, statutes of frauds, and the defense of usury. A waiver of any defense by the insurer after a petition in liquidation has been filed shall not bind the liquidator. Whenever a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association has an obligation to defend any suit, the liquidator shall give precedence to such obligation and may defend only in the absence of a defense by such guaranty associations.

(s) exercise and enforce all the rights, remedies, and powers of any creditor, shareholder, policyholder, or member, including any power to avoid any transfer or lien that may be given by the general law and that is not included with [sections 26 through 28];

(t) intervene in any proceeding wherever instituted that might lead to the appointment of a receiver or trustee and act as the receiver or trustee whenever the appointment is offered;

(u) enter into agreements with any receiver or commissioner of any other state relating to the rehabilitation, liquidation, conservation, or dissolution of an insurer doing business in both states;

(v) exercise all powers now held or hereafter conferred upon receivers by the laws of this state not inconsistent with the provisions of [this act].

(2) The enumeration in this section of the powers and authority of the liquidator shall not be construed as a limitation upon him, nor shall it exclude in any manner his right to do such other acts not herein specifically enumerated, or otherwise provided for, as may be necessary for the accomplishment of or in aid of the purpose of liquidation.

Section 22. Notice to creditors and others. (1) Unless the court otherwise directs, the liquidator shall give or cause to be given notice of the liquidation order as soon as possible:

(a) by first-class mail and either by telegram or telephone to the insurance commissioner of each jurisdiction in which the insurer is doing business;

(b) by first-class mail to any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association which is or may become obligated as a result of the liquidation;

(c) by first-class mail to all insurance agents of the insurer;

(d) by first-class mail to all persons known or reasonably expected to have claims against the insurer, including all policyholders, at their last-known address as indicated by the records of the insurer; and

(e) by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the insurer has its principal place of business and in such other locations as the liquidator considers appropriate.

(2) Notice to potential claimants under subsection (1) shall require claimants to file with the liquidator their claims together with proper proofs thereof under [section 36], on or before a date the liquidator shall specify in the notice. The liquidator need not require persons claiming cash surrender values or other investment values in life insurance and annuities to file a claim. All claimants have a duty to keep the liquidator informed of any changes of address.

(3) If notice is given in accordance with this section, the distribution of assets of the insurer under this chapter shall be conclusive with respect to all claimants, whether or not they received notice.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 895 1979

Section 23. Duties of agents. (1) Every person who receives notice in the form prescribed in [section 22] that an insurer which he represents as an agent is the subject of a liquidation order shall within 15 days of such notice give notice of the liquidation order. The notice shall be sent by first-class mail to the last address contained in the agent's records to each policyholder or other person named in any policy issued through the agent by the insurer, if he has a record of the address of the policyholder or other person. A policy shall be considered issued through an agent if the agent has a property interest in the expiration of the expiration of the policy or if the agent has had in his possession a copy of the declarations of the policy at any time during the life of the policy, except where the ownership of the expiration of the policy has been transferred to another. The written notice shall include the name and address of the insurer, the name and address of the agent, identification of the policy impaired, and the nature of the impairment, including termination of coverage, as described in [section 19]. Notice by a general agent satisfies the notice requirement for any agents under contract to him. Each agent obligated to give notice under this section shall file a report of compliance with the liquidator.

(2) Any agent failing to give notice or file a report of compliance as required in subsection (1) may be subject to payment of a penalty of not more than $1,000 and may have his license suspended, after a hearing held by the commissioner.

(3) The liquidator may waive the duties imposed by this section if he determines that other notice to the policyholders of the insurer under liquidation is adequate.

Section 24. Actions by and against liquidator. (1) Upon issuance of an order appointing a liquidator of a domestic insurer or of an alien insurer domiciled in this state, no action at law or equity may be brought against the insurer or liquidator, whether in this state or elsewhere, nor shall any such existing actions be maintained or further presented after issuance of such order. The courts of this state shall give full faith and credit to injunctions against the liquidator or the company or the continuation of existing actions against the liquidator or the company when such injunctions are included in an order to liquidate an insurer issued pursuant to corresponding provisions in other states. Whenever in the liquidator's judgment protection of the estate of the insurer necessitates intervention in an action against the insurer that is pending outside this state, he may intervene in the action. The liquidator may defend any action in which he intervenes under this section at the expense of the estate of the insurer.

(2) The liquidator may, upon or after an order for liquidation, within 2 years or such time in addition to 2 years as applicable law may permit, institute an action or proceeding on behalf of the estate of the insurer upon any cause of action against which the period of limitation fixed by applicable law has not expired at the time of the filing of the petition upon which such order is entered. When, by any agreement, a period of limitation is fixed for instituting a suit or proceeding upon any claim or for filing any claim, proof of claim, proof of loss, demand, notice, or the like or when in any proceeding, judicial or otherwise, a period of limitation is fixed, either in the proceeding or by applicable law, for taking any action, filing any claim or pleading, or doing any act and when in any such case the period had not expired at the date of the filing of the petition, the liquidator may, for the benefit of the estate, take any such action or do any such act, required of or permitted to the insurer, within a period of 180 days subsequent to the entry of an order for liquidation, or within such further period as is shown to the satisfaction of the court not to be unfairly prejudicial to the other party.

(3) No statute of limitations or defense of laches shall run with respect to any action against an insurer between the filing of a petition for liquidation against an insurer and the denial of the petition. Any action against the insurer that might have been commenced when the petition was filed may be commenced for at least 60 days after the petition is denied.

(4) Any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association shall have standing to appear in any court proceeding concerning the liquidation of an insurer if such association is or may become liable to act as a result of the liquidation.

Section 25. Collection and list of assets. (1) As soon as practicable after the liquidation order but not later than 120 days thereafter, the liquidator shall prepare in duplicate a list of the insurer's assets. The list shall be amended or supplemented from time to time as the liquidator may determine. One copy shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court and one copy shall be retained for the liquidator's files. All amendments and supplements shall be similarly filed.

(2) The liquidator shall reduce the assets to a degree of liquidity that is consistent with the effective execution of the liquidation.

(3) A submission to the court for disbursement of assets in accordance with [section 34] fulfills the requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

Section 26. Fraudulent transfers prior to petition. (1) Every transfer made or suffered and every obligation incurred by an insurer within 1 year prior to the filing of a successful petition for rehabilitation or liquidation under [this act] is fraudulent as to then existing and future creditors if made or incurred without fair consideration or with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud either existing or future creditors. A transfer made or an obligation incurred by an insurer ordered to be rehabilitated or liquidated under [this act] which is fraudulent under this section may be avoided by the receiver, except as to a person who in good faith is a purchaser, lienor, or obligee for a present fair equivalent value, and except that any purchaser, lienor, or obligee, who in good faith has given a consideration less than fair for such transfer, lien, or obligation, may retain the property, lien, or obligation as security for repayment. The court may, on due notice, order any such transfer or obligation to be preserved for the benefit of the estate, and in that event, the receiver succeeds to and may enforce the rights of the purchaser, lienor, or obligee.

(2) (a) A transfer of property other than real property is considered to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings on a simple contract could become superior to the rights of the transferee under [section 28(3)].

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 897 1979

(b) A transfer of real property is considered to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent bona fide purchaser from the insurer could obtain rights superior to the rights of the transferee.

(c) A transfer which creates an equitable lien is not considered to perfected if there are available means by which a legal lien could be created.

(d) Any transfer not perfected prior to the filing of a petition for liquidation is considered to be made immediately before the filing of the successful petition.

(e) The provisions of this subsection apply whether or not there are or were creditors who might have obtained any liens or persons who might have become bona fide purchasers.

(3) Any transaction of the insurer with a reinsurer is considered fraudulent and may be avoided by the receiver under subsection (1) if:

(a) the transaction consists of the termination, adjustment, or settlement of a reinsurance contract in which the reinsurer is released from any part of its duty to pay the originally specified share of losses that had occurred prior to the time of the transaction, unless the reinsurer gives a present fair equivalent value for the release; and

(b) any part of the transaction took place within 1 year prior to the date of filing of the petition through which the receivership was commenced.

Section 27. Fraudulent transfer after petition. (1) After a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation has been filed, a transfer of any of the real property of the insurer made to a person acting in good faith is valid against the receiver if made for a present fair equivalent value or, if not made for a present fair equivalent value, then to the extent of the present consideration actually paid therefor, for which amount the transferee shall have a lien on the property so transferred. The commencement of a proceeding in rehabilitation or liquidation is constructive notice upon the recording of a copy of the petition for or order of rehabilitation or liquidation with the county clerk and recorder in the county where any real property in question is located. The exercise by a court of the United States or any state or jurisdiction to authorize or effect a judicial sale of real property of the insurer within any county in any state shall not be impaired by the pendency of such a proceeding unless the copy is recorded in the county prior to the consummation of the judicial sale.

(2) After a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation has been filed and before either the receiver takes possession of the property of the insurer or an order of rehabilitation or liquidation is granted:

(a) a transfer of any of the property of the insurer, other than real property, made to a person acting in good faith is valid against the receiver if made for a present fair equivalent value or, if not made for a present fair equivalent value, then to the extent of the present consideration actually paid therefor, for which amount the transferee shall have a lien on the property so transferred;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 898 1979

(b) a person indebted to the insurer or holding property of the insurer may, if acting in good faith, pay the indebtedness or deliver the property, or any part thereof, to the insurer or upon his order, with the same effect as if the petition were not pending;

(c) a person having actual knowledge of the pending rehabilitation or liquidation is considered not acting in good faith;

(d) a person asserting the validity of a transfer under this section has the burden of proof. Except as elsewhere provided in this section, no transfer by or on behalf of the insurer after the date of the petition for liquidation by any person other than the liquidator shall be valid against the liquidator.

(3) Nothing in [this act] impairs the negotiability of currency or negotiable instruments.

Section 28. Voidable preferences and liens. (1) (a) A preference is a transfer of any of the property of an insurer to or for the benefit of a creditor, for or on account of an antecedent debt, made or suffered by the insurer within 1 year before the filing of a successful petition for liquidation under [this act], the effect of which transfer may be to enable the creditor to obtain a greater percentage of this debt than another creditor of the same class would receive. If a liquidation order is entered while the insurer is already subject to a rehabilitation order, then such transfers shall be considered preferences if made or suffered within 1 year before the filing of the successful petition for rehabilitation or within 2 years before the filing of the successful petition for liquidation, whichever time is shorter.

(b) Any preference may be avoided by the liquidator if:

(i) the insurer was insolvent at the time of the transfer;

(ii) the transfer was made within 4 months before the filing of the petition;

(iii) the creditor receiving it or to be benefited thereby or his agent acting with reference thereto had, at the time when the transfer was made, reasonable cause to believe that the insurer was insolvent or was about to become insolvent; or

(iv) the creditor receiving it was an officer or any employee or attorney or other person who was in fact in a position of comparable influence in the insurer to an officer whether or not he held such position, or any shareholder holding directly or indirectly more than 5% of any class of any equity security issued by the insurer, or any other person, firm, corporation, association, or aggregation of persons with whom the insurer did not deal at arm's length.

(c) When the preference is voidable, the liquidator may recover the property or, if it has been converted, its value from any person who has received or converted the property, except where a bona fide purchaser or lienor has given less than fair equivalent value, he shall have a lien upon the property to the extent of the consideration actually given by him. When a preference by way of lien or security title is voidable, the court may on due notice order the lien or title to be preserved for the benefit of the estate, in which event the lien or title passes to the liquidator.

(2) (a) A transfer of property other than real property is considered to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings on a simple contract could become superior to the rights of the transferee.

(b) A transfer of real property is considered to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent bona fide purchaser from the insurer could obtain rights superior to the rights of the transferee.

(c) A transfer which creates an equitable lien is not considered to be perfected if there are available means by which a legal lien could be created.

(d) A transfer not perfected prior to the filing of a petition for liquidation is considered to be made immediately before the filing of the successful petition.

(e) The provisions of this subsection apply whether or not there are or were creditors who might have obtained liens or persons who might have become bona fide purchasers.

(3) (a) A lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings upon a simple contract is one arising in the ordinary course of such proceedings upon the entry or docketing of a judgment or decree or upon attachment, garnishment, execution, or like process, whether before, upon, or after judgment or decree and whether before or upon levy. It does not include liens which under applicable law are given a special priority over other liens which are prior in time.

(b) A lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings could become superior to the rights of a transferee, or a purchaser could obtain rights superior to the rights of a transferee within the meaning of subsection (2), if such consequences would follow only from the lien or purchase itself or from the lien or purchase followed by any step wholly within the control of the respective lienholder or purchaser, with or without the aid of ministerial action by public officials. Such a lien could not, however, become superior and such a purchase could not create superior rights for the purpose of subsection (2) through any acts subsequent to the obtaining of such a lien or subsequent to such a purchase which require the agreement or concurrence of any third party or which require any further judicial action or ruling.

(4) A transfer of property for or on account of a new and contemporaneous consideration which is considered under subsection (2) to be made or suffered after the transfer because of delay in perfecting it does not thereby become a transfer for or on account of an antecedent debt if any acts required by the applicable law to be performed in order to perfect the transfer as against liens or bona fide purchasers' rights are performed within 21 days or any period expressly allowed by the law, whichever is less. A transfer to secure a future loan, if such a loan is actually made, or a transfer which becomes security for a future loan shall have the same effect as a transfer for or on account of a new and contemporaneous consideration.

(5) If any lien considered voidable under subsection (1)(b) has been dissolved by the furnishing of a bond or other obligation, the surety on which has been indemnified directly or indirectly by the transfer of or the creation of a lien upon any property of an insurer before the filing of a petition under [this act] which results in a liquidation order, the indemnifying transfer or lien shall also be considered voidable.

(6) The property affected by any lien considered voidable under subsections (1) and (5) shall be discharged from such lien, and that property and any of the indemnifying property transferred to or for the benefit of a surety shall pass to the liquidator, except that the court may on due notice order any such lien to be preserved for the benefit of the estate and the court may direct that such conveyance be executed as may be proper or adequate to evidence the title of the liquidator.

(7) The district court has summary jurisdiction of any proceeding by the liquidator to hear and determine the rights of any parties under this section. Reasonable notice of any hearing in the proceeding shall be given to all parties in interest, including the obligee of a releasing bond or other like obligation. When an order is entered for the recovery of indemnifying property in kind or for the avoidance of an indemnifying lien, the court, upon application of any party in interest, shall in the same proceeding ascertain the value of the property or lien, and if the value is less than the amount for which the property is indemnity or less than the amount of the lien, the transferee or lienholder may elect to retain the property or lien upon payment of its value, as ascertained by the court, to the liquidator, within such reasonable times as the court shall fix.

(8) The liability of a surety under a releasing bond or other like obligation is discharged to the extent of the value of the indemnifying property recovered or the indemnifying lien nullified and avoided by the liquidator or when the property is retained under subsection (7) to the extent of the amount paid to the liquidator.

(9) If a creditor has been preferred and afterward in good faith gives the insurer further credit without security of any kind, for property which becomes a part of the insurer's estate, the amount of the new credit remaining unpaid at the time of the petition may be set off against the preference which would otherwise be recoverable from him.

(10) If an insurer, directly or indirectly, within 4 months before the filing of a successful petition for liquidation under [this act] or at any time in contemplation of a proceeding to liquidate it, pays money or transfers property to an attorney at law for services rendered or to be rendered, the transaction may be examined by the court on its own motion or shall be examined by the court on petition of the liquidator and shall be held valid only to the extent of a reasonable amount to be determined by the court, and the excess may be recovered by the liquidator for the benefit of the estate, provided that where the attorney is in a position of influence in the insurer or an affiliate thereof, payment of any money or the transfer of any property to the attorney at law for services rendered or to be rendered shall be governed by the provision of subsection (1)(b)(iv).

(11) (a) Every officer, manager, employee, shareholder, member, subscriber, attorney, or any other person acting on behalf of the insurer who knowingly participates in giving any preference when he has reasonable cause to believe the insurer is or is about to become insolvent at the time of the preference is personally liable to the liquidator for the amount of the preference. It is permissible to infer that there is reasonable cause to so believe if the transfer was made within 4 months before the date of filing of this successful petition for liquidation.

(b) Every person receiving any property from the insurer or the benefit thereof as a preference voidable under subsection (1) is personally liable therefor and is bound to account to the liquidator.

(c) Nothing in this subsection prejudices any other claim by the liquidator against any person.

Section 29. Claims of holders of void or voidable rights. (1) No claims of a creditor who has received or acquired a preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or encumbrance voidable under [this act], shall be allowed unless he surrenders the preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or encumbrance. If the avoidance is effected by a proceeding in which a final judgment has been entered, the claim may not be allowed unless the money is paid or the property is delivered to the liquidator within 30 days from the date of the entering of the final judgment, except that the court having jurisdiction over the liquidation may allow further time if there is an appeal or other continuation of the proceeding.

(2) A claim allowable under subsection (1) by reason of the avoidance, whether voluntary or involuntary, or a preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or encumbrance may be filed as an excused late filing under [section 35] if filed within 30 days from the date of the avoidance or within the further time allowed by the court under subsection (1).

Section 30. Setoffs and counterclaims. (1) Mutual debts or mutual credits between the insurer and another person in connection with any action or proceeding under [this act] shall be set off and the balance only shall be allowed or paid, except as provided in subsection (2) and [section 33].

(2) No setoff or counterclaim may be allowed in favor of any person when:

(a) the obligation of the insurer to the person would not at the date of the filing of a petition for liquidation entitle the person to share as a claimant in the assets of the insurer;

(b) the obligation of the insurer to the person was purchased by or transferred to the person with a view to its being used as a setoff;

(c) the obligation of the person is to pay an assessment levied against the members or subscribers of the insurer or is to pay a balance upon a subscription to the capital stock of the insurer or is in any other way in the nature of a capital contribution; or

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 902 1979

(d) the obligation of the person is to pay premiums, whether earned or unearned, to the insurer.

Section 31. Assessments. (1) As soon as practicable but not more than 2 years from the date of an order of liquidation under [section 18] of an insurer issuing assessable policies, the liquidator shall make a report to the court setting forth:

(a) the reasonable value of the assets of the insurer;

(b) the insurer's probable total liabilities;

(c) the probable aggregate amount of the assessment necessary to pay all claims of creditors and expenses in full, including expenses of administration and costs of collecting the assessment; and

(d) a recommendation as to whether or not an assessment should be made and in what amount.

(2) (a) Upon the basis of the report provided in subsection (1), including any supplements and amendments thereto, the district court may levy one or more assessments against all members of the insurer who are subject to assessment.

(b) Subject to any applicable legal limits on assessability, the aggregate assessment shall be for the amount that the sum of the probable liabilities, the expenses of administration, and the estimated cost of collection of the assessment exceeds the value of existing assets, with due regard being given to assessments that cannot be collected economically.

(3) After levy of assessment under subsection (2), the liquidator shall issue an order directing each member who has not paid the assessment pursuant to the order to show cause why the liquidator should not pursue a judgment therefor.

(4) The liquidator shall give notice of the order to show cause by publication and by first-class mail to each member liable thereunder mailed to his last-known address as it appears on the insurer's records at least 20 days before the return day of the order to show cause.

(5) (a) If a member does not appear and serve duly verified objections upon the liquidator on or before the return day of the order to show cause under subsection (3), the court shall make an order adjudging the member liable for the amount of the assessment against him, pursuant to subsection (3), together with costs, and the liquidator shall have a judgment against the member therefor.

(b) If on or before such return day, the member appears and serves duly verified objections upon the liquidator, the commissioner may hear and determine the matter or may appoint a referee to hear it and make such order as the facts warrant. If the commissioner determines that such objections do not warrant relief from assessment, the member may request the court to review the matter and vacate the order to show cause.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 903 1979

(6) The liquidator may enforce any order or collect any judgment under subsection (5) by any lawful means.

Section 32. Reinsurer's liability. The amount recoverable by the liquidator from reinsurers may not be reduced as a result of delinquency proceedings, regardless of any provision in the reinsurance contract or other agreement. Payment made directly to an insured or other creditor may not diminish the reinsurer's obligation to the insurer's estate except when the reinsurance contract provided for direct coverage of a named insured and the payment was made in discharge of that obligation.

Section 33. Recovery of premiums owed. (1) (a) An agent or any other person responsible for the payment of a premium, other than the insured, shall be obligated to pay any unpaid premium for the full policy term due the insurer at the time of the declaration of insolvency, whether earned or unearned, as shown on the records of the insurer. The liquidator may recover from such person any part of an unearned premium that represents commission of such person. Credits or setoffs or both may not be allowed to an agent for any amounts advanced to the insurer by the agent on behalf of but in the absence of a payment by the insured.

(b) An insured shall pay any unpaid earned premium due the insurer at the time of the declaration of insolvency, as shown on the records of the insurer.

(2) Upon satisfactory evidence of a violation of this section, the commissioner may pursue either one or both of the following courses of action:

(a) suspend or revoke or refuse to renew the licenses of any offending party;

(b) impose a penalty of not more than $1,000 for each act in violation of this section by such party.

(3) Before the commissioner may take any action as set forth in subsection (2), he shall give written notice to the person, company, association, or exchange accused of violating the law, stating specifically the nature of the alleged violation and fixing a time and place, at least 10 days thereafter, when a hearing on the matter shall be held. After such hearing or upon failure of the accused to appear at such hearing, the commissioner, if he finds a violation, shall impose such penalties under subsection (2) as he considers advisable.

(4) When the commissioner takes action in any of the ways set out in subsection (2), the party aggrieved may appeal from the action to the district court.

Section 34. Domiciliary liquidator's proposal to distribute assets. (1) Within 120 days of a final determination of insolvency of an insurer by a court of competent jurisdiction of this state, the liquidator shall make application to the court for approval of a proposal to disburse assets out of marshalled assets, from time to time as such assets become available, to a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association having obligations because of such insolvency. If the liquidator determines that there are insufficient assets to disburse, the application required by this section shall be considered satisfied by a filing by the liquidator stating the reasons for this determination.

(2) The proposal shall at least include provisions for:

(a) reserving amounts for the payment of expenses of administration and the payment of claims of secured creditors, to the extent of the value of the security held, and claims falling within the priorities established in [section 42], classes 1 and 2;

(b) disbursement of the assets marshalled to date and subsequent disbursement of assets as they become available;

(c) equitable allocation of disbursements to each of the guaranty associations and foreign guaranty associations entitled thereto;

(d) the securing by the liquidator from each of the associations entitled to disbursements pursuant to this section of an agreement to return to the liquidator such assets, together with income earned on assets previously disbursed, as may be required to pay claims of secured creditors and claims falling within the priorities established in [section 42] in accordance with such priorities (no bond may be required of any such association); and

(e) a full report to be made by each association to the liquidator accounting for all assets so disbursed to the association, all disbursements made therefrom, any interest earned by the association on such assets, and any other matter as the court may direct.

(3) The liquidator's proposal shall provide for disbursements to the associations in amounts estimated at least equal to the claim payments made or to be made thereby for which such associations could assert a claim against the liquidator and shall further provide that if the assets available for disbursement from time to time do not equal or exceed the amount of such claim payments made or to be made by the association, then disbursements shall be in the amount of available assets.

(4) The liquidator's proposal shall, with respect to an insolvent insurer writing life or health insurance or annuities, provide for disbursements of assets to any guaranty association or any foreign guaranty association covering life or health insurance or annuities or to any other entity or organization reinsuring, assuming, or guaranteeing policies or contracts of insurance under the acts creating such associations.

(5) Notice of such application shall be given to the association in and to the commissioners of insurance of each of the states. Any notice shall be considered to have been given when deposited in the United States certified mails, first-class postage prepaid, at least 30 days prior to submission of such application to the court. Action on the application may be taken by the court provided the above required notice has been given and provided further that the liquidator's proposal complies with subsections (2)(a) and (2)(b).

Section 35. Filing of claims. (1) Proof of all claims shall be filed with the liquidator in the form required by [section 36] on or before the last day for filing specified in the notice required under [section 22], except that proof of claims for cash surrender values or other investment values in life insurance and annuities need not be filed unless the liquidator requires.

(2) The liquidator may permit a claimant making a late filing to share in distributions, whether past or future, as if he were not late, to the extent that any such payment will not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation, under the following circumstances:

(a) the existence of the claim was not known to the claimant and his claim was filed as promptly after learning of it as reasonably possible;

(b) a transfer to a creditor was avoided under [sections 26 through 28] or was voluntarily surrendered under [section 29], and the filing satisfies the conditions of [section 29]; and

(c) the valuation under [section 41] of security held by a secured creditor shows a deficiency, which is filed within 30 days after the valuation.

(3) The liquidator shall permit late filing claims to share in distributions, whether past or future, as if they were not late, if such claims are claims of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association for reimbursement of covered claims paid or expenses incurred, or both, subsequent to the last day for filing where such payments were made and expenses incurred as provided by law.

(4) The liquidator may consider any claim filed late which is not covered by subsection (2) and permit it to receive distributions which are subsequently declared on any claims of the same or lower priority if the payment does not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation. The late-filing claimant shall receive, at each distribution, the same percentage of the amount allowed on his claim as is then being paid to claimants of any lower priority. This shall continue until his claim has been paid in full.

Section 36. Proof of claim. (1) Proof of claim shall consist of a statement signed by the claimant that includes all of the following that are applicable:

(a) the particulars of the claim including the consideration given for it;

(b) the identity and amount of the security on the claim;

(c) the payments made on the debt, if any;

(d) that the sum claimed is justly owing and that there is no setoff, counterclaim, or defense to the claim;

(e) any right of priority of payment or other specific right asserted by the claimants;

(f) a copy of the written instrument which is the foundation of the claim;

(g) the name and address of the claimant and the attorney who represents him, if any.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 906 1979

(2) No claim need be considered or allowed if it does not contain all the information in subsection (1) which may be applicable. The liquidator may require that a prescribed form be used and may require that other information and documents be included.

(3) At any time the liquidator may request the claimant to present information or evidence supplementary to that required under subsection (1) and may take testimony under oath, require production of affidavits or depositions, or otherwise obtain additional information or evidence.

(4) No judgment or order against an insured or the insurer entered after the date of filing of a successful petition for liquidation and no judgment or order against an insured or the insurer entered at any time by default or by collusion need be considered as evidence of liability or of quantum of damages. No judgment or order against an insured or the insurer entered within 4 months before the filing of the petition need be considered as evidence of liability or of the quantum of damages.

(5) All claims of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association shall be in such form and contain such substantiation as may be agreed to by the association and the liquidator.

Section 37. Special claims. (1) The claim of a third party which is contingent only on his first obtaining a judgment against the insured shall be considered and allowed as if there were no such contingency.

(2) A claim may be allowed even if contingent, if it is filed in accordance with [section 35]. It may be allowed and may participate in all distributions declared after it is filed to the extent that it does not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation.

(3) Claims that are due except for the passage of time shall be treated as absolute claims are treated, except that such claims may be discounted at the legal rate of interest.

(4) Claims made under employment contracts by directors, principal officers, or persons in fact performing similar functions or having similar powers are limited to payment for services rendered prior to the issuance of any order of rehabilitation or liquidation under [section 13 or 18].

Section 38. Special provisions for third-party claims. (1) Whenever any third party asserts a cause of action against an insured of an insurer in liquidation, the third party may file a claim with the liquidator.

(2) Whether or not the third party files a claim, the insured may file a claim on his own behalf in the liquidation. If the insured fails to file a claim by the date for filing claims specified in the order of liquidation or within 60 days after mailing of the notice required by [section 22], whichever is later, he is an unexcused late filer.

(3) The liquidator shall make his recommendations to the court under [section 42], for the allowance of an insured's claim under subsection (2), after consideration of the probable outcome of any pending action against the insured on which the claim is based, the probable damages recoverable in the action, and the probable costs and expenses of defense. After allowance by the court, the liquidator shall withhold any dividends payable on the claim, pending the outcome of litigation and negotiation with the insured. Whenever it seems appropriate, he shall reconsider the claim on the bases of additional information and amend his recommendations to the court. The insured shall be afforded the same notice and opportunity to be heard on all changes in the recommendation as in its initial determination. The court may amend its allowance as it thinks appropriate. As claims against the insured are settled or barred, the insured shall be paid, from the amount withheld, the same percentage dividend as was paid on other claims of like property, based on the lesser of the amount actually recovered from the insured by action or paid by agreement plus the reasonable costs and expenses of defense, or the amount allowed on the claims by the court. After all claims are settled or barred, any sum remaining from the amount withheld shall revert to the undistributed assets of the insurer. Delay in final payment under this subsection shall not be a reason for unreasonable delay of final distribution and discharge of the liquidator.

(4) If several claims founded upon one policy are filed, whether by third parties or as claims by the insured under this section and the aggregate allowed amount of the claims to which the same limit of liability in the policy is applicable exceeds that limit, each claim as allowed shall be reduced in the same proportion so that the total equals the policy limit. Claims by the insured shall be evaluated as in subsection (3). If any insured's claim is subsequently reduced under subsection (3), the amount thus freed shall be apportioned ratably among the claims which have been reduced under this subsection.

(5) No claim may be presented under this section if it is or may be covered by any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association.

Section 39. Disputed claims. (1) When a claim is denied in whole or in part by the liquidator, written notice of the determination shall be given to the claimant or his attorney by first-class mail at the address shown in the proof of claim. Within 60 days from the mailing of the notice, the claimant may file his objections with the liquidator. If no such filing is made, the claimant may not further object to the determination.

(2) Whenever objections are filed with the liquidator and the liquidator does not alter his denial of the claim as a result of the objections, the liquidator shall ask the court for a hearing as soon as practicable and give notice of the hearing by first-class mail to the claimant or his attorney and to any other persons directly affected, not less than 10 or more than 30 days before the date of the hearing. The matter may be heard by the court or by a court-appointed referee who shall submit findings of fact along with his recommendation.

Section 40. Claims of surety. Whenever a creditor whose claim against an insurer is secured, in whole or in part, by the undertaking of another person fails to prove and file that claim, the other person may do so in the creditor's name and shall be subrogated to the rights of the creditor, whether the claim has been filed by the creditor or by the other person in the creditor's name, to the extent that he discharges the undertaking. However, in the absence of an agreement with the creditor to the contrary, the other person shall not be entitled to any distribution until the amount paid to the creditor on the undertaking plus the distributions paid on the claim from the insurer's estate to the creditor equals the amount of the entire claim of the creditor. Any excess received by the creditor shall be held by him in trust for such other person. The term "other person", as used in this section, is not intended to apply to a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association.

Section 41. Secured creditor's claims. (1) The value of any security held by a secured creditor shall be determined in one of the following ways, as the court may direct:

(a) by converting the same into money according to the terms of the agreement pursuant to which the security was delivered to such creditors; or

(b) by agreement, arbitration, compromise, or litigation between the creditor and the liquidator.

(2) The determination shall be under the supervision and control of the court with due regard for the recommendation of the liquidator. The amount so determined shall be credited upon the secured claim, and any deficiency shall be treated as an unsecured claim. If the claimant surrenders his security to the liquidator, the entire claim shall be allowed as if unsecured.

Section 42. Priority of distribution. The priority of distribution of claims from the insurer's estate shall be in accordance with the order in which each class of claims is herein set forth. Every claim in each class shall be paid in full or adequate funds retained for such payment before the members of the next class receive any payment. No subclasses shall be established within any class. The order of distribution of claims shall be as follows:

(1) Class 1—the costs and expenses of administration, including but not limited to the following:

(a) the actual and necessary costs of preserving or recovering the assets of the insurer;

(b) compensation for all services rendered in the liquidation;

(c) any necessary filing fees;

(d) the fees and mileage payable to witnesses;

(e) reasonable attorney's fees;

(f) the reasonable expenses of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association in handling claims.

(2) Class 2—debts due to employees for services performed to the extent that they do not exceed $1,000 and represent payment for services performed within 1 year before the filing of the petition for liquidation. Officers and directors are not entitled to the benefit of this priority. Such priority is in lieu of any other similar priority which may be authorized by law as to wages or compensation of employees.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 909 1979

(3) Class 3—all claims under policies for losses incurred, including third-party claims, all claims against the insurer for liability for bodily injury or for injury to or destruction of tangible property which are not under policies, and all claims of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association. All claims under life insurance and annuity policies, whether for death proceeds, annuity proceeds, or investment values shall be treated as loss claims. That portion of any loss, indemnification for which is provided by other benefits or advantages recovered by the claimant, shall not be included in this class, other than benefits or advantages recovered or recoverable in discharge of familial obligations of support or by way of succession at death or as proceeds of life insurance, or as gratuities. No payment by an employer to his employee may be treated as a gratuity.

(4) Class 4—claims under nonassessable policies for unearned premium or other premium refunds and claims of general creditors.

(5) Class 5—claims of the federal or any state or local government. Claims, including those of any governmental body for a penalty or forfeiture, shall be allowed in this class only to the extent of the pecuniary loss sustained from the act, transaction, or proceeding out of which the penalty or forfeiture arose, with reasonable and actual costs occasioned thereby. The remainder of such claims shall be postponed to the class of claims under subsection (8).

(6) Class 6—claims filed late or any other claims other than claims under subsections (7) and (8).

(7) Class 7—surplus or contribution notes, or similar obligations, and premium refunds on assessable policies. Payments to members of domestic mutual insurance companies shall be limited in accordance with law.

(8) Class 8—the claims of shareholders or other owners.

Section 43. Liquidator's recommendations to the court. (1) The liquidator shall review all claims duly filed in the liquidation and make such further investigation as he considers necessary. He may compound, compromise, or in any other manner negotiate the amount for which claims will be recommended to the court except where the liquidator is required by law to accept claims as settled by any person or organization, including any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association. Unresolved disputes shall be determined under [section 39]. As soon as practicable, he shall present to the court a report of the claims against the insurer with his recommendations. The report shall include the name and address of each claimant and the amount of the claim finally recommended, if any. If the insurer has issued annuities or life insurance policies, the liquidator shall report the persons to whom, according to the records of the insurer, amounts are owed as cash surrender values or other investment value and the amounts owed.

(2) The court may approve, disapprove, or modify the report on claims by the liquidator. Reports not modified by the court within a period of 60 days following submission by the liquidator shall be treated by the liquidator as allowed claims, subject to later modification or to rulings made by the court pursuant to [section 39]. No claim under a policy of insurance shall be allowed for an amount in excess of the applicable policy limits.

Section 44. Distribution of assets. Under the direction of the court, the liquidator shall pay distributions in a manner that will assure the proper recognition of priorities and a reasonable balance between the expeditious completion of the liquidation and the protection of unliquidated and undetermined claims, including third-party claims. Distribution of assets in kind may be made at valuations set by agreement between the liquidator and the creditor and approved by the court.

Section 45. Unclaimed and withheld funds. (1) All unclaimed funds subject to distribution remaining in the liquidator's hands when he is ready to apply to the court for discharge, including the amount distributable to any creditor, shareholder, member, or other person who is unknown or cannot be found, shall be deposited with the state treasurer and shall be paid without interest except in accordance with [section 42] to the person entitled thereto or his legal representative upon proof satisfactory to the state treasurer of his right thereto. Any amount on deposit not claimed within 6 years from the discharge of the liquidator shall be considered to have been abandoned and shall be escheated without formal escheat proceedings and be deposited in the general fund.

(2) All funds withheld under [section 37] and not distributed shall upon discharge of the liquidator be deposited with the state treasurer and paid by him in accordance with [section 42]. Any sums remaining which under [section 42] would revert to the undistributed assets of the insurer shall be transferred to the state treasurer and become the property of the state under subsection (1), unless the commissioner in his discretion petitions the court to reopen the liquidation under [section 47].

Section 46. Termination of proceedings. (1) When all assets justifying the expense of collection and distribution have been collected and distributed under [this act], the liquidator shall apply to the court for discharge. The court may grant the discharge and make any other orders, including an order to transfer any remaining funds that are uneconomic to distribute, as may be considered appropriate.

(2) Any other person may apply to the court at any time for an order under subsection (1). If the application is denied, the applicant shall pay the costs and expenses of the liquidator in resisting the application, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

Section 47. Reopening liquidation. After the liquidation proceeding has been terminated and the liquidator discharged, the commissioner or other interested party may at any time petition the district court to reopen the proceedings for good cause, including the discovery of additional assets. If the court is satisfied that there is justification for reopening, it shall so order.

Section 48. Disposition of records during and after termination of liquidation. When it appears to the commissioner that the records of any insurer in process of liquidation or completely liquidated are no longer useful, he may recommend to the court and the court shall direct what records should be retained for future reference and what should be destroyed.

Section 49. External audit of the receiver's books. The district court may, as it considers desirable, cause audits to be made of the books of the commissioner relating to any receivership established under [this act], and a report of each audit shall be filed with the commissioner and with the court. The books, records, and other documents of the receivership shall be made available to the auditor at any time without notice. The expense of each audit shall be considered a cost of administration of the receivership.

Section 50. Conservation of property of foreign or alien insurers. (1) If a domiciliary liquidator has not been appointed, the commissioner may apply to the district court by verified petition for an order directing him to act as conservator to conserve the property of an alien insurer not domiciled in this state or a foreign insurer on any one or more of the following grounds:

(a) any of the grounds in [section 12];

(b) that any of its property has been sequestered by official action in its domiciliary state or in any other state;

(c) that enough of its property has been sequestered in a foreign country to give reasonable cause to fear that the insurer is or may become insolvent;

(d) that its certificate of authority to do business in this state has been revoked or that none was ever issued;

(e) that there are residents of this state with outstanding claims or outstanding policies.

(2) When an order is sought under subsection (1), the court shall cause the insurer to be given such notice and time to respond thereto as is reasonable under the circumstances.

(3) The court may issue the order in whatever terms it considers appropriate. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court or the clerk and recorder of the county in which the principal business of the company is located or the county in which its principal office or place of business is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that clerk and recorder would have imparted.

(4) The conservator may at any time petition for and the court may grant an order under [section 51] to liquidate assets of a foreign or alien insurer under conservation or, if appropriate, for an order under [section 53], to be appointed ancillary receiver.

(5) The conservator may at any time petition the court for an order terminating conservation of an insurer. If the court finds that the conservation is no longer necessary, it shall order the insurer to be restored to possession of its property and the control of its business. The court may also make such finding and issue such order at any time upon motion of any interested party, but if such motion is denied, all costs shall be assessed against such party.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 912 1979

Section 51. Liquidation of property of foreign or alien insurers. (1) If no domiciliary receiver has been appointed, the commissioner may apply to the district court by verified petition for an order directing him to liquidate the assets found in this state of a foreign insurer or an alien insurer not domiciled in this state, on any of the following grounds:

(a) any of the grounds in [section 12 or 17]; or

(b) any of the grounds specified in subsections (1)(b) through (1)(d) of [section 50].

(2) When an order is sought under subsection (1), the court shall cause the insurer to be given notice and time to respond thereto as reasonable under the circumstances.

(3) If it appears to the court that the best interests of creditors, policyholders, and the public require, the court may issue an order to liquidate in whatever terms it considers appropriate. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court or the clerk and recorder of the county in which the principal business of the company is located or the county in which its principal office or place of business is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that clerk and recorder would have imparted.

(4) If a domiciliary liquidator is appointed in a reciprocal state while a liquidation is proceeding under this section, the liquidator under this section shall thereafter act as ancillary receiver under [section 53]. If a domiciliary liquidator is appointed in a nonreciprocal state while a liquidation is proceeding under this section, the liquidator under this section may petition the court for permission to act as ancillary receiver under [section 53].

(5) On the same grounds as specified in subsection (1), the commissioner may petition any appropriate federal district court to be appointed receiver to liquidate that portion of the insurer's assets and business over which the court will exercise jurisdiction or any lesser part thereof that the commissioner considers desirable for the protection of the policyholders and creditors in this state.

(6) The court may order the commissioner, when he has liquidated the assets of a foreign or alien insurer under this section, to pay claims of residents of this state against the insurer under such rules as to the liquidation of insurers under [this act] as are otherwise compatible with the provisions of this section.

Section 52. Domiciliary liquidators in other states. (1) The domiciliary liquidator of an insurer domiciled in a reciprocal state shall, except as to special deposits and security on secured claims under [section 53(3)], be vested by operation of law with the title to all of the assets, property, contracts, and rights of action, agents' balances, and all of the books, accounts, and other records of the insurer located in this state. The date of vesting shall be the date of the filing of the petition, if that date is specified by the domiciliary law for the vesting of property in the domiciliary state. Otherwise, the date of vesting shall be the date of entry of the order directing possession to be taken. The domiciliary liquidator has the immediate right to recover balances due from agents and to obtain possession of the books, accounts, and other records of the insurer located in this state. He also has the right to recover all other assets of the insurer located in this state, subject to [section 53].

(2) If a domiciliary liquidator is appointed for an insurer not domiciled in a reciprocal state, the commissioner of this state is vested by operation of law with the title to all of the property, contracts, and rights of action and all of the books, accounts, and other records of the insurer located in this state, at the same time that the domiciliary liquidator is vested with title in the domicile. The commissioner of this state may petition for a conservation or liquidation order under [section 50 or 51] or for an ancillary receivership under [section 53] or after approval by the district court may transfer title to the domiciliary liquidator, as the interests of justice and the equitable distribution of the assets require.

(3) Claimants residing in this state may file claims with the liquidator or ancillary receiver, if any, in this state or with the domiciliary liquidator, if the domiciliary law permits. The claims must be filed on or before the last date fixed for the filing of claims in the domiciliary liquidation proceedings.

Section 53. Ancillary formal proceedings. (1) If a domiciliary liquidator has been appointed for an insurer not domiciled in this state, the commissioner may file a petition with the district court requesting appointment as ancillary receiver in this state:

(a) if he finds that there are sufficient assets of the insurer located in this state to justify the appointment of an ancillary receiver;

(b) if the protection of creditors or policyholders in this state so requires.

(2) The court may issue an order appointing an ancillary receiver in whatever terms it considers appropriate. The filing or recording of the order with the recorder of deeds in this state imparts the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that recorder of deeds.

(3) When a domiciliary liquidator has been appointed in a reciprocal state, then the ancillary receiver appointed in this state may, whenever necessary, aid and assist the domiciliary liquidator in recovering assets of the insurer located in this state. The ancillary receiver shall, as soon as practicable, liquidate from their respective securities those special deposit claims and secured claims which are proved and allowed in the ancillary proceedings in this state and shall pay the necessary expenses of the proceedings. He shall promptly transfer all remaining assets, books, accounts, and records to the domiciliary liquidator. Subject to this section, the ancillary receiver and his deputies shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties with respect to the administration of assets as a liquidator of an insurer domiciled in this state.

(4) When a domiciliary liquidator has been appointed in this state, ancillary receivers appointed in reciprocal states shall have, as to assets and books, accounts, and other records in their respective states, corresponding rights, duties, and powers to those provided in subsection (3) for ancillary receivers appointed in this state.

Section 54. Ancillary summary proceedings. The commissioner in his sole discretion may institute proceedings under [sections 9 through 11] at the request of the commissioner or other appropriate insurance official of the domiciliary state of any foreign or alien insurer having property located in this state.

Section 55. Claims of nonresidents against insurers domiciled in this state. (1) In a liquidation proceeding begun in this state against an insurer domiciled in this state, claimants residing in foreign countries or in states not reciprocal states must file claims in this state, and claimants residing in reciprocal states may file claims either with the ancillary receivers, if any, in their respective states, or with the domiciliary liquidator. Claims must be filed on or before the last date fixed for the filing of claims in the domiciliary liquidation proceeding.

(2) Claims belonging to claimants residing in reciprocal states may be proved either in the liquidation proceeding in this state as provided in [this act] or in ancillary proceedings, if any, in the reciprocal states. If notice of the claims and opportunity to appear and be heard is afforded the domiciliary liquidator of this state as provided in [section 56(2)] with respect to ancillary proceedings, the final allowance of claims by the courts in ancillary proceedings in reciprocal states is conclusive as to amount and as to priority against special deposits or other security located in such ancillary states but is not conclusive with respect to priorities against general assets under [section 42].

Section 56. Claims of residents against insurers domiciled in reciprocal states. (1) In a liquidation proceeding in a reciprocal state against an insurer domiciled in that state, claimants against the insurer who reside within this state may file claims either with the ancillary receiver, if any, in this state or with the domiciliary liquidator. Claims must be filed on or before the last dates fixed for the filing of claims in the domiciliary liquidation proceeding.

(2) Claims belonging to claimants residing in this state may be proved either in the domiciliary state under the law of that state or in ancillary proceedings, if any, in this state. If a claimant elects to prove his claim in this state, he shall file his claim with the liquidator in the manner provided in [sections 35 and 36]. The ancillary receiver shall make his recommendation to the court as under [section 43]. He shall also arrange a date for hearing if necessary under [section 39] and shall give notice to the liquidator in the domiciliary state, either by certified mail or by personal service at least 40 days prior to the date set for hearing. If the domiciliary liquidator, within 30 days after the giving of such notice, gives notice in writing to the ancillary receiver and to the claimant, either by certified mail or by personal service, of his intention to contest the claim, he shall be entitled to appear or to be represented in any proceeding in this state involving the adjudication of the claim.

(3) The final allowance of the claim by the courts of this state shall be accepted as conclusive as to amount and as to priority against special deposits or other security located in this state.

Section 57. Attachment, garnishment, and levy of execution. During the pendency in this or any other state of a liquidation proceeding, whether called by that name or not, no action or proceeding in the nature of an attachment, garnishment, or levy of execution may be commenced or maintained in this state against the delinquent insurer or its assets.

Section 58. Interstate priorities. (1) In a liquidation proceeding in this state involving one or more reciprocal states, the order of distribution of the domiciliary state shall control as to all claims of residents of this and reciprocal states. All claims of residents of reciprocal states shall be given equal priority of payment from general assets regardless of where such assets are located.

(2) The owners of special deposit claims against an insurer for which a liquidator is appointed in this or any other state is given priority against the special deposits in accordance with the statutes governing the creation and maintenance of the deposits. If there is a deficiency in any deposit so that the claims secured by it are not fully discharged from it, the claimants may share in the general assets, but the sharing shall be deferred until general creditors, and also claimants against other special deposits who have received smaller percentages from their respective special deposits, have been paid percentages of their claims equal to the percentage paid from the special deposit.

(3) The owner of a secured claim against an insurer for which a liquidator has been appointed in this or any other state may surrender his security and file his claim as a general creditor, or the claim may be discharged by resort to the security in accordance with [section 41], in which case the deficiency, if any, shall be treated as a claim against the general assets of the insurer on the same basis as claims of unsecured creditors.

(2) This section applies but is not limited to any action and defense in which the issue is raised whether a voted debt or liability has carried by the required majority vote of the electors qualified and offering to vote thereon."

"20-9-163. Resolution for emergency budget — petition to superintendent of public instruction or to the board of regents.

(1) Whenever the trustees of any district decide that an emergency exists, they may adopt a resolution proclaiming such emergency by a unanimous vote of all members present at any meeting for which each trustee has been given reasonable notice of the time and place of holding such meeting. The result shall be the enrollment increase for the current school fiscal year.

(d) Multiply the cost per pupil determined in subsection (2)(b) by the enrollment increase determined in subsection (2)(c). The result shall be the maximum limitation on an emergency budget for emergencies due to an increase of enrollment.

(e) In the case of a community college district, by budget amendment in accordance with 20-15-302.

(3) In the event of any other type of emergency, the budget shall be limited by those expenditures deemed by the trustees to be reasonable and necessary to finance the stated conditions of the emergency and the preliminary emergency budget shall be accompanied with the details of the proposed expenditures.

(4) Whenever the trustees adopt a preliminary emergency budget for the transportation fund, the trustees shall attach to such budget a copy of each transportation contract which is connected with the emergency and which has been prepared and executed in accordance with the school transportation contract laws.

(5) After the trustees have adopted the emergency budget by a majority vote of the trustees, it shall be signed by the chairman of the trustees and the clerk of the district and copies shall be sent to the county superintendent, the county treasurer, and the superintendent of public instruction. In the case of a community college district, copies of the emergency budget shall be sent to the county superintendent, the county treasurer, and the board of regents." employer's payroll of such magnitude that his actual quarterly and annual payroll caused by such a decrease when used with other annual and quarterly payroll decreases, if any, in his qualifying period would cause an increase in such employer's contribution rate. An employer's adjusted quarterly payroll for that quarter in which such stoppage of work existed shall be determined by multiplying each such payroll or adjusted payroll for the quarter immediately preceding the quarter in which such stoppage of work existed by the average quarterly variation ratio. The average quarterly variation ratio shall be computed by:

(a) dividing the payroll or, if adjusted, the adjusted payroll for that quarter in each of the prior years of an employer's qualifying period which corresponds to the respective quarter in which a stoppage of work due to a strike existed by the payroll or adjusted payroll for the respective quarter immediately preceding such corresponding quarter; and

(2) In determining whether or not any work is suitable for an individual, the division shall consider the degree of risk involved to his health, safety, and morals, his physical fitness and prior training, his experience and previous earnings, his length of unemployment and prospects for securing local work in his customary occupation, and the distance of the available work from his residence.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, no work may be considered suitable and benefits may not be denied under this chapter to any otherwise eligible individual for refusing to accept new work under any of the following conditions:

(a) if the position offered is vacant due directly to a strike, lockout, or other labor dispute;

(b) if the wages, hours, or other conditions of the work offered are substantially less favorable to the individual than those prevailing for similar work in the locality;

Every employee whose employer is bound by the Workers' Compensation Act is subject to and bound by the compensation plan that has been elected by the employer.

"39-71-411. Provisions of chapter exclusive remedy — nonliability of insured employer. For all employments covered under the Workers' Compensation Act or for which an election has been made for coverage under this chapter, the provisions of this chapter are exclusive. Except as provided in part 5 of this chapter for uninsured employers and except as otherwise provided in the Workers' Compensation Act, an employer is not subject to any liability whatever for the death of or personal injury to an employee covered by the Workers' Compensation Act. The Workers' Compensation Act binds the employee himself, and in case of death binds his personal representative and all persons having any right or claim to compensation for his injury or death, as well as the employer and the servants and employees of such employer and those conducting his business during liquidation, bankruptcy, or insolvency."

Notwithstanding the provisions of 39-71-407, 39-71-502, and 39-71-503, injured employees or an employee's beneficiaries who elect to receive benefits from the uninsured employers' fund are not granted an entitlement by this state for full workers' compensation benefits from the fund. Benefits from the fund must be paid in accordance with the sums in the fund. If the division determines at any time that the sums in the fund are not adequate to fully pay all claims, the division may make appropriate proportionate reductions in benefits to all claimants. The reductions do not entitle claimants to retroactive reimbursements in the future."

Section 65. Section 39-71-602, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-602. Statute of limitation not to apply during minority or mental incompetency unless guardian appointed. However, actual knowledge of such accident and injury on the part of such employer or his managing agent or superintendent in charge of the work upon which the injured employee was engaged at the time of the injury is equivalent to such service."

Section 67. Section 39-71-721, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-721. Compensation for injury causing death. (1) If an injured employee dies and the injury was the proximate cause of such death, then the beneficiary of the deceased, as the case may be, is entitled to the same compensation as though the death occurred immediately following the injury, but the period during which the death benefit is paid shall be reduced by the period during or for which compensation was paid for the injury.

(2) To beneficiaries as defined in subsections (2)(a) through (2)(d) of 39-71-116, weekly compensation benefits for injury causing death are computed at 66 ⅔% of the decedent's wages. The maximum weekly compensation benefits may not exceed the state's average weekly wage. The minimum weekly compensation for death is 50% of the state's average weekly wage, but in no event may it exceed the decedent's actual wages at the time of his death.

(3) To beneficiaries as defined in subsections (2)(e) and (2)(f) of 39-71-116, weekly benefits must be paid to the extent of the dependency

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 984 1979

(4) If the decedent leaves no beneficiary as defined in 39-71-116(2), a lump-sum payment of $3,000 must be paid to the decedent's surviving parent or parents.

(5) If any beneficiary of a deceased employee dies, the right of such beneficiary to compensation under this chapter ceases. Death benefits must be paid to a widow or widower for life or until remarriage, and in the event of remarriage, 2 years' benefits must be paid in a lump sum to the widow or widower.

(6) In all cases, benefits must be paid to beneficiaries, as defined in 39-71-116(2)."

Section 68. Section 39-71-738, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-738. Adjustment of compensation in case of further injuries. Section 70. Section 39-71-801, MCA, is amended to read:

Section 71. Section 39-71-807, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-807. Compensation for wage loss where employee transferred due to occupational deafness. An employee who because of occupational deafness is transferred by his employer to other employment and thereby sustains actual wage loss must be compensated at the rate provided in 39-71-703, not exceeding $3,500 in the aggregate from all employers. "Time of injury", "incurred such injury", or "date of injury" in such case is the date of wage loss."

Section 72. Section 39-71-813, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-813. Limitation provisions applicable — when provisions begin to run. The limitation provisions in this chapter control

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 985 1979

The assessment must be transmitted annually to the subsequent injury fund by the employer or insurer.

Section 81. Section 39-71-2101, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-2101. General requirements for electing coverage under plan. An employer may elect to be bound by compensation plan No. 1 upon furnishing satisfactory proof to the division of his solvency and financial ability to pay the compensation and benefits in this chapter provided for and to discharge all liabilities which are reasonably likely to be incurred by him during the fiscal year for which such election is effective, and may, by order of the division, make such payments directly to his employees as they may become entitled to receive under the terms and conditions of this chapter."

Section 82. Section 39-71-2201, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-2201. Election to be bound by plan. (1) Any employer except those specified in 39-71-403 may, by filing his election to become bound by compensation plan No. 2, insure his liability to pay the compensation and benefits provided by this chapter with any insurance company authorized to transact such business in this state.

(2) Any employer electing to become bound by compensation plan No. 2 shall make his election on the form and in the manner prescribed by the division."

Section 83. Section 39-71-2206, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-2206. Deposits by insurer with division to guarantee payment of liability. (1) Before issuance of any policy by an insurer as herein authorized, the insurer must deposit with the division bonds of the United States or the state of Montana or of any school district, county, city, or town in the state of Montana or a corporate surety bond made out to and approved by the division in an amount not less than $5,000 or more than $100,000, as the division may determine. If any insurer fails to discharge any liability after the amount thereof is determined by the division and within the time limited by the division, the division shall convert the bonds or such part thereof as is necessary into cash and from the proceeds liquidate such liability, and thereafter the insurer must make an additional deposit to meet any deficiency caused thereby. It is intended to give the division the discretion in the matter of whether an insurer has failed to discharge any liability.

(2) Within 30 days of the happening of an accident where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain or reasonably certain, the insurer shall make a deposit, as herein defined, with the division for the protection and guarantee of the payment of such liability in such sum as the division may direct. However, if the division considers the amount on deposit by the insurer under the provisions of subsection (1) of this section sufficient to cover all liabilities of the insurer, then no further deposit may be required.

(3) Any deposit made under the provisions of compensation plan No. 2 must be held in trust by the division as security for the payment of the liability for which the deposit was made. Such deposit may be reduced from time to time with the permission of the division as the payment of the liability of the insurer may reduce the amount required to be on deposit. Such deposit may be changed or renewed when desired by the depositor by withdrawing the same or any part thereof and substituting other deposits therefor. Upon proof of the final payment of the liability for which such deposit was made, any deposit remaining must be returned to the depositor. All earnings made by such deposit must first be applied upon any liability of the depositors, and if no such liability exists, then such earnings must upon demand be delivered to such depositor. The division and its bondsmen are liable for the value and safekeeping of such deposit and shall at any time, upon demand of a depositor, account for the same and the earnings thereof."

Section 84. Section 39-72-101, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-101. Short title. This chapter may be cited as the "Occupational Disease Act of Montana"."

Section 85. Section 39-72-102, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-102. Definitions. As used in this chapter, unless the context requires otherwise, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Beneficiary" is as defined in 39-71-116(2).

(2) "Child" is as defined in 39-71-116(4).

(3) "Disablement" means the event of becoming physically incapacitated by reason of an occupational disease from performing any work for remuneration or profit. Silicosis, when complicated by active pulmonary tuberculosis, is presumed to be total disablement. "Disability", "total disability", and "totally disabled" are synonymous with "disablement", but they have no reference to "partial permanent disability".

(4) "Division" is as defined in 39-71-116(5).

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 989 1979

(5) "Employee" is as defined in 39-71-118.

(6) "Employer" is as defined in 39-71-117.

(7) "Husband" is as defined in 39-71-116(7).

(8) "Independent contractor" is as defined in 39-71-120.

(9) "Insurer" is as defined in 39-71-116(8). The term includes an employer who is self-insured under compensation plan No. 1.

(10) "Invalid" is as defined in 39-71-116(9).

(11) "Occupational disease" means all diseases arising out of or contracted from and in the course of employment.

(12) "Order" is as defined in 39-71-116(10).

(13) "Pneumoconiosis" means a chronic dust disease of the lungs arising out of employment in coal mines and includes anthracosis, coal workers' pneumoconiosis, silicosis, or anthracosilicosis arising out of such employment.

(14) "Silicosis" means a chronic disease of the lungs caused by the prolonged inhalation of silicon dioxide (SiO_2) and characterized by small discrete nodules of fibrous tissue similarly disseminated throughout both lungs causing the characteristic x-ray pattern and by other variable clinical manifestations.

(15) "Wages" is as defined in 39-71-116(20).

(16) "Wife" is as defined in 39-71-116(21).

Section 86. Section 39-72-307, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-307. Deduction from wages of any part of premium a misdemeanor — hospital contributions not prohibited. It is unlawful for the employer to deduct or obtain any part of any premium required to be paid by this chapter from the wages or earnings of his workers, or any of them, and the making or attempt to make any such deduction is a misdemeanor, except that nothing in this section may be construed as prohibiting contributions by employees to a hospital fund, as elsewhere in this chapter provided."

Section 87. Section 39-72-508, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-508. Death due to pneumoconiosis. The claimant must submit the evidence necessary to establish that the miner's death was due to pneumoconiosis and that the pneumoconiosis arose out of employment in coal mines. Death will be found due to a respiratory disease when death is ascribed to a chronic dust disease or to another chronic disease of the lung. Death will not be found due to a respiratory disease in those cases in which the disease reported does not suggest a reasonable possibility that death was in fact due to pneumoconiosis; e.g., cancer of the lung, disease due to trauma, or pulmonary emboli. However, the presumptions established in subsections (2) and (3) of 39-72-501 apply."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 990 1979

Section 88. Section 39-72-701, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-701. Compensation for total disability or death due to occupational disease other than pneumoconiosis. The compensation to which an employee temporarily totally disabled or permanently totally disabled by an occupational disease other than pneumoconiosis, or the beneficiaries and dependents of the employee in the case of death caused by an occupational disease other than pneumoconiosis, are entitled under this chapter shall be the same payments which are payable to an injured employee, and such payments shall be made for the same period of time as is provided in cases of temporary total disability, permanent total disability, and in cases of injuries causing death under the Workers' Compensation Act."

Section 89. Section 39-72-702, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-702. Compensation for total disability or death due to pneumoconiosis. Benefit payments for total disability or death due to pneumoconiosis shall, for the purpose of this chapter, be made as follows:

(1) In the case of total disability of a miner due to pneumoconiosis, the disabled miner shall be paid benefits during the disability at the rate of $155 per month.

(2) In the case of death of a miner due to pneumoconiosis or of a miner receiving benefits under subsection (1), benefits shall be paid to the miner's surviving spouse, if any, at the rate the deceased miner would receive such benefits if totally disabled.

(3) In the case of an individual entitled to benefit payments under subsection (1) or (2) who has one or more dependents, the benefit payments must be increased at the rate of 50% of such benefit payments if such individual has one dependent, 75% if such individual has two dependents, and 100% if such individual has three or more dependents."

Section 90. Section 39-72-708, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-72-708. Prohibiting supplementing of benefits. No person receiving compensation or benefits under chapter 73 of this title is entitled to compensation or benefits under this chapter."

Section 91. Section 39-73-109, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-73-109. Payment of benefits to surviving spouse. (1) Upon the death of a person receiving payments for silicosis under 39-73-104 or 39-73-108, the surviving spouse, as long as such spouse remains unmarried, is entitled to receive the payments granted the deceased spouse.

(1) when it shall appear that the applicant is entitled to the relief demanded and such relief or any part thereof consists in restraining the commission or continuance of the act complained of, either for a limited period or perpetually;

(2) when it shall appear that the commission or continuance of some act during the litigation would produce a great or irreparable injury to the applicant;

(3) when it shall appear during the litigation that the adverse party is doing or threatens or is about to do or is procuring or suffering to be done some act in violation of the applicant's rights, respecting the subject of the action, and tending to render the judgment ineffectual;

(4) when it appears that the adverse party, during the pendency of the action, threatens or is about to remove or to dispose of his property with intent to defraud the applicant, an injunction order may be granted to restrain the removal or disposition."

Section 2. Section 27-19-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-301. When notice of application required. No preliminary injunction may be issued without reasonable notice to the adverse party of the time and place of the making of the application therefor."

Section 3. When hearing on application required. Before granting an injunction order, the court or judge shall make an order requiring cause to be shown, at a specified time and place, why the injunction should not be granted, and the adverse party may in the meantime be restrained as provided in 27-19-305.

Section 4. Section 27-19-303, MCA, is amended to read:

"28-19-303. Time of granting injunction, evidence required. The injunction order may be granted after the hearing at any time before judgment. Upon the hearing each party may present affidavits or oral testimony. An injunction order shall not be granted on affidavits unless:

(1) they are duly verified;

(2) the material allegations of the affidavits setting forth the grounds for the order be made positively and not upon information and belief."

Section 5. Section 27-19-305, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-305. Temporary restraining order. Where an application for an injunction is made upon notice or an order to show cause, either before or after answer, the court or judge may enjoin the adverse party, until the hearing and decision of the application, by an order which is called a temporary restraining order."

Section 6. Form and scope of injunction or restraining order. An order granting an injunction or a restraining order shall:

(1) set forth the reasons for its issuance;

(2) be specific in its terms;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 993 1979

(4) be binding only upon the parties to the action; their officers, agents, employees, and attorneys; and those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive actual notice of the order by personal service or otherwise.

Section 7. When restraining order may be granted without notice. A temporary restraining order may be granted without written or oral notice to the adverse party or his attorney only if:

(1) it clearly appears from specific facts shown by affidavit or by the verified complaint that a delay would cause immediate and irreparable injury to the applicant before the adverse party or his attorney could be heard in opposition; and

(2) the applicant's attorney certifies to the court in writing the efforts, if any, which have been made to give notice and the reasons supporting his claim that notice should not be required.

Section 8. Section 27-19-306, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-306. Security for damages. (1) On granting an injunction or restraining order, the court or judge shall require a written undertaking to be given by the applicant, in such sum as the court considers proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who is found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained. The undertaking may not be required in domestic disputes or when the state or a state agency, a county or subdivision thereof, or a municipal corporation is the party seeking the injunction or restraining order. In any case, the court in its discretion may waive the undertaking in the interest of justice.

(2) Within 5 days after the service of the injunction, the party enjoined may except to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fails to do so, he is deemed to have waived all objections to them. When excepted to, the applicant's sureties, upon notice to the party enjoined of not less than 2 or more than 5 days, must justify before a judge or clerk in the same manner as upon bail on arrest, and upon failure to justify or if others in their place fail to justify at the time and place appointed, the order granting an injunction shall be dissolved."

Section 9. Contents and filing of restraining order granted without notice. Each temporary restraining order granted without notice must:

(1) be indorsed with the date and hour of its issuance;

(2) be filed immediately in the clerk's office and entered in the record;

(3) define the injury and state why such injury is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice; and

(4) expire by its terms within such time after entry, not to exceed 10 days, as the court or judge fixes.

Section 10. Extension of expiration date. The time fixed in the order for its expiration may be extended, for good cause shown, for a like period or, if the party against whom the order is directed consents, for a longer period. The reasons for the extension must be entered in the record.

Section 11. Application for injunction to be heard without delay. Whenever a temporary restraining order is granted without notice, the application for an injunction must be set for hearing at the earliest possible time and takes precedence over all matters except older matters of the same character. At the hearing the party who obtained the temporary restraining order shall proceed with the application for an injunction, or if he does not do so, the court or judge shall dissolve the temporary restraining order.

Section 12. Motion to dissolve or modify restraining order. On 2 days' notice to the party who obtained the temporary restraining order without notice or on such shorter notice as the court or judge may prescribe, the adverse party may appear and move that the order be dissolved or modified. The court shall hear and determine such motion as expeditiously as the ends of justice require.

Section 13. Section 27-19-313, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-313. New undertaking for security following hearing. On a hearing to show cause, the court or judge may require a new undertaking, in the same or a different sum, to be given by the party who obtained the order, with like sureties and to the like effect as upon granting of the original order. The persons executing the new undertaking become liable thereon as if they had executed it upon the granting of the original order. The persons who executed the original undertaking remain liable thereon until the new undertaking is given and approved, and no longer."

Section 14. Section 27-19-401, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-401. Application to dissolve or modify injunction. The party enjoined may apply to the judge who granted the injunction order or to the court in which the action is brought to dissolve or modify the same. The application may be made upon reasonable notice or upon an order to show cause returnable at a specified time or immediately after service thereof. The application must be supported by an affidavit showing that there is not sufficient ground for the injunction to continue or that the scope of the injunction is too broad."

Section 15. Section 27-19-403, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-403. New undertaking for security following hearing. Upon the hearing of an application to vacate or modify an injunction order, the court or judge may require a new undertaking, in the same or a different sum, to be given by the party who obtained the order, with like sureties and to the like effect as upon granting of the original order. The persons executing the new undertaking become liable thereon as if they had executed it upon the granting of the original order. The persons who executed the original undertaking remain liable thereon until the new undertaking is given and approved, and no longer."

Section 16. Section 27-19-405, MCA, is amended to read:

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 995 1979

"27-19-405. Enjoined party's undertaking for security upon dissolution. Upon the hearing mentioned in 27-19-403, the court or judge may vacate the injunction order upon the enjoined party's executing an undertaking in such form and amount and with such sureties as the court or judge shall direct, conditioned to indemnify the party who obtained the injunction order against loss sustained by reason of vacating such injunction order."

Section 17. Section 27-19-406, MCA, is amended to read:

"27-19-406. Costs upon dissolution. Where an injunction order is granted and the same is afterward dissolved upon application of the party enjoined thereby, the court or judge to whom the application to dissolve is made may award as costs of the application, against the party who obtained the injunction and in favor of the party applying, such sum as to the court or judge may appear just, not less than $10 or more than $100."

Section 18. Repealer. Sections 27-19-302, 27-19-304, 27-19-311, and 27-19-402, MCA, are repealed.

"13-27-201. Form of petition generally. (1) A petition for the initiative, the referendum, or to call a constitutional convention must be substantially in the form provided by this chapter. Clerical or technical errors that do not interfere with the ability to judge the sufficiency of signatures on the petition do not render a petition void.

(2) Petition sheets may not exceed 8 ½ x 14 inches in size. Separate sheets of a petition may be fastened in sections of not more than 25 sheets. Near the top of each sheet containing signature lines must be printed the title of the statute or constitutional amendment proposed or the measure to be referred or a statement that the petition is for the purpose of calling a constitutional convention. If signature lines are printed on both the front and back of a petition sheet, the information required above must appear on both the front and back of the sheet. The complete text of the measure proposed or referred must be attached to or contained within each signature sheet if sheets are circulated separately. The text of the measure must be in the bill form provided in the most recent issue of the bill drafting manual furnished by the legislative council. If sheets are circulated in sections, the complete text of the measure must be attached to each section."

Section 2. Section 13-27-202, MCA, is amended to read:

"13-27-202. Approval of form required. (1) Before a petition may be circulated for signatures, a sample sheet must be submitted to the secretary of state in the form in which it will be circulated. The sample petition may not be submitted to the secretary of state more than 1 year prior to the final date for filing the signed petition with the secretary of state. The secretary of state shall refer a copy of the petition sheet to the attorney general for his approval. The secretary of state and attorney general must each review the petition for sufficiency as to form and approve or reject the form of the petition, stating the reasons for rejection, if any.

(2) The secretary of state shall review the comments and statements of the attorney general received pursuant to 13-27-312 and make a final decision as to the approval or rejection of the form of the petition. The secretary of state shall send written notice to the person who submitted the petition sheet of the approval within 28 days after submission of the petition sheet. The secretary of state shall send written notice if the petition has been rejected together with reasons for rejection within 14 days after submission of the petition sheet."

Section 3. Section 13-27-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"13-27-301. Submission of petition sheets. Signed sheets or sections of petitions shall be submitted to the official responsible for registration of electors in the county in which the signatures were obtained no sooner than 9 months and no later than 2 weeks before the final date for filing the petition with the secretary of state."

Section 4. Section 13-27-303, MCA, is amended to read:

"13-27-303. Verification of signatures by county official. The county official receiving the sheets or sections of a petition shall check the names of all signers to verify they are registered electors of the county. In addition, the official shall randomly select signatures on each sheet or section and compare them with the signatures of the electors as they appear in the registration records of the office. If all the randomly selected signatures appear to be genuine, the number of signatures of registered electors on the sheet or section may be certified to the secretary of state without further comparison of signatures. If any of the randomly selected signatures do not appear to be genuine, all signatures on that sheet or section must be compared with the signatures in the registration records of the office."

Section 5. Section 13-27-306, MCA, is amended to read:

"13-27-306. Challenge to signatures by elector of county. A registered elector of a county having reason to believe that signatures on a petition that were not among those actually compared with signatures in the registration records of the county are not genuine may file a sworn statement or affirmation of his belief and request for comparison of those signatures he believes are not genuine with the county official certifying the sheet or section of the petition. If any of the challenged signatures are not genuine, the county official must compare all signatures on that sheet or section and issue an amended certificate to the secretary of state, giving the correct number of valid signatures, on or before the deadline, as provided for in 13-27-104, for filing in the office of the secretary of state."

Section 6. Section 13-27-310, MCA, is amended to read:

If the petition form is approved, the attorney general shall prepare and transmit to the secretary of state a concise statement not exceeding 100 words. This statement shall express a true and impartial explanation of the purpose of the proposed ballot issue in plain, easily understood language. The statement may not be an argument and may not be written so as to create prejudice for or against the measure. The statement prepared pursuant to this subsection, unless altered by a court under [section 10], is the petition title for the measure circulated by the petition and the ballot title if the measure is placed on the ballot.*

(2) At the same time the statement of purpose is prepared, the attorney general shall prepare statements of the implication of a vote for or against a ballot issue. The statements of implication may be no more than 25 words each and shall be in simple, impartial language clearly explaining the meaning of a vote for and a vote against the issue. The statements of implication prepared pursuant to this section, unless altered by a court under [section 10], are the statements to be used on the petition and the ballot if the measure is placed on the ballot. The statements of implication shall be placed beside the diagram provided for marking of the ballot in a manner similar to the following example:

☐ FOR extending the right to vote to persons 18 years of age

☐ AGAINST extending the right to vote to persons 18 years of age

If the ballot form is rejected, the attorney general shall approve or reject a new ballot form submitted by the secretary of state pursuant to 13-27-310(3) within 5 days of receiving the new form."

Section 9. Section 13-27-315, MCA, is amended to read:

"13-27-315. Statements by attorney general on issues referred by legislature. (1) At the same time the attorney general, pursuant to 13-27-313, informs the secretary of state of the approval or rejection of a ballot form for an issue proposed by the legislature, the attorney general shall forward to the secretary of state a statement, not exceeding 100 words, expressing a true and impartial explanation of the purpose of the measure in plain, easily understood language. The statement may not be an argument and may not be written to create a prejudice for or against the issue. The statement prepared under this section is known as the attorney general's explanatory statement.

(2) If statements of the implication of a vote for or aganist a ballot issue have not been provided by the legislature, the attorney general shall prepare the statements. Requirements for statements of implication for ballot issues referred by the legislature are the same as those provided in 13-27-312 for other ballot issues. Statements of implication prepared by the attorney general must be returned to the secretary of state no later than the time specified for approval of the ballot form."

Section 10. Court review of attorney general statements. (1) If the proponents of a ballot measure believe that the statement of purpose or the statements of implication of a vote formulated by the attorney general pursuant to 13-27-312 do not satisfy the requirements of 13-27-312, they may, within 10 days of receipt of the notice from the secretary of state provided for in 13-27-202, file an action in the district court in and for the county of Lewis and Clark challenging the adequacy of the statement and requesting the court to alter the statement.

(3) (a) Notice shall be served upon the secretary of state and upon the attorney general. The action takes precedence over other cases and matters in the district court. The court shall examine the proposed measure and the challenged statement and shall as soon as possible render a decision and certify to the secretary of state a statement which the court determines will meet the requirements of 13-27-312.

(b) A statement certified by the court shall be placed on the petition for circulation and on the official ballot.

(4) A copy of the petition in final form must be filed in the office of the secretary of state by the proponents.

A majority of the committee responsible for preparation must approve and sign each argument filed. (2) The secretary of state shall estimate the number of copies necessary to furnish one copy to every voter in each county, except that two or more voters with the same mailing address and the same last name may be counted as one voter. The secretary of state shall provide for an extra supply of the pamphlets in determining the number of voter pamphlets to be ordered in the requisition.

(3) The department of administration shall call for bids and contract with the lowest bidder for the printing and delivery of the voter information pamphlet. The contract shall require completion of printing and shipment, as specified on the delivery list, of the voter information pamphlets by not later than 30 days before the election at which the ballot issues will be voted on by the people.

(4) The county official responsible for voter registration in each county shall mail one copy of the voter information pamphlet to each registered voter in the county, except that two or more voters with the same mailing address and the same last name may be counted as one voter. The mailing shall take place no later than 2 weeks after the pamphlets are received from the printer.

Section 15. Section 13-27-501, MCA, is amended to read:

"13-27-501. Secretary of state to certify ballot form. The secretary of state shall furnish to the official of each county responsible for preparation and printing of the ballots, at the same time as he certifies the names of the persons who are candidates for offices to be filled at the election, a certified copy of the form in which each ballot issue to be voted on by the people at that election is to appear on the ballot. Unless otherwise provided in the legislative act or petition placing the issue on the ballot, the secretary of state shall list for each issue the number, the method of placement on the ballot, the title, the attorney general's explanatory statement, if applicable, and the statements of the implication of a vote for or against the issue that are to be placed beside the diagram for marking the ballot. The secretary of state shall use for each ballot issue the title of the legislative act or legislative constitutional proposal or the title provided by the attorney general or district court. Following the number of the ballot issue, the secretary of state shall include one of the following statements to identify why the issue has been placed on the ballot:

All ballot issues shall be placed on the official ballot prescribed by 13-12-212, 13-17-205 and 13-17-206, or 13-18-201 through 13-18-206 unless specific written approval by the secretary of state for placing the ballot issues on a separate ballot is received by the official responsible for printing the ballot. The secretary of state may issue such approval only when the number of issues to be voted on at an election makes it impractical to print the entire ballot, including the ballot issues, on the official ballot as prescribed by 13-12-212, 13-17-205 and 13-17-206, or 13-18-201 through 13-18-206."

(2) Nothing in Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, confers upon districts created for drainage purposes only the authority to levy assessments on benefits to improvements.

(3) The election provided for by subsection (1) shall be governed by the following rules:

(a) Notice of the election shall be as provided in 85-8-303, except that the form of the ballot shall be as hereinafter provided.

(b) The manner of conducting the election shall be as provided in 85-8-304.

(d) The commissioners of any district in existence prior to March 21, 1973, who wish to hold an election to determine if the district shall be governed by Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, shall at any regular or special meeting adopt a resolution calling for an election to determine whether or not the voters of said district wish to be governed by Chapter 409, Laws of 1973. The resolution shall contain a short summary of the changes made by Chapter 409, Laws of 1973, and shall include the summary as part of the notice provided for by 85-8-303. CHAPTER NO. 401

AN ACT REQUIRING TUITION PAYMENT FOR A HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT ATTENDING A HIGH SCHOOL IN A DISTRICT OUTSIDE HIS RESIDENT DISTRICT AND CREATING A HIGH SCHOOL TUITION FUND; AMENDING SECTIONS 20-5-311 THROUGH 20-5-313, MCA.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 20-5-311, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-5-311. High school tuition. (1) Any child may be enrolled in and attend a high school outside of the high school district in which he resides when such high school is located in Montana or in a county of another state that is adjacent to the state of Montana. When a parent or guardian of a child wishes to have his child attend a school under the provisions of this section, he shall apply to the county superintendent of the county of his residence before July 1 of the school fiscal year for which he seeks approval except in those cases when substantial changes in circumstances occurred subsequently to justify later application. Such application shall be made on a tuition agreement form supplied by the county superintendent and shall be approved by the trustees of the district where the child wishes to attend school and the trustees of the child's district of residence before permission to enroll in and attend a school outside of the district under the provisions of this section shall be granted.

(2) The trustees shall approve a tuition application when a child lives closer to a high school of another district than any high school located within his resident district or when, due to road or geographic conditions, it is impractical to attend the high school nearest his residence. In approving such a tuition application the trustees are not required to approve a tuition application for a student seeking to attend a high school outside the state of Montana if the resident district provides transportation. In approving a tuition agreement under this provision, the trustees may require the child to attend the high school closest to his residence. The trustees may approve any other tuition application that satisfies the geographic requirements of this section.

(3) The trustees of the district where the child wishes to attend school shall approve or disapprove any tuition application submitted to them under the provisions of this section within 15 days after the receipt of the application.

(4) The county superintendent shall notify the parent or guardian and the trustees of the district where the child wishes to attend school of the tuition agreement approval or disapproval. If a tuition agreement is disapproved by the trustees, the parent may appeal such disapproval to the trustees for their reconsideration and, subsequently, to the superintendent of public instruction under the provision for the appeal of controversies in this title. The approval of any tuition agreement by the approval agents or upon appeal shall authorize the child named in such agreement to enroll in and attend the school named in such agreement for the ensuing school fiscal year."

Section 2. Section 20-5-312, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-5-312. Reporting, budgeting, and payment for high school tuition. (1) At the close of the school term of each school fiscal year, the trustees of each high school district shall determine the rate of tuition for the current school fiscal year by:

(a) totaling the actual expenditures from the district general fund, retirement fund, and debt service fund;

(b) dividing the amount determined in subsection (1)(a) above by the ANB of the district for the current fiscal year, as determined under the provisions of 20-9-311; and

(c) subtracting the total of the per-ANB amount allowed by 20-9-316 through 20-9-321 that represents the foundation program as prescribed by 20-9-303 plus the per-ANB amount determined by dividing the state financing of the district permissive levy by the ANB of the district, from the amount determined in subsection (1)(b) above.

(2) Before July 15, the trustees shall report to the county superintendent of the county in which the district is located:

(a) the names, addresses, and resident districts of the pupils attending the schools of the district under an approved tuition agreement;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1004 1979

(b) the number of days of school attended by each pupil;

(c) the amount, if any, of each pupil's tuition payment that the trustees, in their discretion, shall have the authority to waive; and

(d) the rate of current school fiscal year tuition, as determined under the provisions of this section.

(3) When the county superintendent receives a tuition report from a district, he shall immediately send the reported information to the superintendent of each district in which the reported pupils reside.

(4) When the district superintendent receives a tuition report or reports for high school pupils residing in his district and attending an out-of-district high school under approved tuition agreements, he shall determine the total amount of tuition due such out-of-district high schools on the basis of the following per-pupil schedule: the rate of tuition, number of pupils attending under an approved tuition agreement, and other information provided by each high school district where resident district pupils have attended school.

(5) The total amount of the high school tuition, with consideration of any tuition waivers, for pupils attending a high school outside the county of residence shall be financed by the county basic special tax for high schools as provided in 20-9-334. In December, the county superintendent shall cause the payment by county warrant of the high school tuition obligations established under this section out of the first moneys realized from the county basic special tax for high schools. The payment shall be made to the county treasurer of the county where each high school entitled to tuition is located. The county treasurer shall credit such tuition receipts to the general fund of the applicable high school district, and the tuition receipts shall be used in accordance with the provisions of 20-9-141.

(6) For pupils attending a high school outside their district of residence but within the county of residence, the total amount of the tuition, with consideration of any tuition waivers, must be paid during the ensuing school fiscal year. The trustees of the sending high school district shall include the tuition amount in the tuition fund of the preliminary and final budgets. This budgeted tuition amount is not subject to the budget adjustment provisions of 20-9-132. The county superintendent shall report the net tuition fund levy requirement for each high school district to the county commissioners on the second Monday of August, and a levy on the district shall be made by the county commissioners in accordance with 20-9-142. This levy requirement shall be calculated by subtracting from the total expenditure amount authorized in the final tuition fund budget the sum of the cash balance in the tuition fund at the end of the immediately preceding school fiscal year plus any other anticipated money that may be realized in the tuition fund. The trustees shall pay by warrants drawn on the tuition fund the tuition amounts owed to each district included in the county superintendent's notification. Payments shall be made whenever there is a sufficient amount of cash available in the tuition fund but no later than the end of the school fiscal year for which the budget is adopted. However, if the trustees of either the sending or receiving high school feel the transfer privilege provided by this subsection is being abused they may appeal to the county superintendent of schools who shall hold a hearing and either approve or disapprove the transfer."

Section 3. Section 20-5-313, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-5-313. Individual tuition for high school pupil. (1) Any child eligible to attend high school may attend school in the high school district in which he resides without payment of tuition.

(2) No provision of this title shall be construed to deny a parent the right to send his child, at his own expense, to any high school outside of his district of residence when the parent agrees to pay the tuition acceptable to the trustees of the high school district operating such high school. When the attendance is approved, the parent shall pay tuition at the rate fixed by the trustees."

Approved March 31, 1979.

"25-10-103. When costs discretionary. Unless otherwise provided in actions other than those mentioned in 25-10-101, costs may be allowed or not and, if allowed, may be apportioned between the parties on the same or adverse sides, in the discretion of the court, but no costs can be allowed in an action for the recovery of money or damages when the plaintiff fails to recover more than $50 or in an action to recover the possession of personal property when the value of the property is not more than $50."

CHAPTER NO. 406

AN ACT TO CHANGE THE FILING TIME FOR A FINANCING STATEMENT WITH RESPECT TO A PURCHASE MONEY SECURITY INTEREST FROM 10 DAYS TO 20 DAYS AND TO CHANGE THE RULES ON PRIORITY OVER A CONFLICTING SECURITY INTEREST IN COLLATERAL TO GIVE A PURCHASE MONEY SECURITY INTEREST IN COLLATERAL PRIORITY IF IT IS PERFECTED WITHIN 20 DAYS RATHER THAN 10 DAYS AFTER THE DEBTOR RECEIVES POSSESSION OF THE COLLATERAL; AMENDING SECTIONS 30-9-301 AND 30-9-312, MCA.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 30-9-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-301. Persons who take priority over unperfected security interests — "lien creditor". (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2), an unperfected security interest is subordinate to the rights of:

(a) persons entitled to priority under 30-9-312;

(b) a person who becomes a lien creditor without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected;

(c) in the case of goods, instruments, documents, and chattel paper, a person who is not a secured party and who is a transferee in bulk or other buyer not in ordinary course of business to the extent that he gives value and receives delivery of the collateral without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected;

(d) in the case of accounts, contract rights, and general intangibles, a person who is not a secured party and who is a transferee to the extent that he gives value without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected.

(2) If the secured party files with respect to a purchase money security interest before or within 20 days after the collateral comes into possession of the debtor, he takes priority over the rights of a transferee in bulk or of a lien creditor which arise between the time the security interest attaches and the time of filing.

(3) A "lien creditor" means a creditor who has acquired a lien on the property involved by attachment, levy or the like and includes an assignee for benefit of creditors from the time of assignment, and a trustee in bankruptcy from the date of the filing of the petition or a receiver in equity from the time of appointment. Unless all the creditors represented had knowledge of the security interest such a representative of creditors is a lien creditor without knowledge even though he personally has knowledge of the security interest."

Section 2. Section 30-9-312, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-312. Priorities among conflicting security interests in the same collateral. (1) The rules of priority stated in the following sections shall govern where applicable: 30-4-208 with respect to the security interest of collecting banks in items being collected, accompanying documents and proceeds; 30-9-301 on certain priorities; 30-9-304 on goods covered by documents; 30-9-306 on proceeds and repossessions; 30-9-307 on buyers of goods; 30-9-308 on possessory against nonpossessory interests in chattel paper or nonnegotiable instruments; 30-9-309 on security interests in negotiable instruments, documents or securities; 30-9-310 on priorities between perfected security interests and liens by operation of law; 30-9-313 on security interests in fixtures as against interests in real estate; 30-9-314 on security interests in accessions as against interest in goods; 30-9-315 on conflicting security interests where goods lose their identity or become part of a product; and 30-9-316 on contractual subordination.

(2) A perfected security interest in crops for new value given to enable the debtor to produce the crops during the production season and given not more than 3 months before the crops become growing crops by planting or otherwise takes priority over an earlier perfected security interest to the extent that such earlier interest secures obligations due more than 6 months before the crops become growing crops by planting or otherwise, even though the person giving new value had knowledge of the earlier security interest.

(3) A purchase money security interest in inventory collateral has priority over a conflicting security interest in the same collateral if:

(a) the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives possession of the collateral; and

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1014 1979

(b) any secured party whose security interest is known to the holder of the purchase money security interest or who, prior to the date of the filing made by the holder of the purchase money security interest, had filed a financing statement covering the same items or type of inventory, has received notification of the purchase money security interest before the debtor receives possession of the collateral covered by the purchase money security interest; and

(c) such notification states that the person giving the notice has or expects to acquire a purchase money security interest in inventory of the debtor, describing such inventory by item or type.

(4) A purchase money security interest in collateral other than inventory has priority over a conflicting security interest in the same collateral if the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives possession of the collateral or within 20 days thereafter.

(5) In all cases not governed by other rules stated in this section (including cases of purchase money security interests which do not qualify for the special priorities set forth in subsections (3) and (4) of this section), priority between conflicting security interests in the same collateral shall be determined as follows:

(a) in the order of filing if both are perfected by filing, regardless of which security interest attached first under 30-9-204(1) and whether it attached before or after filing;

(b) in the order of perfection unless both are perfected by filing, regardless of which security interest attached first under 30-9-204(1) and, in the case of a filed security interest, whether it attached before or after filing; and

(c) in the order of attachment under 30-9-204(1) so long as neither is perfected.

(6) For the purpose of the priority rules of the immediately preceding subsection, a continuously perfected security interest shall be treated at all times as if perfected by filing if it was originally so perfected and it shall be treated at all times as if perfected otherwise than by filing if it was originally perfected otherwise than by filing."

Approved March 31, 1979.

CHAPTER NO. 407

AN ACT GENERALLY REVISING THE LAW RELATING TO ASSAULTS AND INTENTIONAL TORTS OCCURRING BETWEEN SPOUSES; AMENDING SECTIONS 40-2-201 AND 45-5-506, MCA.

Section 1. Right of person to sue spouse for intentional tort. A person has a cause of action against his spouse for damages caused by the spouse's intentional tort against such person, and the common law doctrine of interspousal tort immunity is, to that extent, abolished.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1015 1979

Section 2. Section 40-2-201, MCA, is amended to read:

"40-2-201. When husband's and wife's interests separate. Neither husband nor wife has any interest in the property of the other, except as mentioned in 40-2-102, but neither can be excluded from the other's dwelling unless enjoined by a court."

Section 3. Section 45-5-506, MCA, is amended to read:

"45-5-506. Provisions generally applicable to sexual crimes. (1) When criminality depends on the victim being less than 16 years old, it is a defense for the offender to prove that he reasonably believed the child to be above that age. Such belief shall not be deemed reasonable if the child is less than 14 years old.

(2) Whenever the definition of an offense excludes conduct with a spouse, the exclusion shall be deemed to extend to persons living as husband and wife regardless of the legal status of their relationship. The exclusion shall be inoperative as respects spouses living apart whether under a decree of judicial separation or otherwise. Where the definition of an offense excludes conduct with a spouse, this shall not preclude conviction of a spouse in a sexual act which he or she causes another person, not within the exclusion, to perform.

(3) In a prosecution under the preceding sections on sexual crimes (45-5-502 through 45-5-504) in which the victim's lack of consent is based solely upon his incapacity to consent because he was mentally incapacitated, it is a defense to such prosecution that the victim was a voluntary social companion of the defendant and the intoxicating substance was voluntarily and knowingly taken."

Approved March 31, 1979.

If* there is no objection, the court may act solely on the basis of the affidavits.

(2) If a proceeding for dissolution of marriage or legal separation is dismissed, any temporary custody order is vacated unless a parent or the child's custodian moves that the proceeding continue as a custody proceeding and the court finds, after a hearing, that the circumstances of the parents and the best interest of the child require that a custody decree be issued.

(3) If a custody proceeding commenced in the absence of a petition for dissolution of marriage or legal separation is dismissed, any temporary custody order is vacated."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1027 1979

Section 2. Section 40-4-219, MCA, is amended to read:

"40-4-219. Modification. (1) The court shall not modify a prior custody decree unless it finds, upon the basis of facts that have arisen since the prior decree or that were unknown to the court at the time of entry of the prior decree, that a change has occurred in the circumstances of the child or his custodian and that the modification is necessary to serve the best interest of the child. In applying these standards the court shall retain the custodian appointed pursuant to the prior decree unless:

(a) the custodian agrees to the modification;

(b) the child has been integrated into the family of the petitioner with consent of the custodian; or

(2) (a) A party seeking a temporary custody order may request that the court grant a temporary assignment of custody ex parte. He shall so request in his moving papers and shall submit an affidavit showing that:

(ii) although a previous determination of custody has been made, the child's present environment endangers his physical or emotional health and an immediate change of custody would serve to protect the child's physical or emotional health.

(b) If the court finds from the affidavits submitted by the moving party that a temporary assignment of custody would be in the child's best interest under the standards of 40-4-212 or that the child's physical or emotional health is endangered and would be protected by a temporary assignment of custody, the court shall make an order placing temporary custody with the person designated by the moving party or with some other person designated by the court and shall require all parties to appear and show cause within 20 days from the execution of the order

Failure on the part of any officer shall be considered to be misfeasance in office and shall constitute grounds for removal. Upon receipt of such information, the division shall file it in an index to be known as the stolen and recovered motor vehicle index. It shall also be the duty of the division to file reports of stolen and recovered motor vehicles reported to it from other states. "61-3-201. Transfer of interest. (1) Upon a transfer of any interest in a motor vehicle registered under the provisions of this chapter, the person whose interest is to be transferred shall write his signature with pen and ink upon the certificate of ownership issued for such vehicle in the appropriate space provided upon the reverse side of the certificate, and his signature shall be acknowledged before a notary public.

(2) Within 20 calendar days thereafter, the transferee shall forward both the endorsed certificate of ownership and the certificate of registration, together with the information required under 61-3-202, to the county treasurer, who shall forward them to the division. No certificate of ownership or certificate of registration may be issued by the division until the outstanding certificates are surrendered to that office or their loss is established to its reasonable satisfaction. Failure to make application within the 20-day grace period subjects the transferee to a penalty of $10. The penalty is to be collected by the county treasurer at the time of registration and is in addition to the fees otherwise provided by law.

(3) In the event of a transfer by operation of law of any interest in a motor vehicle as upon inheritance, devise, or bequest, order in bankruptcy or insolvency, execution sale, repossession upon default in the performance of the terms of a lease or executory sales contract, or otherwise than by voluntary act of the person whose title or interest is transferred, the executor, administrator, receiver, trustee, sheriff, or other representative or successor in interest of the person whose interest is transferred shall forward to the division an application for a certificate of ownership in the form required for an original application for a certificate of ownership, together with a verified or certified statement of the transfer of such interest. The statement shall set forth the reason for the involuntary transfer, the interest so transferred, the name of the person to whom the interest is to be transferred, the process of procedure effecting such transfer, and other information requested by the division. Evidence and instruments otherwise required by law to effect a transfer of legal or equitable title to or an interest in chattels as may be required in such cases shall be furnished with the statement. If the division is satisfied that the transfer is regular and that all formalities required by law have been complied with, it shall send to the owner, conditional sales vendor, lessor, mortgagee, and other lienor, as shown by its records, notice of the intended transfer and thereafter, but not less than 5 days thereafter, shall issue a new certificate of ownership and certificate of registration to the person entitled thereto. The notice herein required is complied with by deposit in the post office in Deer Lodge, Montana, such notice, postage prepaid, addressed to the person at the respective address shown on its records.

(4) When the vehicle certificate of ownership that is involuntarily transferred is not registered in this state, the procedure set forth above must be followed in applying for a new certificate of ownership and certificate of registration but the division need not send notice of intended transfer and shall issue a new certificate of ownership and a new certificate of registration to the person entitled thereto.

(5) In the event of the death of an owner of one or more motor vehicles or trailers or semitrailers or housetrailers registered hereunder and not exceeding the value of $4,000 without leaving other property necessitating the procuring of letters of administration or letters testamentary, then the surviving husband or wife or other heir unless such property is by will otherwise bequeathed, may secure transfer of the certificate of ownership and the certificate of registration of the deceased to such motor vehicle in the name of the surviving husband or wife or other heir, as above mentioned, upon filing with the division an affidavit setting forth the fact of survivorship and the name and address of any other heirs and such other facts as are hereby made necessary to entitle the affiant to a transfer. Thereupon the division is authorized to make the transfer of the certificate of ownership and certificate of registration, subject to all contracts, leases, mortgages, or other liens as shown by its records.

(6) Nothing in subsection (5) shall prevent any conditional sales vendor, mortgagee, or other lienor from assigning his interest in a motor vehicle registered under the provisions of this chapter to any other person without the consent of and without affecting the interest of the holder of the certificate of ownership and certificate of registration. Upon any conditional sales vendor, mortgagee, or other lienor assigning his interest in any motor vehicle registered under this chapter, a copy of such assignment must be filed with the division and record thereof made upon its records.

(7) The certificates of ownership shall remain valid until canceled by the division upon a transfer of any interest shown therein and need not be renewed annually."

Section 30. Section 61-3-202, MCA, is amended to read:

"61-3-202. Certificate of ownership — issuance — contents — joint ownership. (1) Upon completion of the application for registration, on forms furnished by the division, the county treasurer shall forward one copy of the application to the division, which shall enter the information contained in the application upon the corresponding records of its office and shall furnish the applicant a certificate of ownership subject to the provisions of 61-3-103.

(2) The certificate of ownership shall contain upon the face thereof:

(a) the date issued;

(b) the name and complete address of the owner or the names and addresses of joint owners;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1046 1979

(c) the name and complete address of any conditional sales vendor and also the name and address of any other lienor as shown by the application;

(d) a description of the registered vehicle, including the year built and serial number, if any;

(e) any lien against such motor vehicle and the amount due at the date of registration; and

(f) such other statement of facts as may be determined by the division.

(3) When the names and addresses of more than one owner who are members of the same immediate family are listed on the certificate of ownership, joint ownership with right of survivorship, and not as tenants in common, is presumed.

(4) Upon receipt of the application, the division shall recheck the application. If there is any error in the application it may be returned to the county treasurer to effectively secure the correction of such error, who shall return the same to the division.

(5) The certificate of ownership shall contain a notice to the division of a transfer of interest of the owner and such other statements as may be determined by the division."

Section 31. Section 61-3-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"61-3-301. Registration — license plate required — display. (1) Except as otherwise provided herein, no person shall operate a motor vehicle upon the public highways of this state unless such vehicle is properly registered and has the proper number plates conspicuously displayed, one on the front and one on the rear of the vehicle, each securely fastened to prevent it from swinging and unobstructed from plain view, except that trailers, semitrailers, and motorcycles shall have but one number plate conspicuously displayed on the rear. No person shall display on such vehicle at the same time any number assigned to it under any motor vehicle law except as provided in this chapter. A junk vehicle, as defined in part 5, chapter 10, Title 75, being driven or towed to an auto wrecking graveyard for disposal is exempt from the provisions of this section.

(2) No person shall purchase or display on a vehicle any license plate bearing the number assigned to any county as provided in 61-3-332 other than the county of his permanent residence at the time of application for registration. However, the owner of any motor vehicle requiring a license plate on any motor vehicle used in the public transportation of persons or property may make application therefor in any county through which the motor vehicle passes in its regularly scheduled route, and the license plate so issued bearing the number assigned to said county may be displayed on the motor vehicle in any other county of the state.

(3) It is unlawful to use license plates issued to one vehicle on any other vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer unless legally transferred as provided by statute, or to repaint old license plates to resemble current license plates.

(4) Any person violating these provisions is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the penalty set out in 61-3-601."

Section 32. Section 61-3-317, MCA, is amended to read:

"61-3-317. New registration required for transferred vehicle — grace period — penalty — display of proof of purchase. Except as otherwise provided herein, the new owner of a transferred motor vehicle shall have a grace period of 20 calendar days from the date of purchase to make application and pay the taxes, as provided by part 5 of this chapter, as if the vehicle were being registered for the first time in that registration year. If the motor vehicle was not purchased from a duly licensed motor vehicle dealer as provided in this chapter, it is not a violation of this chapter or any other law for the purchaser to operate the vehicle upon the streets and highways of this state without a certificate of registration during the 20-day period, provided that at all times during that period a bill of sale or other proof of purchase reciting the date of purchase is clearly displayed in the rear window of the motor vehicle. Registration and license fees collected under 61-3-321 are not required to be paid when a license plate is transferred under this section and 61-3-335. Failure to make application within the time provided herein subjects the purchaser to a penalty of $10. The penalty shall be collected by the county treasurer at the time of registration and shall be in addition to the fees otherwise provided by law."

Any proclamation issued pursuant to this section becomes effective at midnight of the day upon which it is filed with the secretary of state. A speed limit imposed pursuant to this section is an exception to the requirements of 61-8-303 and 61-8-312, and a speed in excess of the speed limit established pursuant to this section is unlawful notwithstanding any provision of 61-8-303 and 61-8-312."

(3) In any criminal prosecution for a violation of subsection (1) of this section relating to driving a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, the amount of alcohol in the defendant's blood at the time alleged, as shown by chemical analysis of the defendant's blood, urine, breath, or other bodily substance, shall give rise to the following presumptions:

(a) If there was at that time 0.05% or less by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was not under the influence of alcohol.

(b) If there was at that time in excess of 0.05% but less than 0.10% by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, that fact shall not give rise to any presumption that the defendant was or was not under the influence of alcohol but such fact may be considered with other competent evidence in determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

(c) If there was at that time 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was under the influence of alcohol.

(4) Percent by weight of alcohol in the blood shall be based upon grams of alcohol per 100 cubic centimeters of blood.

(5) Each municipality in this state is given authority to enact 61-8-714 and subsections (1) through (4) of this section with the word "state" in subsection (1) of this section changed to read "municipality", as an ordinance and is given jurisdiction of the enforcement of the ordinance and of the imposition of the fines and penalties therein provided."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1065 1979

(2) Every owner or driver, upon receiving a notice as provided in 61-9-501, shall comply therewith and shall within 5 days have the deficiencies corrected and forward notification of the correction to the division. In lieu of compliance with this subsection, the vehicle may not be operated, except as provided in subsection (3).

(3) No person may operate any vehicle after receiving a notice with reference thereto as above provided except as may be necessary to return the vehicle to the residence or place of business of the owner or driver, if within a distance of 20 miles, or to a garage until the vehicle and its equipment have been placed in proper repair and adjustment and otherwise made to conform to the requirements of this chapter."

Section 74. Section 61-10-102, MCA, is amended to read:

(2) This restriction does not apply to an implement of husbandry or a vehicle used for hauling hay, moved or propelled upon the highway during daylight hours for a distance of not more than 100 miles if the movement is incidental to the farming operations of the owner of the implement of husbandry or the vehicle used for hauling hay. If the implement or vehicle has a width in excess of 12 feet, it shall be preceded by flagman escorts for the purpose of warning other highway users. This restriction does not apply to dual-wheel tractors under 15 feet overall width which are used in farming operations. (2) Term or blanket permits may not be issued for an overwidth vehicle, combination of vehicles, load, or other thing in excess of 15 feet; an overlength vehicle, combination of vehicles, load, object, or other thing in excess of 85 feet; and an overheight vehicle, combination of vehicles, load, or other thing in excess of 13 ½ feet, or of a limit determined by the department. A vehicle, combination of vehicles, load, or other thing in excess of these dimensions is limited to trip permits.

(3) A permit may not be issued for a period of time greater than the period for which the GVW license is valid as provided in this title, including grace periods allowed by this title. Owners of vehicles licensed in other jurisdictions may, at the discretion of the department, purchase permits to expire with their registration. A license required by the state governs the issuance of a special permit."

Section 78. Section 61-10-145, MCA, is amended to read:

"61-10-145. Penalties — disposition of fines. (1) A person, firm, or corporation convicted of violating 61-10-101 through 61-10-110 shall be punished by a fine of not less than $15 or more than $50 or by imprisonment in the county or municipal jail for not less than 5 days or more than 25 days. A person, firm, or corporation convicted of operating a motor vehicle upon the public highways of this state with weight upon a wheel, axle, or group of axles greater than the maximum permitted by 61-10-101 through 61-10-110 shall be fined, in addition to other penalties provided by law for the offense, the following amounts:

(2) However, nothing in subsection (1)(e) prevents the registration of a mark used in this state by the applicant which has become distinctive of the applicant's goods or services. The secretary of state may accept as evidence that the mark has become distinctive, as applied to the applicant's goods or services, proof of continuous use thereof as a mark by the applicant in this state or elsewhere for the 5 years immediately preceding the date of the filing of the application for registration.

Section 4. Application for registration. (1) Subject to the limitations set forth in [sections 1 through 17], a person who adopts and uses a mark in this state may file in the office of secretary of state, on a form to be furnished by the secretary of state, an application for registration of that mark setting forth information including but not limited to the following:

(a) the name and business address of the person applying for such registration and, if a corporation, the state of incorporation;

(b) the essential feature of the mark to be registered;

(c) the goods or services in connection with which the mark is used and the mode or manner in which the mark is used in connection with such goods or services and the class in which such goods or services fall;

(d) the date when the mark was first used anywhere and the date when it was first used in this state by the applicant or his predecessor in business;

(e) a statement that the mark is presently in use in this state by the applicant; and

(f) a statement that the applicant is the owner of the mark and that no other person has the right to use the mark in this state either in the identical form thereof or in a form that so nearly resembles it that it might be calculated to deceive or might be mistaken for it.

(2) The application must be signed and verified by affidavit of the applicant or a member of the firm or an officer of the corporation or association applying.

(3) The application must be accompanied by a specimen or facsimile of such mark in duplicate.

(4) The application for registration must be accompanied by a filing fee of $20, payable to the secretary of state.

Section 5. Filing application and issuing certificate of registration. (1) Duplicate originals of an application for registration of a mark must be delivered to the secretary of state. If the secretary of state finds that the application complies with the requirements of [sections 1 through

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1082 1979

17], he shall, when all fees have been paid as prescribed in [sections 1 through 17]:

(a) endorse on each such duplicate original the words "filed for record" and the month, day, and year of the filing thereof;

(b) file one such duplicate original in his office; and

(c) issue a certificate of registration to which he shall affix the other duplicate original.

(2) The certificate of registration, together with the duplicate original of the application for registration of mark affixed thereto, shall be returned to the applicant.

(3) Any certificate of registration issued by the secretary of state under the provisions of this section or a copy thereof duly certified by the secretary of state is admissible in evidence as competent and sufficient proof of the registration of such mark in any judicial proceeding in any court of this state.

Section 6. Duration and renewal. (1) Registration of a mark under [sections 1 through 17] is effective for a term of 10 years from the date of registration and, upon application filed within 6 months prior to the expiration of such term, the registration may be renewed for another 10 years.

(c) a statement that the mark is still in use by the applicant in this state.

(3) The application for renewal of mark registration must be signed and verified by affidavit of the applicant.

(4) The application for renewal of mark registration must be accompanied by a filing fee of $20, payable to the secretary of state.

Section 7. Filing application for renewal of registration — issuing certificate of renewal. (1) Duplicate originals of an application for renewal of mark registration must be delivered to the secretary of state. If the secretary of state finds that the application complies with the requirements of [sections 1 through 17], he shall, when all fees have been paid as prescribed in [sections 1 through 17]:

(a) endorse on each such duplicate original the words "filed for record" and the month, day, and year of the filing thereof;

(4) The secretary of state shall notify registrants of marks of the necessity of renewal within the year immediately preceding the expiration of the 10 years from the date of registration, by writing to the last-known address of the registrants.

(5) Any registration in force on July 1, 1979, expires 10 years from the date of the registration or from the date of the last renewal thereof or on July 1, 1980, whichever is later, if renewal of mark registration is not effected in the manner provided for in [sections 1 through 17].

(6) The secretary of state shall, by January 1, 1981, notify each person who registered a mark prior to July 1, 1980, of the date of expiration of such registration unless renewed in accordance with the provisions of [sections 1 through 17], by writing to the last-known address of the registrant.

Section 8. Assignment. (1) Any mark and its registration under [sections 1 through 17] may be assigned in conjunction with the good will of the business in which the mark is used or with that part of the good will of the business connected with the use of and symbolized by the mark for the remainder of the term of the current registration. An assignment of any registration under [sections 1 through 17] is void as against any subsequent purchaser for valuable consideration without notice unless it is recorded with the secretary of state within 3 months after the date of the assignment or prior to such subsequent purchase.

(2) Duplicate originals of an assignment of a mark must be delivered to the secretary of state and shall set forth information including but not limited to the following:

(a) the registered mark has been abandoned;

(b) the registrant is not the owner of the mark;

(c) the registration was granted improperly;

(d) the registration was obtained fraudulently;

(e) the registered mark is so similar to a mark currently registered by another person in the United States patent and trademark office prior to the filing date of the application for registration under [sections 1 through 17] as to be likely to cause confusion or mistake or to deceive. However, if the registrant proves that he is the owner of a concurrent registration of his mark in the United States patent and trademark office covering an area including this state, the registration under [sections 1 through 17] may not be canceled.

(5) a registration ordered canceled by a court of competent jurisdiction on any grounds.

Section 12. Classification. (1) The following general classes of goods and services are established for convenience of administration of [sections 1 through 17]. This classification does not limit or extend the applicant's or registrant's rights. (b) of his guardian when the court appointing the guardian certifies that the primary purpose of the appointment is not to qualify the minor as a resident of this state.

(2) A resident student who marries a nonresident does not by that fact alone lose resident status for tuition and fee purposes for a period of 4 years after marriage.

(3) Residence is not lost because of relocation as a member of the armed forces of the United States.

(4) A new domicile is established by a qualified person if he is physically present in Montana with no intention to acquire a domicile outside of Montana.

(5) Domicile is not lost by absence from Montana with no intention to establish a new domicile.

If such person meets the requirement of full-time employment within the state of Montana and files for the payment of Montana state income taxes or files estimates of those taxes or is subject to withholding of those taxes and renounces his residency in any other state and is not himself in the state primarily as a student, his spouse or any dependent minor child, or both, may at the next registration after qualifying be classified at the in-state rate so long as he continues his Montana domicile. In the administration of this subsection, neither the full-time employee or spouse shall be eligible for in-state tuition classification if the primary purpose for coming to Montana was the education of the employee or spouse."

(2) A cooperative contract may allow money allocated to a cooperative to be expended for:

(a) recruitment of professionals or employees for the cooperative; and

(b) facility rental and supportive services including but not limited to janitorial and communication services.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction may transfer directly to a cooperative the state and federal portion of a district's budgeted costs for contracted special education services.

(2) The attorney general must approve any contract submitted to him pursuant to [section 1] unless he finds that it does not meet the conditions set forth in [sections 1 and 2], in which case he must detail, in writing addressed to the school districts concerned, the specific respects in which the proposed contract fails to meet the requirements of law. CHAPTER NO. 473

AN ACT TO REESTABLISH THE PROVISIONS OF CHAPTER 577, LAWS OF MONTANA, 1977, CONCERNING THE ENERGY SUPPLY ALERT AND VESTING ENERGY EMERGENCY POWERS IN THE GOVERNOR; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. (1) The legislature finds that energy in various forms is increasingly subject to possible shortages and supply disruptions, to the point that there may be foreseen an emergency situation, and that without the ability to gather information, formulate plans, and institute appropriate emergency measures to reduce or allocate the usage of energy through a program of mandatory usage curtailment or allocation, a severe impact on the health, safety, and general welfare of our state's citizens may occur. The prevention or mitigation of the effects of such energy shortages or disruptions is necessary for preservation of the public health and welfare of the citizens of this state.

(2) It is the intent of [this act] to:

(a) establish necessary planning, information gathering, and energy emergency powers for the governor and define the conditions under which such powers are to be exercised;

(b) provide penalties for violations of [this act].

Section 2. Definitions. As used in [this act], the following definitions apply:

(1) "Energy facility" means a facility which produces, extracts, converts, transports, or stores energy.

(2) "Energy" means petroleum or other liquid fuels, natural or synthetic fuel gas, or electricity.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1164 1979

(3) "Person" means an individual, partnership, joint venture, private or public corporation, cooperative, association, firm, public utility, political subdivision, municipal corporation, government agency, joint operating agency, or any other entity, public or private, however organized.

(4) "Committee" means the energy policy committee established in [section 3].

(5) "Distributor" means any person, private corporation, partnership, producer, individual proprietorship, public utility, joint operating agency or cooperative which engages in or is authorized to engage in the activity of generating, producing, transmitting, or distributing energy in this state.

(6) "Energy emergency" means an existing or imminent domestic, regional, or national shortage of energy which will result in curtailment of essential services or production of essential goods or the disruption of significant sectors of the economy unless action is taken to conserve or limit the use of the energy form involved and the allocation of available energy supplies among users.

(7) "Energy supply alert" means a condition of energy supply on a national, regional, state, or local basis which foreseeably will affect significantly the availability of essential energy supplies within the ensuing 90-day period unless action is taken under [section 9] to reduce energy usage by state agencies and political subdivisions.

Section 3. Energy policy committee. There is established a legislative energy policy committee which consists of eight members. The members shall consist of the president of the senate and the floor leader of the opposite party in the senate and the speaker and minority leader of the house of representatives. Each leadership member shall designate one additional member within 15 days following the close of each session.

Section 4. Supply of vital public services during an energy supply alert and energy emergency. The governor shall, with the advice of the committee, in developing provisions for the allocation, conservation, and consumption of energy, give due consideration to supplying vital public services such as essential governmental operations, health and safety functions, emergency services, public mass transportation systems, food production and processing facilities, and energy supply facilities during conditions of an energy supply alert or energy emergency. In developing any energy allocation programs, provisions shall be made for the equitable distribution of energy among the geographic areas of the state which are experiencing an energy shortage.

Section 5. Information obtainable by governor. (1) The governor may obtain information from energy resource producers, suppliers, public agencies, and consumers and from political subdivisions in this state necessary for him, with advice of the committee, to determine the need for energy supply alert and emergency declarations. Such information may include but is not limited to:

(a) sales volumes by customer classifications;

(b) forecasts of energy resource requirements for the particular type of energy involved for a period not to exceed 2 years; and

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1165 1979

(c) inventory of energy resources and reserves available for use in meeting a shortage in a particular energy source.

(2) In obtaining information under subsection (1) of this section during a state of energy emergency, the governor may subpoena witnesses, material, and relevant books, papers, accounts, records, and memoranda; administer oaths; and cause the depositions of persons residing within or without Montana to be taken in the manner prescribed for depositions in civil actions in district courts, to obtain information relevant to energy resources that are the subject of the proclaimed emergency or associated disaster.

(3) In obtaining information under this section, the governor shall:

(a) seek to avoid eliciting information already furnished by a person or political subdivision in this state to a federal, state, or local regulatory authority that is available for his study; and

(b) cause reporting procedures, including forms, to conform to existing requirements of federal, state, and local regulatory authorities.

(4) Nothing in the act requires the disclosure by a distributor of confidential information, trade secrets, or other facts of a proprietary nature.

(5) The governor shall forward to the committee such information collected under this section as the committee may request and shall advise the committee of the progress of the information gathering process.

Section 6. Advice of distributors and consumers. The governor shall actively solicit the advice of consumers, through the legislative consumer committee established in 5-15-101, and of distributors throughout the information gathering, planning, and implementation process described in [this act].

Section 7. Submission and approval of curtailment plans. (1) The governor may at any time require a distributor of an energy resource to prepare for his approval a plan for the curtailment of the distribution of that resource in the event of a state of energy emergency. Plans shall be submitted in such form and within such limits as the governor shall specify and shall recognize the obligations and duties which may be placed upon distributors subject to [this act] by other jurisdictions, both state and federal.

(2) Approval of plans for curtailment shall be based on the following factors:

(a) the consistency of the plan with the public health, safety, and welfare;

(b) the technical feasibility of implementation of the plan;

(c) the effectiveness with which the plan minimizes the impact of any curtailment;

(d) the needs of commercial, agricultural, retail, professional, and service establishments whose normal function is to supply goods or services, or both, of an essential nature, including but not limited to food, lodging, fuel, and medical care facilities;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1166 1979

(e) the regional agreements or contracts of the distributors; and

(f) the advice of the committee.

Section 8. Governor's considerations. In determining whether to declare an energy supply alert or energy emergency, the governor shall consider:

(1) availability of regional and national energy resources;

(2) local, state, regional, and national energy needs and shortages;

(3) availability of short-term alternative supplies on a local, state, regional, and national basis;

(4) the economic effect of such declaration and the implementation of any curtailment or conservation plans;

(5) the advice of the committee; and

(6) any other relevant factors.

Section 9. Energy supply alert. (1) The governor may upon finding that an energy alert condition exists, declare the same for a period of not longer than 90 days, setting forth the reasons therefor. Such declaration may be renewed for 90-day periods thereafter upon a finding that the energy alert condition will continue for such further period.

(2) Whenever the governor has declared an energy supply alert, he may by executive order direct actions:

(a) reducing energy resource usage by state agencies and political subdivisions;

(b) promoting conservation, prevention of waste and salvage of energy resources and the materials, services, and facilities derived therefrom or dependent thereon, by state agencies and political subdivisions.

Section 10. Emergency energy — powers of governor. In addition to his existing powers and duties, the governor shall have the following duties and special energy emergency powers subject to the definitions and limitations in [this act]:

(1) The governor with the advice of the committee may, upon finding that a situation exists which threatens to seriously disrupt or diminish energy supplies to the extent that life, health, or property may be jeopardized, declare a condition or state of energy emergency, at which time all of the general and specific emergency powers further enumerated in this section shall become effective.

(2) The condition of energy emergency terminates after 14 consecutive days unless extended by a declaration of the legislature by joint resolution of a continuing condition of energy emergency of a duration to be established by the legislature.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1167 1979

(3) The conditions of an energy emergency alternatively cease to exist upon a declaration to that effect by either of the following:

(a) the governor; or

(b) the legislature, by joint resolution if in regular or special session.

(4) In a declared state of energy emergency, the governor may, with the advice of the committee:

(a) implement such programs, controls, standards, priorities, and quotas for the production, allocation, conservation, and consumption of energy, including plans for the curtailment of energy; provided that in so doing, the governor shall impose controls, quotas, or curtailments according to the nature of the end use to be made of the energy consistent with existing transmission and distribution systems serving the geographic area affected by the energy emergency;

(b) suspend and modify existing pollution control standards and requirements or any other standards or requirements affecting or affected by the use of energy, including those relating to air or water quality control; and

(c) establish and implement regional programs and agreements for the purposes of coordinating the energy programs and actions of the state with those of the federal government and of other states, localities, and other persons.

(5) Nothing in [this act] means that any program, control, standard, priority quota, or other policy created under the authority of the emergency powers authorized by [this act] has any continuing legal effect after the cessation of a declared state of energy emergency.

(6) Because of the emergency nature of [this act], all actions authorized or required hereunder or taken pursuant to any order issued by the governor are exempted from all requirements and provisions of the Montana Environmental Policy Act of 1971, including but not limited to the requirement for environmental impact statements.

(7) Except as provided in this section, nothing in [this act] exempts a person from compliance with the provisions of any other law, rule, or directive unless specifically ordered by the governor, or unless impossibility of compliance is a direct result of an order of the governor.

Section 11. Obligations of state and local executives. To protect the public welfare during conditions of energy alerts or emergencies, the chief executive of each political subdivision of the state, including local governments with self-government power, and each state agency shall carry out in its jurisdiction such energy supply alert or energy emergency measures as may be ordered by the governor.

Section 12. Coordination with federal provisions. In order to attain uniformity, as far as is practicable throughout the country in measures taken to aid in energy crisis management, all action taken under [this act] and all orders and rules made pursuant to it shall be taken or made with due consideration for and consistent when practicable with the orders, rules, actions, recommendations, and requests of federal authorities.

Section 13. Compliance. Notwithstanding any provision of law or contract to the contrary, all persons who are specifically ordered by the governor with the advice of committee to comply with an order issued or action taken pursuant to [this act] shall comply.

Section 14. Orders to distributors. The governor may order any distributor to take such action on his behalf as may be required to implement orders issued pursuant to [section 10] and no distributor or person is liable for actions taken in accordance with such order.

Section 15. Liability. No distributor or person is liable for damages to persons or property resulting from action taken in accordance with orders or rules issued pursuant to [this act] or actions taken pursuant to orders, rules, actions, recommendations, and requests of federal authorities.

Section 16. Rules and executive orders. Notwithstanding the exemption from the provisions of the Montana Administrative Procedure Act granted to the governor in Title 2, chapter 4, MCA, the governor may adopt rules necessary to implement [this act] and cause their adoption and publication to be completed in the same manner as the adoption and publication of agency rules. In addition, executive orders of the governor implementing provisions of [this act] shall be published in the Montana Administrative Register upon request of the governor.

Section 17. Civil defense laws supplemented. The powers vested in the governor under [this act] are in addition to and not in lieu of emergency powers vested in him under Title 10, chapter 3, or any other law of Montana.

Section 18. Governor may authorize expenditure. The governor may authorize the incurring of liabilities and expenses to be paid as other claims against the state from the general fund, in the amount necessary, when an energy emergency is declared by the governor and justifies the expenditure as set forth in 10-3-311 for other emergency or disaster expenditures.

Section 19. Penalties. A person convicted of violating [this act] is guilty of a misdemeanor. Each day of violation, after notice of violation, constitutes a separate offense.

Section 20. Severability. If a part of this act is invalid, all valid parts that are severable from the invalid part remain in effect. If a part of this act is invalid in one or more of its applications, the part remains in effect in all valid applications that are severable from the invalid applications.

Section 21. Period of effectiveness. This act is effective on passage and approval and remains in effect until July 1, 1985.

CHAPTER NO. 475

AN ACT TO ADOPT A CODE OF FAIR CAMPAIGN PRACTICES AND TO PROVIDE AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL CANDIDATES TO SUBSCRIBE TO THAT CODE.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Adoption of code of fair campaign practices. The following code of fair campaign practices is adopted by Montana:

There are basic principles of decency, honesty, and fair play that every candidate for public office in the United States has a moral obligation to observe and uphold, in order that, after vigorously contested but fairly conducted campaigns, our citizens may exercise their constitutional right to a free and untrammeled choice and the will of the people may be fully and clearly expressed on the issues before the country. Therefore:

I will conduct my campaign in the best American tradition, discussing the issues as I see them, presenting my record and policies with sincerity and frankness, and criticizing without fear or favor the record and policies of my opponent and his party which merit such criticism.

I will defend and uphold the right of every qualified American voter to full and equal participation in the electoral process.

I will conduct my campaign without the use of personal vilification, character defamation, whispering campaigns, libel, slander, or scurrilous attacks on my opposition or his personal or family life.

I will not use campaign material of any sort which misrepresents, distorts, or otherwise falsifies the facts, nor will I use malicious or unfounded accusations which aim at creating or exploiting doubts, without justification, as to the loyalty and patriotism of my opposition.

I will not make any appeal to prejudice based on race, sex, creed, or national origin.

I will not undertake or condone any dishonest or unethical practice which tends to corrupt or undermine our American system of free elections or which hampers or prevents the full and free expression of the will of the voters.

Insofar as is possible, I will immediately and publicly repudiate support deriving from any individual or group which resorts, on behalf of my candidacy or in opposition to that of my opponent, to the methods and tactics that I have pledged not to use or condone.

Section 2. Candidates to be given opportunity to subscribe to campaign practices code — publicity. (1) The commissioner of campaign practices shall prepare a form which contains the code of fair campaign practices provided for in [section 1] and a place for a candidate to sign the form and to indicate that the candidate endorses, subscribes to, and pledges to abide by the code.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1171 1979

(2) Each candidate required to file statements or reports with the commissioner shall be sent a copy of this form. Signing the form is voluntary, and a failure or refusal to sign is not a violation of the election laws. A form shall be sent for each election as soon as feasible. The signed form shall be returned to the commissioner.

(3) The commissioner shall supply the secretary of state, the county registrars, and the city and town clerks with forms. Any candidate not required to file with the commissioner but wishing to subscribe to the code may obtain the form from the commissioner, the secretary of state, a county registrar, or a city or town clerk and may sign the form and deliver it to the commissioner.

(3) Residents shall have the same rights and access to private telephone communication as patients at any public hospital except to the extent that a professional person responsible for formulation of a particular resident's habilitation plan writes an order imposing special restrictions and explains the reasons for any such restrictions. The written order must be renewed monthly if any restrictions are to be continued.

(4) Residents shall have an unrestricted right to visitation except to the extent that a professional person responsible for formulation of a particular resident's habilitation plan writes an order imposing special restrictions and explains the reasons for any such restrictions. Section 6. Section 53-20-144, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-20-144. Rights concerning photographs. (1) A person admitted to a residential facility may be photographed upon admission for identification, medical, habilitative, and administrative purposes of the facility. Such photographs shall be confidential and shall not be released by the facility except pursuant to court order.

(2) No other nonmedical or nonhabilitative photographs shall be taken or used without consent of the resident's parents or guardian or the responsible person appointed by the court."

Section 7. Section 53-20-145, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-20-145. Right to be free from unnecessary or excessive medication. Residents have a right to be free from unnecessary or excessive medication. No medication shall be administered unless at the written order of a physician. The professional person in charge of the facility and the attending physician shall be responsible for all medication given or administered to a resident. The use of medication shall not exceed standards of use that are advocated by the United States food and drug administration. Notation of each individual's medication shall be kept in his medical records. A pharmacist or a registered nurse shall review monthly the record of each resident on medication for potential adverse reactions, allergies, interactions, contraindications, rationality, and laboratory test modifications and shall advise the physician of any problems. Medications shall be reviewed quarterly by the attending or staff physician. At least monthly an attending physician shall review the drug regimen of each patient on psychotropic medication. All prescriptions shall be written with a termination date that may not exceed 90 days. Medication for newly admitted residents shall be reviewed and reordered as necessary upon admission and then every 30 days for the first 90 days. Medications shall not be used as punishment, for the convenience of staff, as a substitute for program, or in quantities that interfere with the resident's treatment program. Nothing in this section may be interpreted to relieve any physician or other professional or medical staff person from any obligation to adequately monitor the medication of any resident, with due consideration to the nature of the medication, the purpose for which it is given, and the condition of the resident."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1199 1979

Section 8. Section 53-20-146, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-20-146. Right not to be subjected to certain treatment procedures. (1) Residents of a residential facility shall have a right not to be subjected to any unusual or hazardous treatment procedures without the express and informed consent of the resident, if the resident is able to give such consent, and of his parents or guardian or the responsible person appointed by the court after opportunities for consultation with independent specialists and legal counsel. Such proposed procedures shall first have been reviewed and approved by the mental disabilities board of visitors before such consent shall be sought.

(2) Physical restraint shall be employed only when absolutely necessary to protect the resident from injury to himself or to prevent injury to others. Mechanical supports used to achieve proper body position and balance which are ordered by a physician are not considered a physical restraint. Restraint shall not be employed as punishment, for the convenience of staff, or as a substitute for a habilitation program. Restraint shall be applied only if alternative techniques have failed and only if such restraint imposes the least possible restriction consistent with its purpose. Only a professional person may authorize the use of restraints. Orders for restraints by a professional person shall be in writing and shall not be in force for longer than 12 hours. Whenever physical restraint is ordered, suitable provision shall be made for the comfort and physical needs of the person restrained.

(3) Seclusion, defined as the placement of a resident alone in a locked room for nontherapeutic purposes, shall not be employed. Legitimate "time out" procedures may be utilized under close and direct professional supervision as a technique in behavior-shaping programs.

(4) Behavior modification programs involving the use of noxious or aversive stimuli shall be reviewed and approved by the mental disabilities board of visitors and shall be conducted only with the express and informed consent of the affected resident, if the resident is able to give such consent, and of his parents or guardian or the responsible person appointed by the court after opportunities for consultation with independent specialists and with legal counsel. Such behavior modification programs shall be conducted only under the supervision of and in the presence of a professional person who has had proper training in such techniques.

(5) No resident shall be subjected to a behavior modification program which attempts to extinguish socially appropriate behavior or to develop new behavior patterns when such behavior modifications serve only institutional convenience.

(6) Electric shock devices shall be considered a research technique for the purpose of this part. Such devices shall be used only in extraordinary circumstances to prevent self-mutilation leading to repeated and possibly permanent physical damage to the resident and only after alternative techniques have failed. The use of such devices shall be subject to the conditions prescribed by this part for experimental research generally and shall be used only under the direct and specific order of the professional person in charge of the residential facility."

Section 9. Section 53-20-148, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-20-148. Right to habilitation. (1) Persons admitted to residential facilities shall have a right to habilitation, including medical treatment, education, and care suited to their needs, regardless of age, degree of retardation, or handicapping condition. Each resident has a right to a habilitation program which will maximize his human abilities and enhance his ability to cope with his environment. Every residential facility shall recognize that each resident, regardless of ability or status, is entitled to develop and realize his fullest potential. The facility shall implement the principle of normalization so that each resident may live as normally as possible.

(2) Residents shall have a right to the least restrictive conditions necessary to achieve the purposes of habilitation. To this end, the facility shall make every attempt to move residents from:

(a) more to less structured living;

(b) larger to smaller facilities;

(c) larger to smaller living units;

(d) group to individual residence;

(e) segregated from the community to integrated into the community living;

(f) dependent to independent living.

(3) Within 30 days of his admission to a residential facility, each resident shall have an evaluation by appropriate specialists for programming purposes.

(4) Each resident shall have an individualized habilitation plan formulated by the facility. This plan shall be developed by appropriate professional persons and implemented as soon as possible, but no later than 30 days after the resident's admission to the facility. An interim program of habilitation, based on the preadmission evaluation conducted pursuant to this part, shall commence promptly upon the resident's admission. Each individualized habilitation plan shall contain:

(a) a statement of the nature of the specific limitations and the needs of the resident;

(b) a description of intermediate and long-range habilitation goals with a projected timetable for their attainment;

(c) a statement of and an explanation for the plan of habilitation for achieving these intermediate and long-range goals;

(d) a statement of the least restrictive setting for habilitation necessary to achieve the habilitation goals of the resident;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1201 1979

(e) a specification of the professional persons and other staff members who are responsible for the particular resident's attaining these habilitation goals;

(f) criteria for release to less restrictive settings for habilitation, based on the resident's needs, including criteria for discharge and a projected date for discharge.

(5) As part of his habilitation plan, each resident shall have an individualized postinstitutionalization plan that includes an identification of services needed to make a satisfactory community placement possible. This plan shall be developed by a professional person who shall begin preparation of such plan upon the resident's admission to the institution and shall complete such plan as soon as practicable. The parents or guardian or next of kin of the resident, the responsible person appointed by the court, if any, and the resident, if able to give informed consent, shall be consulted in the development of such plan and shall be informed of the content of such plan.

(6) In the interests of continuity of care, one professional person shall whenever possible be responsible for supervising the implementation of the habilitation plan, integrating the various aspects of the habilitation program, and recording the resident's progress as measured by objective indicators. This professional person shall also be responsible for ensuring that the resident is released when appropriate to a less restrictive habilitation setting.

(7) The habilitation plan shall be reviewed monthly by the professional person responsible for supervising the implementation of the plan and shall be modified if necessary. In addition, 6 months after admission and at least annually thereafter, each resident shall receive a comprehensive psychological, social, habilitative, and medical diagnosis and evaluation and his habilitation plan shall be reviewed by an interdisciplinary team of no less than two professional persons and such resident care workers as are directly involved in his habilitation and care. A habilitation plan shall be reviewed monthly.

(8) Each resident placed in the community shall receive transitional habilitation assistance.

(9) The professional person in charge of the residential facility shall report in writing to the parents or guardian of the resident or the responsible person at least every 6 months on the resident's habilitation and medical condition. Such report shall also state any appropriate habilitation program which has not been afforded to the resident because of inadequate habilitation resources.

(10) The parents or guardian of each resident or the responsible person appointed by the court shall promptly upon the resident's admission receive a written copy of all the above standards for adequate habilitation. Each resident, if the resident is able to comprehend, shall promptly upon his admission be orally informed in clear language of the above standards and, where appropriate, be provided with a written copy. In addition, the parents, guardian, responsible person, and where able to comprehend, the resident shall receive such other information concerning the care and habilitation of the resident as may be available to assist them in understanding the situation of the resident and the rights of the resident in the institution."

Section 10. Section 53-20-161, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-20-161. Maintenance of records. (1) Complete records for each resident shall be maintained and shall be readily available to professional persons, to the resident-care workers who are directly involved with the particular resident, and to the mental disabilities board of visitors. All information contained in a resident's records shall be considered privileged and confidential. The parents or guardian, the responsible person appointed by the court, and any person properly authorized in writing by the resident, if such resident is capable of giving informed consent, or by his parents or guardian or the responsible person shall be permitted access to the resident's records. No information may be released from the records of a resident or former resident of the residential facility unless the release of such information has been properly authorized in writing by:

(h) the superintendent of the residential facility or his designee as custodian of a resident of that facility whenever release is required by federal or state law or department of social and rehabilitation services rules.

(2) Information may not be released by a superintendent or his designee as set forth in subsection (1)(f), (1)(g), or (1)(h) less than 15 days after sending notice of the proposed release of information to the resident, his parents or guardian, the attorney who most recently represented the resident, if any, the responsible person appointed by the court, if any, and the court which ordered the admission. If any of the parties so notified objects to the release of information, they may petition the court for a hearing to determine whether the release of information should be allowed. No information may be released pursuant to subsection (1)(f), (1)(g), or (1)(h) unless it is released to further some legitimate need of the resident or to accomplish a legitimate purpose of the institution which is not inconsistent with the needs and rights of the resident. No information may be released pursuant to these subsections except in accordance with written policies consistent with the requirements of this part adopted by the institution. Persons receiving notice of a proposed release of information shall also receive a copy of the written policy of the institution governing release of information.

(3) These records shall include:

(i) a medication history and status;

(j) a summary of each significant contact by a professional person with a resident;

(k) a summary of the resident's response to his habilitation plan, prepared by a professional person involved in the resident's habilitation and recorded at least monthly. Wherever possible, such response shall be scientifically documented.

(l) a monthly summary of the extent and nature of the resident's work activities and the effect of such activity upon the resident's progress along the habilitation plan;

"53-20-164. Resident labor. The following rules shall govern resident labor:

(1) No resident shall be required to perform labor which involves the operation and maintenance of the facility or for which the facility is under contract with an outside organization. Privileges or release from the facility shall not be conditioned upon the performance of labor covered by this provision. Residents may voluntarily engage in such labor if the labor is compensated in accordance with the minimum wage laws of the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C., sec. 206, as amended.

(2) No resident shall be involved in the care (feeding, clothing, bathing), training, or supervision of other residents unless he:

(a) has volunteered;

(b) has been specifically trained in the necessary skills;

(c) has the humane judgment required for such activities;

(d) is adequately supervised; and

(e) is reimbursed in accordance with the minimum wage laws of the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C., sec. 206, as amended.

(3) Residents may be required to perform vocational training tasks which do not involve the operation and maintenance of the facility, subject to a presumption that an assignment of longer than 3 months to any task is not a training task, provided the specific task or any change in task assignment is:

(a) an integrated part of the resident's habilitation plan and approved as a habilitation activity by a professional person responsible for supervising the resident's habilitation;

(b) supervised by a staff member to oversee the habilitation aspects of the activity.

(4) Residents may voluntarily engage in habilitative labor at nonprogram hours for which the facility would otherwise have to pay an employee, provided the specific labor or any change in labor is:

(a) an integrated part of the resident's habilitation plan and approved as a habilitation activity by a professional person responsible for supervising the resident's habilitation;

(b) supervised by a staff member to oversee the habilitation aspects of the activity; and

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1205 1979

(c) compensated in accordance with the minimum wage laws of the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C., sec. 206, as amended.

(5) If any resident performs habilitative labor which involves the operation and maintenance of a facility but due to physical or mental disability is unable to perform the labor as efficiently as a person not so physically or mentally disabled, then such resident may be compensated at a rate which bears the same approximate relation to the statutory minimum wage as his ability to perform that particular job bears to the ability of a person not so afflicted.

(6) Residents may be required to perform tasks of a personal housekeeping nature, such as the making of one's own bed.

(7) Deductions or payments for care and other charges shall not deprive a resident of a reasonable amount of the compensation received pursuant to this section for personal and incidental purchases and expenses.

(8) Staffing shall be sufficient so that the facility is not dependent upon the use of residents or volunteers for the care, maintenance, or habilitation of other residents or for income-producing services. The facility shall formulate a written policy to protect the residents from exploitation when they are engaged in productive work."

Section 12. Clothing for residents discharged or conditionally released. A resident may not be discharged or conditionally released from a residential facility for the developmentally disabled without suitable reasonable clothing that will allow the resident to make a normal appearance in the community.

Section 13. Codification. Section 12 is intended to be codified as an integral part of Title 53, chapter 20, part 1, and the provisions of Title 53, chapter 20, part 1, apply to section 12.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 81-4-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"81-4-301. Herd districts — creation, size, and location. (1) Herd districts may be created in any county in the state of Montana upon petition of owners or possessors of 55% of the land in such district and providing 25% or more of the land in such district is in actual cultivation or being used for residential purposes. Such districts must contain 12 square miles or more, lying not less than 1 mile in width, outside of the incorporated cities, except that herd districts may be created containing not less than 6 or more than 54 square miles, lying not less than 2 miles in width, when such territory joins and is contiguous with the boundaries of a city having a population of 10,000 or more and such territory so to be created in a herd district has a suburban population of not less than 200 people.

(2) In formation of such a district the entire holding of any owner or lessee must be included unless such owner or lessee consents that less than his entire contiguous holdings be included in the petition.

(3) Such petition shall designate the months of the year when the herd district is effective, and upon presentation and filing of such petition, properly signed, giving the outside boundaries and description of the proposed district and the post-office address of the signers thereto, with the clerk and recorder in the county in which the said district is being created, the county commissioners of such county, upon receipt thereof, shall set a date for hearing protests and verifying the signatures thereto and shall give not less than 20 days' notice of the same by three publications in a newspaper of general circulation in the county of the proposed district. At the hearing held pursuant to such notices, the county commissioners shall examine the petition and shall cause a map to be made in order to determine the shape and regularity of the boundaries of the proposed district. The commissioners may then establish the district, but such district shall be established only in such manner that the district will be reasonably regular and symmetrical in shape or practicable in relation to the geographical features of such district. It is not required that the boundaries of any district follow section lines to meet the requirement of reasonably regular and symmetrical boundaries.

(4) Should it appear to such county commissioners after such hearing that the signatures attached to such petition were genuine, they shall immediately declare such herd district created and established; after which the county commissioners must give notice by four weekly publications in some newspaper nearest the district of the creation of such districts, also stating the period such districts will be in effect. Such districts shall not be in effect until 30 days have expired after the order.

(5) Upon petition of any owner or possessor of lands lying contiguous and adjoining any herd district theretofore created and upon like hearing and notice as hereinabove provided for, such lands shall be included in said herd district and become a part thereof. Should the signature of lessee appear on the petition creating or abolishing any herd district, the owner or owners of said land may appear either in person or agent and enter their protest and the board of county commissioners shall remove the name of the lessee from said petition, and no person shall be permitted to withdraw his name after the hour set for hearing same."

Section 2. Section 81-4-306, MCA, is amended to read:

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 37-4-321, MCA, is amended to read:

"37-4-321. Grounds for disciplinary proceedings — range of sanctions. The board may censure, prescribe probation, suspend, or revoke any license issued under this chapter for any of the following causes:

(1) conviction of a felony or misdemeanor when the sentence imposed is imprisonment in the state prison. A certified copy of the conviction record from the district court imposing the sentence is conclusive evidence;

(2) physical or mental incompetence;

(3) gross malpractice or repeated malpractice;

"37-4-323. HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1223 1979

that the evidence obtained does not justify the imposition of sanctions, it must so notify the licensee concerned and the complaining party and take no further action.

(2) If the board finds that the evidence obtained does not warrant suspension or revocation of a license but does warrant other sanctions, it may either:

(a) issue a public or private decree of censure; or

(b) impose a probation with terms and conditions appropriately adapted under the circumstances of the particular case.

(3) The licensee is entitled to an opportunity for a contested case hearing before a sanction of censure or probation becomes effective to the same extent an opportunity for hearing is afforded prior to suspension or revocation.

(4) In addition to its authority to impose sanctions, the board may deny an application for a license for any of the following reasons:

(a) failure to meet the relevant requirements of Title 37, chapter 4;

(b) making any untrue or fraudulent statement in support of the application; or

Section 4. Section 37-4-405, MCA, is amended to read:

(2) The board may, in lieu of the direct supervision requirement set forth in subsection (1), permit a licensed dental hygienist to provide clinical dental hygiene services to a public or private institution, a hospital or extended care facility, or a school or public health program after a review by the board of a request for such service and a description of the type of supervision necessary is made by the board. For the purposes of this section "supervision" is defined as follows:

CHAPTER NO. 509

AN ACT DEFINING THE RESPONSIBILITY AND LIABILITY OF SKI AREA OPERATORS AND THE RESPONSIBILITY AND RISK BORNE BY SKIERS.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Purpose. It is recognized that there are inherent risks in the sport of skiing that are essentially impossible to eliminate by the ski area operator but that should be known by the skier. It is the purpose of [this act] to define those areas of responsibility and affirmative acts for which the ski area operator is liable for loss, damage, or injury and those risks for which the skier expressly assumes or shall be considered to have voluntarily assumed the risk of loss or damage and for which there can be no recovery.

Section 2. Definitions. As used in [this act], the following definitions apply:

(1) "Skier" means any person admitted to a ski area under the control of a ski area operator for the purpose of engaging in the sport of skiing by using the ski slopes, trails, and areas and does not include a person using an aerial passenger tramway.

(2) "Ski slopes, trails, and areas" means those areas designated by the ski area operator to be used by skiers for the purpose of participating in the sport of skiing.

Section 3. Duties of operator regarding ski areas. A ski area operator shall:

(1) mark all trail maintenance vehicles and furnish the vehicles with flashing or rotating lights that must be in operation whenever the vehicles are working or are in movement in the ski area;

(2) mark with a visible sign or other warning implement the location of any hydrant or similar equipment used in snowmaking operations and located on ski slopes, trails, and areas;

(3) maintain one or more trail boards at prominent locations at each ski area displaying that area's network of ski trails and slopes;

(4) post a notice of the requirement for the use of ski-retention devices;

(5) designate by trail board or otherwise which trails or slopes are open or closed.

Section 4. Duties of operator with respect to passenger tramways. A ski area operator shall construct, operate, maintain, and repair any passenger tramway in accordance with the rules of the department of administration. However, nothing in this section relieves an operator from the duty of taking whatever other actions are necessary to properly construct, operate, maintain, and repair a passenger tramway.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1251 1979

Section 5. Duties of passenger. No passenger may:

(1) board or disembark from a passenger tramway except at an area designated for such purposes;

(2) throw or expel any object from a passenger tramway;

(3) commit an act that interferes with the running or operation of a passenger tramway;

(4) use a passenger tramway unless the passenger has the ability to use it safely without any instruction on its use by the operator or requests and receives instruction before boarding;

(5) embark on a passenger tramway without the authority of the operator.

Section 6. Skier's assumption of responsibility — duties. (1) A skier assumes the risk and all legal responsibility for injury to himself or loss of property that results from participating in the sport of skiing by virtue of his participation. The assumption of risk and responsibility includes but is not limited to injury or loss caused by the following: variations in terrain, surface or subsurface snow or ice conditions, bare spots, rocks, trees, other forms of forest growth or debris, lift towers and components thereof, pole lines, and plainly marked or visible snowmaking equipment.

(2) A skier is responsible for knowing the range of his own ability to ski any slope, trail, or area and for skiing within the limits of his ability, skiing only on designated slopes and trails, maintaining control of speed and course at all times while skiing, heeding all posted warnings, and refraining from acting in a manner that may cause or contribute to the injury of anyone. The responsibility for collisions with a person or object while skiing, is the responsibility of the person or persons and not the responsibility of the ski area operator.

(3) A person who is skiing may not place an object in the ski area or on the uphill track of a passenger tramway that may cause a passenger or skier to fall, cross the track of a passenger tramway except at a designated and approved area, or if involved in a skiing accident, depart from the scene of the accident without leaving personal identification before notifying the proper authorities or obtaining assistance when the skier knows that a person involved in the accident is in need of medical or other assistance.

Section 7. Effect of comparative negligence. Notwithstanding any comparative negligence law in this state, a person is barred from recovery from a ski area operator for loss or damage resulting from any risk inherent in the sport of skiing as described in [section 6].

Approved April 9, 1979.

Section 6. Photographs and fingerprints. (1) The following agencies may, if authorized by subsections (2) through (5), collect, process, and preserve photographs and fingerprints:

(a) any criminal justice agency performing, under law, the functions of a police department or a sheriff's office, or both;

(c) the department of justice.

(2) The department of institutions may photograph and fingerprint anyone under the jurisdiction of the division of corrections or its successor.

(3) A criminal justice agency described in subsection (1)(a) shall photograph and fingerprint a person who has been arrested or noticed or summoned to appear to answer an information or indictment if:

(a) the charge is the commission of a felony;

(b) the identification of an accused is in issue; or

(c) it is required to do so by court order.

(4) Whenever a person charged with the commission of a felony is not arrested, he shall submit himself to the sheriff, chief of police, or other concerned law enforcement officer for fingerprinting at the time of his initial appearance in court to answer the information or indictment against him.

(7) The state repository shall compare the fingerprints received with those already on file in the state repository. If it is determined that the individual is wanted or is a fugitive from justice, the state repository shall at once inform the originating agency. If it is determined that the individual has a criminal record, the state repository shall send the originating agency a copy of the individual's complete criminal history record.

(i) if no charges were filed;

(ii) if a misdemeanor charge did not result in a conviction; or

(iii) if the individual was found innocent of the offense charged.

Section 7. Records — form, contents, limits on use. A criminal justice agency originating initial offense reports, initial arrest records, bail records, or daily jail occupancy rosters may maintain a chronological or numerical record of these items. These records may not contain any prior criminal history record information and may not be used to gain access to any other public criminal justice information.

Section 8. Record preservation. Unless required by federal law, expunging, purging, or destroying of criminal justice information is not required based on the length of time such records are held.

Section 9. Procedures to ensure accuracy of criminal history records. In order to ensure complete and accurate criminal history record information:

(1) the department of justice shall maintain a centralized state repository of criminal history record information to serve all criminal justice agencies in the state;

(2) dispositions resulting from formal proceedings in a court having jurisdiction in a criminal action against an individual who has been photographed and fingerprinted under [section 6] shall be reported to the originating agency and the state repository within 15 days. If the dispositions can readily be collected and reported through the court system, the dispositions may be submitted to the state repository by the administrative office of the courts.

(3) an originating agency shall advise the state repository within 30 days of all dispositions concerning the termination of criminal proceedings against an individual who has been photographed and fingerprinted under [section 6];

(4) the department of institutions shall advise the state repository within 30 days of all dispositions subsequent to conviction of an individual who has been photographed and fingerprinted under [section 6];

(5) each criminal justice agency shall query the state repository prior to dissemination of any criminal history record information to ensure the timeliness of the information. When no final disposition is shown by the state repository records, the state repository shall query the source of the document or other appropriate source for current status. Inquiries shall be made prior to any dissemination except in those cases in which time is of the essence and the repository is technically incapable of responding within the necessary time period. If time is of the essence, the inquiry shall still be made and the response shall be forwarded as soon as it is received.

(6) each criminal justice agency shall ensure that all its criminal justice information is complete, accurate, and current; and

(7) the department of justice shall adopt rules for criminal justice agencies other than those that are part of the judicial branch of government to implement this section. The department of justice may adopt rules for the same purpose for the judicial branch of government if the supreme court consents to the rules.

Section 10. Dissemination of public criminal justice information. (1) There are no restrictions on the dissemination of public criminal justice information except for the following:

(a) Whenever a record or index is compiled by name or universal identifier from a manual or automated system, only information about convictions, deferred prosecutions, or deferred sentences is available to the public.

(b) Whenever the conviction record reflects only misdemeanors or deferred prosecutions and whenever there are no convictions except for traffic, regulatory, or fish and game offenses for a period of 5 years from the date of the last conviction, no record or index may be disseminated pursuant to subsection (1)(a). However, the original documents are available to the public from the originating criminal justice agency.

(2) All public criminal justice information is available from the agency that is the source of the original documents and that is authorized to maintain the documents according to applicable law. These documents shall be open, subject to the restrictions in this section, during the normal business hours of the agency. A reasonable charge may be made by a criminal justice agency for providing a copy of public criminal justice information.

Section 11. Dissemination of criminal history record information that is not public criminal justice information. Criminal history record information may not be disseminated to agencies other than criminal justice agencies unless:

(1) the information is disseminated with the consent or at the request of the individual about whom it relates according to procedures specified in [sections 19 and 20];

(2) a district court considers dissemination necessary;

(3) the information is disseminated in compliance with [section 13]; or

(4) the agency receiving the information is authorized by law to receive it.

Section 12. Dissemination of confidential criminal justice information. Dissemination of confidential criminal justice information is restricted to criminal justice agencies or to those authorized by law to receive it. A criminal justice agency that accepts confidential criminal justice information assumes equal responsibility for the security of such information with the originating agency. Whenever confidential criminal justice information is disseminated, it must be designated as confidential.

Section 13. Development of statistical information — agreements as to access. (1) An individual or agency with the express purpose of developing statistical information may have access to criminal history record information pursuant to an agreement with a criminal justice agency. The agreement shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following provisions:

(a) specific authorization for access to specific information;

(b) a limitation on the use of the information to research, evaluative, or statistical purposes;

(c) assurance of the confidentiality and security of the information; and

(d) sanctions for violations of the agreement or this section.

(2) Proposed agreements and any completed research, statistical, or evaluative study or product developed from the use of statistical information is subject to review and approval by the department of justice to ensure compliance with [this act].

Section 14. Criminal justice information system security. Provisions for the recording, preservation, dissemination, and management of court records are made by statute and may be supplemented by supreme court rule. Any other criminal justice agency shall protect the security of any criminal justice information system, automated or manual, under its control by taking reasonable precautions and establishing procedures to protect the system and data stored in the system from damage and for the prevention of and recovery from hazards such as fire, flood, power failure, and entry into secure areas by unauthorized persons.

Section 15. Automated equipment security. In an automated criminal justice information system, information shall be collected, processed, and preserved on a computer dedicated solely to criminal justice information, except that, if this is impractical, a central computer may be used if adequate safeguards are built into the criminal justice information system to prevent unauthorized inquiry, modification, or destruction of criminal justice information in conformity with the current federal regulations in 28 C.F.R. section 20.21(f) or any amendment thereto.

Section 16. Computer programming security. Procedures for each automated criminal justice information system shall assure that the information is secured by the following programming techniques and security procedures:

(1) the assignment of a terminal identification code to each terminal authorized to access the criminal justice information system;

(2) the assignment of a unique identification number to each authorized terminal operator, which number must be used to gain access to the files;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1284 1979

(3) the maintenance of a record of each inquiry to identify the inquiring agency, the program used to make the inquiry, the date of the inquiry, and the name of the file being queried;

(4) computer programming controls to ensure that each terminal user can obtain only that information which the user is authorized to use;

(5) creation and use of a safe place for storage of duplicate computer files;

(6) built-in program controls to ensure that each terminal is limited to the appropriate or authorized information that can be input, modified, or canceled from it;

(7) destruction or safeguarding of system documentation and data input forms; and

(8) creation of reports to provide for an audit trail and periodic review of file accessed, modifications, and deletions. All criminal justice intelligence information shall be identified as such.

Section 17. Manual equipment security. In a manual criminal justice information system, information shall be protected as follows:

(1) provision of adequate physical security;

(2) marking of all criminal justice intelligence information and precautions against unauthorized copying; and

(3) establishment of a log of each external inquiry to reflect the identity of the inquirer, the date of inquiry, and the name of the files being queried.

Section 18. Personnel security. Each automated or manual criminal justice information system, except those that are or may be maintained by courts of criminal jurisdiction, shall establish the following procedures to ensure that personnel security is achieved and maintained:

(1) Applicants for employment and persons presently employed to work with or in a computer center or manual system that processes criminal justice information are subject to investigation by the employing agency to establish their honesty and fitness to handle sensitive information. Consent to such an investigation may be a prerequisite to the processing of an employment application.

(2) The character and fitness of criminal justice information system personnel to handle sensitive information, including personnel working with manual criminal justice file systems and terminal operators as well as personnel working with the system at a central computer, shall be reviewed by the employing agency periodically. Serious violations or deficiencies under this section are grounds for dismissal.

(3) Each criminal justice agency shall develop and maintain an in-service training program and security manual to ensure that each employee who works with or has access to the criminal justice information system annually reviews and understands the nature and importance of the system's security provisions.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1285 1979

(4) With regard to automated systems, the criminal justice agency shall screen and may reject for employment and initiate or cause to be initiated administrative action relating to employees having direct access to criminal history record information as required by federal regulations in 28 C.F.R. section 20.21(f) or any amendment thereto.

Section 19. Inspection or transfer of criminal history records. (1) An individual or his agent may inspect any criminal history record information maintained about the individual or transfer copies of that information to any other person upon the presentation of satisfactory identification to the criminal justice agency maintaining the criminal history record information. Fingerprints may be required for identification. An agent must also submit a notarized authorization from his principal or an authorization order from a district court.

(2) If an individual's criminal history record information is maintained in the state repository, copies of the records shall be transferred to the local agency for inspection upon proper request of the individual or his agent. A local agency shall honor a verified affidavit accompanying a request by an individual for a transfer of copies of criminal history record information concerning that individual to a criminal justice agency of another state for the purpose of complying with [this act].

(3) (a) An individual may request inspection or transfer of copies, or both, of criminal history record information only during normal working hours.

(b) Copies of records may be made by or at the request of a properly identified individual or his authorized agent. If a machine for making copies is not reasonably available, the individual or his agent may make handwritten copies. A charge, not to exceed the cost of labor and materials, may be made by the agency for machine-produced copies. Each copy must be clearly marked to indicate that it is for inspection only.

(c) An agency employee should be available to answer questions concerning record content. A record of each request to inspect records under this section must be maintained.

Section 20. Challenge and correction. (1) After inspection of criminal history record information, an individual may contest the accuracy or completeness, or both, of the information about himself.

(2) If the agency maintaining the criminal history record information does not correct it to the individual's satisfaction, the individual may request review and correction by the executive head of the agency.

(3) If the requested correction is denied by the head of the agency, the individual may present a challenge to the department of justice.

(4) If the agency in charge of the record in question can verify the accuracy of its record by communication with the originating criminal justice agency, it shall do so. If accuracy or completeness cannot be verified and the agency primarily originating the information containing the alleged error or omission is in the state, the individual shall address his challenge to that agency. If information necessary to verify the accuracy or completeness of the record cannot be obtained by the originating agency, it may rely on verified written documents or include the individual's allegation in its records in dissemination until there is a final disposition of the challenge.

(5) If the challenge is successful, the agency shall:

(a) supply to the individual, if requested, a list of those noncriminal justice agencies which have received copies of the criminal history record information about the individual; and

(b) immediately correct its records and notify all criminal justice agencies to which it has given erroneous or incomplete information of these changes.

Section 21. Dissemination of copied or inspected records. (1) Criminal justice agencies shall maintain a record of all agencies and individuals to which or whom copies of criminal history record information have been disseminated.

(2) A criminal justice agency supplying criminal history record information to an individual upon request is not responsible for the use or secondary dissemination of copied or inspected information and is not required to furnish updated information except upon a subsequent request by the individual.

Section 22. Sanctions. The sanctions provided in 44-2-205 apply to any knowing or purposeful violation of [this act].

Section 23. Department of justice — powers. The department of justice may:

(1) adopt rules necessary to carry out the purposes of [this act];

(2) hear and decide contested cases or challenges that may arise under the provisions of the Montana Administrative Procedure Act;

(3) conduct audits of the criminal history record information systems of a representative sample of state and local criminal justice agencies chosen annually on a random basis to determine whether they are in compliance with the provisions of [this act]. The function authorized in this subsection may not be assigned to any subagency that has supervisory authority over any criminal justice information system.

Section 24. Court order to enforce compliance. Any person may apply for an order from a district court to enforce compliance with any provision of [this act].

Section 25. Saving clause. This act does not affect rights and duties that matured, penalties that were incurred, or proceedings that were begun before the effective date of this act.

Section 26. Severability. If a part of this act is invalid, all valid parts that are severable from the invalid part remain in effect. If a part of this act is invalid in one or more of its applications, the part remains in effect in all valid applications that are severable from the invalid applications.

Section 27. Repealer. Sections 44-2-103, 44-2-203, and 44-2-204, MCA, are repealed.

Approved April 10, 1979.

Section 6. Answer to allegations concerning use of property. Within 20 days after the mailing or publication of the notice, the owner or claimant of the seized property shall file a verified answer to the allegations concerning the use of the property contained in the notice of seizure and intention to institute forfeiture proceedings. No extension of the time for filing the answer may be granted, and failure to answer within 20 days bars the owner or claimant from presenting evidence at any subsequent evidentiary hearing unless extraordinary circumstances exist.

Section 7. Procedure following answer or expiration of time for answering. (1) If a verified answer to the notice is not filed within 20 days after the mailing or publication of the notice, the court shall hear evidence on the charge of unlawful use of the property and upon motion may order the property forfeited to the state.

investigation of the moral responsibility, character, and reputation of the purchaser and without knowledge that the property was being or was to be used for the purpose charged. However, no person who has a lien dependent upon possession for compensation to which he is legally entitled for making repairs or performing labor upon, furnishing supplies or materials for, or providing storage, repair, or safekeeping of any property and no person doing business under any law of this state or the United States relating to financial institutions, as defined in 32-6-103, loan companies, or licensed pawnbrokers or regularly engaged in the business of selling the property or of purchasing conditional sales contracts for the property may be required to prove that his security interest was created after a reasonable investigation of the moral responsibility, character, and reputation of the owner, purchaser, or person in possession of the property when it was brought to such person.

Section 9. Disposition of property following hearing. (1) If the court finds that the property was not used for the purpose charged, it shall order the property released to the owner of record as of the date of the seizure.

(2) If the court finds that the property was used for the purpose charged, the property shall be disposed of as follows:

(a) If proper proof of his claim is presented at the hearing by the holder of a security interest, the court shall order the property released to the holder of the security interest if the amount due him is equal to or in excess of the value of the property as of the date of seizure, it being the purpose of [this act] to forfeit only the right, title, or interest of the owner. If the amount due the holder of the security interest is less than the value of the property, the property must be sold at public auction by the sheriff of the county in which the seizure was made in the same manner provided by law for the sale of property under execution or the state may return the property to the holder of the security interest without proceeding with an auction.

(b) If no claimant exists and the confiscating agency wishes to retain the property for its official use, it may do so. If such property is not to be retained, it must be sold as provided in subsection (2)(a).

(c) If a claimant who has presented proper proof of his claim exists and the confiscating agency wishes to retain the property for its official use, it may do so provided it compensates the claimant in the amount of the security interest outstanding at the time of the seizure.

Section 10. Disposition of proceeds of sale. Whenever property is seized, forfeited, and sold under the provisions of [this act], the net proceeds of the sale must be distributed as follows:

(1) to the holders of security interests who have presented proper proof of their claims, if any, up to the amount of their interests in the property;

(2) the remainder, if any, to the county treasurer of the county in which the property was seized, for deposit in the county general fund, except as provided in subsection (3);

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1299 1979

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Legislative finding. (1) The legislature finds that the Daly ditch water project:

(a) would need extensive and costly repairs if operation of the project were to continue;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1305 1979

(b) has been historically operating at a loss since the state has owned and operated the project;

(c) would require increasing subsidization from the general fund for future operation of the project; and

(d) is, therefore, financially unsound.

(2) The legislature finds further that:

(a) the useful life of the Daly ditch water project to the state of Montana is at an end; and

(b) the Daly ditch water project should be disposed of by the state of Montana.

(3) Therefore, the legislature directs the department to dispose of the project as provided in [section 3] and to cancel and write off accounts receivable carried on the books of the department. If the department is not able to dispose of the project as provided in [section 3], then the project shall be abandoned as provided in [section 4].

(2) Upon conveyance of the project, the department shall transfer all water rights, real property, personal property, equipment, fixtures, headgates, structures, canals, dikes, lateral ditches, dams, and reservoirs related to the project.

Section 4. Abandonment of project. (1) If the project is not disposed of as provided in [section 3], the department shall abandon the project no later than December 31, 1982.

The department shall establish procedures for canceling and writing off accounts receivable, and the procedures shall include the reporting of the canceling and writing off of the accounts receivable to the next session of the legislature.

Section 8. Other laws and rules superseded. This act supersedes other laws and rules. If any provision of this act is in conflict with any other law of this state or any rule adopted thereunder, this act governs and controls and the other law or rule is superseded for the purpose of this act.

CHAPTER NO. 535

AN ACT TO REQUIRE THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE TO ESTABLISH RULES FOR THE APPROVAL OF DUTCH ELM DISEASE CONTROL PROGRAMS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTS AND ESTABLISH THE ELIGIBILITY OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTS WITH APPROVED PROGRAMS FOR FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Purpose. The legislature finds that an epidemic of Dutch elm disease is occurring in Montana which threatens the natural environment. Immediate action is therefore necessary to provide funds to assist local governments in the implementation of Dutch elm disease control programs by conducting reforestation, sanitation, and wood utilization or disposal systems, increasing public awareness of Dutch elm disease, accelerating training of tree inspectors and research for disease prevention, and subsidizing private property owners for the removal of diseased elm trees.

Section 2. Definitions. As used in [this act], the following definitions apply:

(1) "Department" means the department of agriculture.

(2) "Local government" means any political subdivision, including any city or town, whether exercising self-government powers or general government powers, county, or any combination formed under the Interlocal Cooperation Act.

(3) "Reforestation" means the replacement of elm trees removed from public property as part of an approved disease control program.

(4) "Public property" includes private property within 5 feet of the boulevard or street terrace in any city which has enacted an ordinance on or before July 1, 1981, that prohibits or requires a permit for the planting of trees in the public right-of-way.

(5) "Sanitation" means the identification, inspection, or disruption of a common root system and girdling, trimming, removal, and disposal of dead or diseased wood of elm or oak shade trees.

(6) "Wood utilization or disposal system" means facilities, equipment, or systems used for the removal and disposal of diseased trees.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1308 1979

Section 3. Department to adopt rules. (1) The department shall adopt rules that will apply to local governments. A rule will not apply to a local government if an ordinance is adopted which is more stringent as determined by the department.

(2) The rules shall prescribe control measures to be used to prevent the spread of Dutch elm disease and shall include the following:

(a) qualifications for tree inspectors;

(b) methods to be used for identifying diseased shade trees;

(c) procedures for giving reasonable notice of inspection of private real property;

(d) measures for the removal of any elm tree that may contribute to the spread of Dutch elm disease;

(e) methods of reforestation in areas under an approved Dutch elm disease control program; and

(f) any other rule considered by the department as necessary to insure that approved disease control programs will prevent the spread of Dutch elm disease.

Section 4. Authority of local government to require removal or to remove diseased elm trees — assessment of costs. (1) Local governments with Dutch elm disease control programs approved by the department may inspect private real property after giving reasonable notice for the presence of Dutch elm disease.

(2) An owner of the real property on which a diseased elm tree is located may be required to remove or treat the tree within the period of time and in the manner established by the department.

(3) Diseased elm trees that are not removed or treated by approved methods by the department, after issuance of an order to that effect by the local government, may be declared a public nuisance and removed or treated by the local government. The local government may assess an amount up to the actual expense upon the landowner, and the assessment shall be a lien on the property. In addition a local government may assess to the abutting properties up to 50% of the actual expenses of treating or removing with approved methods diseased elm trees located on street terraces or boulevards, and the assessment constitutes a lien on the property.

Section 5. Approval of disease control programs — eligibility for grants. The department, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing, shall approve any program for the control of Dutch elm disease submitted to the department that complies with the rules adopted by the department pursuant to [section 3] and that is determined to be an effective program for preventing the spread of Dutch elm disease. A disease control program must be approved before the local government is eligible for grants available in [section 6]. A local government may make application for a grant at the same time approval of a disease control program is sought.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1309 1979

Section 6. Grants to local governments — administration — limitations on grants. (1) The department may, within the limit of appropriations provided, make grants to local governments with approved disease control programs for the partial funding of sanitation and reforestation programs.

(2) The department shall make rules for the administration of grants authorized by this section. The rules shall establish and contain as a minimum:

(a) procedures for grant applications;

(b) conditions and procedures for the administration of grants; and

(c) such other matters as the director may find necessary for the proper administration of the grant program.

(3) Grant payments for wood utilization and disposal systems made by the department pursuant to this section may not exceed 50% of the total cost of the system.

(4) Grants to any local government for sanitation may not exceed 45% of sanitation costs approved by the department, including any amount of sanitation costs paid by special assessments, ad valorem taxes, federal grants, or other funds. A local government may not specially assess a property owner any amount greater than the amount of the tree's sanitation cost minus the amount of the tree's sanitation cost reimbursed by the department.

(5) Grants to local governments for reforestation may not exceed the lesser of 50% of the cost or $40 multiplied by the number of trees planted pursuant to the reforestation program and are limited for any local government in any year to grants for not more than the number of trees removed on public property in the sanitation program in the previous year, except during the first year of any approved disease control program.

(6) Based on estimates of the costs for the succeeding quarter under an approved program of wood utilization and disposal systems, sanitation, and reforestation submitted by a local government, the department shall direct quarterly advance payments to be made by the state to the local government. The department shall direct adjustment of any overestimate in a succeeding quarter. A local government may elect to receive the proceeds of its sanitation and reforestation grants on a periodic cost reimbursement basis.

Section 7. Subsidies to certain owners. A local government may provide subsidies to nonprofit organizations, to owners of private residential property of 5 acres or less, to owners of property used for a homestead of more than 5 acres but less than 20 acres, and to nonprofit cemeteries for the approved treatment or removal of diseased elm trees. An owner of property on which elm trees are located may contract with a local government to provide protection against the cost of approved treatment or removal of diseased elm trees or elm trees that will contribute to the spread of elm tree diseases. Under such contracts, the local government shall pay for the removal or approved treatment under such terms and conditions as may be determined by the governing body of the local government.

Section 8. Appointment of tree inspector — certification by the department — provision for decertification. (1) Each local government with an approved disease control program shall appoint a qualified person to be known as the tree inspector to administer the rules of the department or the more stringent local ordinances concerning elm tree disease in that disease control area. Two or more local governments may jointly appoint a tree inspector.

(2) Upon a determination by the department that a candidate for the position of the inspector is qualified, it shall issue a certificate to the tree inspector that he is so qualified. Any person certified as a tree inspector by the department is authorized to enter and inspect any public or private property in that disease control area that might harbor diseased elm trees, provided prior notice is given as required by rules of the department made pursuant to [section 3].

(3) The department may upon notice and an opportunity for a hearing decertify any tree inspector when it appears that the tree inspector has failed to act competently or in the public interest in the performance of his duties. Nothing in this subsection limits or otherwise affects the authority of the department to dismiss or suspend a tree inspector at its discretion, except as otherwise provided by law.

Section 9. Financing. (1) A local government may collect the amount assessed against the property under [section 4] as a special assessment.

(2) After a contract for the sanitation or approved treatment of trees on private property has been let or the work commenced, the local government may issue bonds financed by special assessments imposed upon the private property to defray the expense of the work.

Section 10. Deposit of proceeds in a separate fund. The proceeds of any tax levied, assessments and interest collected, or any bonds issued under [section 9] and any grants received under [section 6] must be deposited by the local government in a separate fund and expended only for the purposes authorized in [this act].

Section 11. Experimental programs. The department may establish experimental programs for sanitation or treatment of elm tree diseases. The department may make grants to local governments or enter into contracts with municipal, state, or federal agencies in connection with experimental elm tree disease control programs.

Section 12. Reports to the legislature. On or before January 31 of each year, the department shall report to the legislature on the preceding year's approved disease control programs and any experimental programs conducted pursuant to [section 12].

Section 13. Department to accept funds — responsibility and liability limited. The department is authorized to accept funds from any source available for use in this program. The responsibility and liability of the department to conduct or participate in this program shall be limited to the amount of funds available.

A paper may not be marked with the name of an applicant, but shall be anonymously graded by the department. The examination passing grade is 75%.

(2) If it is determined that the applicant has passed the examination, the department, on payment by the applicant of the fee, shall issue to the applicant a license which authorizes him to engage in the business, trade, or calling of a residential electrician, journeyman electrician, or master electrician.

Section 3. Section 53-21-111, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-111. Voluntary admission. (1) Nothing in this part may be construed in any way as limiting the right of any person to make voluntary application for admission at any time to any mental health facility or professional person. (2) Any applicant who wishes to voluntarily apply for admission to the state hospital shall first obtain certification from a professional person that the applicant is suffering from a mental disorder and that the facilities available to the mental health region in which the applicant resides are unable to provide adequate evaluation and treatment, except such certification is not necessary if the applicant obtains certification from the regional mental health director of his mental health region that the applicant is financially unable to receive evaluation and treatment from the facilities available to the mental health region.

(2) Except as provided by this subsection, voluntary admission of a minor to a mental health facility for an inpatient course of treatment shall be for the same period of time as that for an adult. A minor voluntarily admitted shall have the right to be released within 5 days of his request as provided in 53-21-111(3). The minor himself may make such request. Unless there has been a periodic review and a voluntary readmission consented to by the minor patient and his counsel, voluntary admission terminates at the expiration of 1 year. Counsel shall be appointed for the minor at the minor's request or at any time he is faced with potential legal proceedings.

(3) If, in any voluntary admission for any period of time to a mental health facility, a minor fails to join in the consent of his parents or guardian to the voluntary admission, then the admission shall be treated as an involuntary commitment. Notice of the substance of this subsection and of the right to counsel shall be set forth in conspicuous type in a conspicuous location on any form or application used for the voluntary admission of a minor to a mental health facility. The notice shall be explained to the minor."

Section 5. Section 53-21-115, MCA, is amended to read:

(9) the right to be dressed in his own clothes at any hearing held pursuant to this part; and

(10) the right to refuse any but lifesaving medication for up to 24 hours prior to any hearing held pursuant to this part."

Section 6. Section 53-21-119, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-119. Waiver of rights. (1) A person may waive his rights, or if the person is not capable of making an intentional and knowing decision, these rights may be waived by his counsel and responsible person acting together if a record is made of the reasons for the waiver. The right to counsel may not be waived. The right to treatment provided for in this part may not be waived.

(b) an alternative location for the hearing in surroundings familiar to the respondent would not prevent such adverse effects on his mental condition.

(3) (a) In the case of a minor, provided that a record is made of the reasons for the waiver, his rights may be waived by the mutual consent of his counsel and parents or guardian or guardian ad litem if there are no parents or guardian.

(b) If there is an apparent conflict of interest between a minor and his parents or guardian, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for him."

Section 7. Section 53-21-120, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-120. Detention to be in least restrictive environment — preference for mental health facility — court relief. (1) A person detained pursuant to this part shall be detained in the least restrictive environment required to protect the life and physical safety of the person detained or members of the public; in this respect, prevention of significant injury to property may be considered.

(2) Whenever possible, a person detained pursuant to this part shall be detained in a mental health facility and in the county of residence. If the person detained demands a jury trial and trial cannot be held within 7 days, the individual may be sent to the state hospital until time of trial if arrangements can be made to return him to trial. Such trial must be held within 30 days. The county of residence shall pay the cost of travel and professional services associated with the trial. No person may be detained in any hospital or other medical facility which is not a mental health facility unless such hospital or facility has agreed in writing to admit the person.

(3) A person may be detained in a jail or other correctional facility only if no mental health facility is available or if the available mental health facilities are inadequate to protect the person detained and the public. As soon as a mental health facility becomes available or the situation has changed sufficiently that an available mental health facility is adequate for the protection of the person detained and the public, then the detained person shall be transferred from the jail or correctional facility to the mental health facility.

(4) A person detained prior to involuntary commitment may apply to the court for immediate relief with respect to the need for detention or the adequacy of the facility being utilized to detain."

Section 8. Section 53-21-126, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-126. Trial or hearing on petition. (1) The respondent shall be present unless his presence has been waived as provided in 53-21-119(2), and he shall be represented by counsel at all stages of the trial. The trial shall be limited to the determination of whether or not the respondent is seriously mentally ill within the meaning set forth in this part.

(2) The standard of proof in any hearing held pursuant to this section is proof beyond a reasonable doubt with respect to any physical facts or evidence and clear and convincing evidence as to all other matters, except that mental disorders shall be evidenced to a reasonable medical certainty. Imminent threat of self-inflicted injury or injury to others shall be evidenced by overt acts, sufficiently recent in time as to be material and relevant as to the respondent's present condition.

(3) The professional person appointed by the court shall be present for the trial and subject to cross-examination. The trial shall be governed by the Montana Rules of Civil Procedure except that, if tried by a jury, at least two-thirds of the jurors must concur on a finding that the respondent is seriously mentally ill. The written report of the professional person that indicates the professional person's diagnosis may be attached to the petition, but any matter otherwise inadmissible, such as hearsay matter, is not admissible merely because it is contained in the report. The court may order the trial closed to the public for the protection of the respondent.

(4) The professional person may testify as to the ultimate issue of whether the respondent is seriously mentally ill. This testimony is insufficient unless accompanied by evidence from the professional person or others that:

(a) the respondent is suffering from a mental disorder; and

(b) the mental disorder has resulted in self-inflicted injury or injury to others or the imminent threat thereof or has deprived the person afflicted of the ability to protect his life or health.

(5) The court, upon the showing of good cause and when it is in the best interests of the respondent, may order a change of venue."

Section 9. Section 53-21-127, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-127. Posttrial disposition. (1) If, upon trial, it is determined that the respondent is not seriously mentally ill within the meaning of this part, he shall be discharged and the petition dismissed.

(2) (a) If it is determined that the respondent is seriously mentally ill within the meaning of this part, the court shall hold a posttrial disposition hearing. The disposition hearing shall be held within 5 days (including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays unless the fifth day falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday), during which time the court may order further evaluation and treatment of the respondent. At the conclusion of the disposition hearing, the court shall:

(i) commit the respondent to a facility for a period of not more than 3 months;

(ii) order the respondent to be placed in the care and custody of his relative or guardian or some other appropriate place other than an institution;

(iii) order outpatient therapy; or

(iv) make some other appropriate order for treatment.

(b) No treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection may affect the respondent's custody for a period of more than 3 months.

(c) In determining which of the above alternatives to order, the court shall choose the least restrictive alternatives necessary to protect the respondent and the public and to permit effective treatment. The court shall consider and shall describe in its order what alternatives for treatment of the respondent are available, what alternatives were investigated, and why the investigated alternatives were not deemed suitable. The court shall enter into the record a detailed statement of the facts upon which it found the respondent to be seriously mentally ill."

Section 10. Section 53-21-128, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-128. Petition for extension of commitment period. (1) (a) Not less than 2 calendar weeks prior to the end of the 3-month period of detention provided for in 53-21-127(2), the professional person in charge of the patient at the place of detention may petition the court for extension of the detention period. The petition shall be accompanied by a written report and evaluation of the patient's mental and physical condition. The report shall describe any tests and evaluation devices which have been employed in evaluating the patient, the course of treatment which has been undertaken for the patient, and the future course of treatment anticipated by the professional person.

(b) Upon the filing of the petition, the court shall give written notice of the filing of the petition to the patient, his next of kin, if reasonably available, the responsible person appointed by the court, and the patient's counsel. If any person so notified requests a hearing prior to the termination of the previous detention authority, the court shall immediately set a time and place for a hearing on a date not more than 10 days from the receipt of the request and notify the same people, including the professional person in charge of the patient. If a hearing is not requested, the court shall enter an order of commitment for a period not to exceed 6 months.

(c) Procedure on the petition for extension when a hearing has been requested shall be the same in all respects as the procedure on the petition for the original 3-month commitment except the patient is not entitled to trial by jury. The hearing shall be held in the district court having jurisdiction over the facility in which the patient is detained unless otherwise ordered by the court. Court costs and witness fees, if any, shall be paid by the county that paid the same costs in the initial commitment proceedings.

(d) If upon the hearing the court finds the patient not seriously mentally ill within the meaning of this part, he shall be discharged and the petition dismissed. If the court finds that the patient continues to suffer from serious mental illness, the court shall order commitment, custody in relatives, outpatient therapy, or other order as set forth in 53-21-127(2) except that no order may affect his custody for more than 6 months. In its order, the court shall describe what alternatives for treatment of the patient are available, what alternatives were investigated, and why the investigated alternatives were not deemed suitable. The court shall not order continuation of an alternative which does not include a comprehensive, individualized plan of treatment for the patient. A court order for the continuation of an alternative shall include a specific finding that a comprehensive, individualized plan of treatment exists.

(2) Further extensions may be obtained under the same procedure described in subsection (1) of this section except that the patient's custody may not be affected for more than 1 year without a renewal of the commitment under the procedures set forth in subsection (1) of this section, including a statement of the findings required by subsection (1)."

Section 11. Section 53-21-141, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-141. Civil and legal rights of person committed. (1) Unless specifically stated in an order by the court, a person involuntarily committed to a facility for a period of evaluation or treatment does not forfeit any legal right or suffer any legal disability by reason of the provisions of this part except insofar as it may be necessary to detain the person for treatment, evaluation, or care. All communication between an alleged mentally ill person and a professional person is privileged under normal privileged communication rules unless it is clearly explained to the person in advance that the purpose of an interview is for evaluation and not treatment.

(2) Whenever a person is committed to a mental health facility for a period of 3 months or longer, the court ordering the commitment may make an order stating specifically any legal rights which are denied the respondent and any legal disabilities which are imposed on him. As part of its order, the court may appoint a person to act as conservator of the respondent's property. Any conservatorship created pursuant to this section terminates upon the conclusion of the involuntary commitment if not sooner terminated by the court. A conservatorship or guardianship extending beyond the period of involuntary commitment may not be created except according to the procedures set forth under Montana law for the appointment of conservators and guardians generally.

(3) A person who has been committed to a mental health facility pursuant to this part is automatically restored upon the termination of the commitment to all of his civil and legal rights which may have been lost when he was committed. This subsection does not affect, however, a guardianship or conservatorship created independently of the commitment proceedings according to the provisions of Montana law relating to the appointment of conservators and guardians generally. A person who leaves a mental health facility following a period of evaluation and treatment shall be given a written statement setting forth the substance of this subsection.

(4) A person committed to a mental health facility prior to July 1, 1975, enjoys all the rights and privileges of a person committed after that date."

Section 12. Section 53-21-165, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-165. Records to be maintained. Complete patient records shall be kept by the mental health facility and shall be available to any person authorized by the patient in writing to receive these records and upon approval of the authorization by the board. The records shall also be made available to any attorney charged with representing the patient or any professional person charged with evaluating or treating the patient. These records shall include:

(1) identification data, including the patient's legal status;

(2) a patient history, including but not limited to:

(a) family data, educational background, and employment record;

(b) prior medical history, both physical and mental, including prior hospitalization;

(3) the chief complaints of the patient and the chief complaints of others regarding the patient;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1346 1979

(4) an evaluation which notes the onset of illness, the circumstances leading to admission, attitudes, behavior, estimate of intellectual functioning, memory functioning, orientation, and an inventory of the patient's assets in descriptive rather than interpretative fashion;

(5) a summary of each physical examination which describes the results of the examination;

(6) a copy of the individual treatment plan and any modifications thereto;

(7) a detailed summary of the findings made by the reviewing professional person after each periodic review of the treatment plan which analyzes the successes and failures of the treatment program and directs whatever modifications are necessary;

(8) a copy of the individualized after-care plan and any modifications thereto and a summary of the steps that have been taken to implement that plan;

(9) a medication history and status which includes the signed orders of the prescribing physician. The staff person administering the medication shall indicate by signature that orders have been carried out.

(10) a detailed summary of each significant contact by a professional person with the patient;

(11) a detailed summary, on at least a weekly basis, by a professional person involved in the patient's treatment, of the patient's progress along the treatment plan;

(12) a weekly summary of the extent and nature of the patient's work activities and the effect of such activity upon the patient's progress along the treatment plan;

(13) a signed order by a professional person for any restrictions on visitations and communications;

(14) a signed order by a professional person for any physical restraints and isolation;

(15) a detailed summary of any extraordinary incident in the facility involving the patient, to be entered by a staff member noting that he has personal knowledge of the incident or specifying his other source of information and initialed within 24 hours by a professional person; and

(16) a summary by the professional person in charge of the facility or his appointed agent of his findings after the 30-day review provided for in 53-21-163."

Section 13. Section 53-21-188, MCA, is amended to read:

"53-21-188. Maintenance of indigent patients on discharge. Prior to the discharge of a committed patient from a mental health facility, the professional person in charge of the facility shall notify the welfare department of the county from which the patient was committed. The county welfare department shall at once ascertain whether the discharged patient is in financial need. If the patient is found to be in financial need, the county welfare department shall properly care for and maintain the discharged patient under the laws of this state relating to public assistance until the patient is able to care for himself or until another provision has been made for care of the patient."

Section 14. Instructions to the code commissioner. All references to "responsible person" in Title 53, chapter 21, shall be changed to "friend of respondent" by the code commissioner.

(15) "Marketable coal" means a minable coal that is economically feasible to mine and is fit for sale in the usual course of trade.

(16) "Method of operation" means the method or manner by which the cut, open pit, shaft, or excavation is made, the overburden is placed or handled, water is controlled, and other acts are performed by the operator in the process of uncovering and removing the minerals that affect the reclamation of the area of land affected.

(24) "Prospecting" means the removal of overburden, core drilling, construction of roads, or any other disturbance of the surface for the purpose of determining the location, quantity, or quality of a natural mineral deposit.

(25) "Reclamation" means backfilling, subsidence stabilization, water control, grading, highwall reduction, topsoiling, planting, revegetation, and other work to restore an area of land affected by strip mining or underground mining under a plan approved by the department.

(27) "Subsidence" means a vertically downward movement of overburden materials resulting from the actual mining of an underlying mineral deposit or associated underground excavations.

(28) "Surface owner" means a person who holds legal or equitable title to the land surface and whose principal place of residence is on the land or who personally conducts farming or ranching operations upon a farm or ranch unit to be directly affected by strip-mining operations or who receives directly a significant portion of his income, if any, from such farming or ranching operations or the state of Montana where the state owns the surface.

(29) "Topsoil" means the unconsolidated mineral matter naturally present on the surface of the earth that has been subjected to and influenced by genetic and environmental factors of parent material, climate, macro- and micro-organisms, and topography, all acting over a period of time, and that is necessary for the growth and regeneration of vegetation on the surface of the earth.

(30) "Underground mining" means any part of the process followed in the production of a mineral such that vertical or horizontal shafts, slopes, drifts, or incline planes connected with excavations penetrating the mineral stratum or strata are utilized and includes mining by in situ methods.

(31) "Unwarranted failure to comply" means the failure of a permittee to prevent the occurrence of any violation of his permit or any requirement of this part due to indifference, lack of diligence, or lack of reasonable care, or the failure to abate any violation of such permit or this part due to indifference, lack of diligence, or lack of reasonable care.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1357 1979

Section 3. Section 82-4-204, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-204. Board orders, rules, and hearings. The board shall:

(1) issue orders requiring an operator to adopt the remedial measures necessary to comply with this part and rules adopted under this part;

(2) issue, after an opportunity for a hearing, a final order directing the department to revoke a permit when the requirements set forth by the notice of noncompliance, order of suspension, or an order of the board requiring remedial measures have not been complied with according to the terms herein;

(3) adopt, after an opportunity for a hearing, general rules pertaining to strip mining and to underground mining to accomplish the purposes of this part;

(4) conduct hearings under provisions of this part or rules adopted by the board."

Section 4. Section 82-4-205, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-205. Administration by department of state lands. The department:

(1) shall exercise general supervision, administration, and enforcement of this part and all rules and orders adopted under this part; be mined or otherwise affected during the applicable 5-year period. The permit shall authorize the operator to engage in strip or underground mining upon the area of land described in his application and designated in the permit for a period of 5 years from the date of its issuance. Such permit shall be renewable upon each 5-year anniversary thereafter upon application to the department at least 30 but not more than 60 days prior to the renewal date so long as the operator is in compliance with the requirements of this part, the rules hereunder, and the reclamation plan provided for in 82-4-231 and agrees to comply with all applicable laws and rules in effect at the time of renewal. Such renewal shall further be subject to the denial provisions of 82-4-227, 82-4-234, and 82-4-251. On application for renewal, the burden shall be on the opponents of renewal to demonstrate that the permit should not be renewed. A permit shall terminate if the permittee has not commenced strip- or underground-mining operations pursuant to the permit within 3 years of the issuance of the permit. However, the department may grant reasonable extensions of time upon a showing that such extensions are necessary by reason of litigation precluding the commencement or threatening substantial economic loss to the permittee or by reason of conditions beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the permittee. With respect to coal to be mined for use in a synthetic fuel facility or specific major electric generating facility, the permittee is considered to have commenced strip- or underground-mining operations at such time as the construction of the synthetic or generating facility is initiated.

(2) As a condition to the issuance of every permit issued under this part, an authorized representative of the department shall, without advance notice, have the right of entry to, upon, or through a strip- or underground-mining operation or any premises in which any records required to be maintained under this part are located and may, at reasonable times and without delay, have access to copy any records and inspect any monitoring equipment or method of operation required under this part. When an inspection results from information provided to the department by any person, the department shall notify that person when the inspection is proposed to be made and that person shall be allowed to accompany the inspector during the inspection.

(3) During the term of the permit, the permittee may submit an application for a revision of the permit, together with a revised reclamation plan, to the department. The department may not approve the application unless it finds that reclamation in accordance with this part would be accomplished. Application for minor revision shall be approved or disapproved within a reasonable time, depending on the scope and complexity, but in no case longer than 120 days. Applications for major revisions are subject to all the permit application requirements and procedures."

Section 6. Section 82-4-222, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-222. Permit application. (1) An operator desiring a permit shall file an application which shall contain a complete and detailed plan for the mining, reclamation, revegetation, and rehabilitation of the land and water to be affected by the operation. Such plan shall reflect thorough advance investigation and study by the operator and shall include all known or readily discoverable past and present uses of the land and water to be affected and the approximate periods of such use and shall state:

(a) the location and area of land to be affected by the operation, with a description of access to the area from the nearest public highways;

(b) the names and addresses of the owners of record of the surface of the area of land to be affected by the permit and the owners of record of all surface area within one-half mile of any part of the affected area;

(h) the names and addresses of any persons who are engaged in strip or underground mining activities on behalf of the applicant;

(i) the annual rainfall and the direction and average velocity of the prevailing winds in the area where the applicant has requested a permit;

(j) the results of any test borings or core samplings which the applicant or his agent has conducted on the land to be affected, including the nature and the depth of the various strata or overburden and topsoil, the quantities and location of subsurface water and its quality, the thickness of any mineral seam, an analysis of the chemical properties of such minerals, including the acidity, sulphur content, and trace mineral elements of any coal seam, as well as the British thermal unit (Btu) content of such seam, and an analysis of the overburden, including topsoil. If test borings or core samplings are submitted, each permit application shall contain two copies each of two sets of geologic cross sections accurately depicting the known geologic makeup beneath the surface of the affected land. Each set shall depict subsurface conditions at 500-foot intervals across the surface and shall run at a 90-degree angle to the other set unless the department determines that closer intervals are required. Each cross section shall depict the thickness and geologic character of all known strata beginning with the topsoil. In addition, each application for an underground mining permit shall be accompanied by cross sections and maps showing the proposed underground locations of all shafts, entries, and haulageways or other excavations to be excavated during the permit year. These cross sections shall also include all existing shafts, entries, and haulageways.

(l) a determination of the probable hydrologic consequences of coal mining and reclamation operations, both on and off the mine site, with respect to the hydrologic regime, quantity and quality of water in surface- and ground-water systems, including the dissolved and suspended solids under seasonal flow conditions and the collection of sufficient data for the mine site and surrounding areas, so that cumulative impacts of all anticipated mining in the area upon the hydrology of the area and particularly upon water availability can be made. However, this determination is not required until such time as hydrologic information on the general area prior to mining is made available from an appropriate federal or state agency. The permit may not be approved until such information is available and is incorporated into the application;

(m) a coal conservation plan; and

(n) such other or further information as the department may require.

(2) The application for a permit shall be accompanied by two copies of all maps meeting the requirements of the subsections below. The maps shall:

(b) show any adjacent deep mining or surface mining and the boundaries of surface properties and names of owners of record of the affected area and within 1,000 feet of any part of the affected area;

(c) show the names and locations of all streams, creeks, or other bodies of water, roads, buildings, cemeteries, oil and gas wells, and utility lines on the area of land affected and within 1,000 feet of such area;

(e) show the date on which the map was prepared and the north point;

(f) show the final surface and underground water drainage plan on and away from the area of land affected. This plan shall indicate the directional and volume flow of water, constructed drainways, natural waterways used for drainage, and the streams or tributaries receiving the discharge.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1361 1979

(h) show the proposed location of temporary subsoil and topsoil storage area;

(i) show the location of test boring holes;

(j) show the surface location lines of any geologic cross sections which have been submitted;

(l) be certified as follows: "I, the undersigned, hereby certify that this map is correct and shows to the best of my knowledge and belief all the information required by the mining laws of this state." The certification shall be signed and notarized. The department may reject a map as incomplete if its accuracy is not so attested.

(m) contain such other or further information as the department may require.

(3) If the department finds that the probable total annual production at all locations of any strip- or underground-coal-mining operation applied for will not exceed 100,000 tons, any determination of probable hydrologic consequences that the department requires and the statement of result of test borings or core samplings shall, upon written request of the operator, be performed by a qualified public or private laboratory designated by the department. The department shall assume the cost of the determination and statement to the extent that it has received federal funds for this purpose.

(4) In addition to the information and maps required above, each application for a permit shall be accompanied by detailed plans or proposals showing the method of operation, the manner, time or distance, and estimated cost for backfilling, subsidence stabilization, water control, grading work, highwall reduction, topsoiling, planting, revegetating, and a reclamation plan for the area affected by the operation, which proposals shall meet the requirements of this part and rules adopted under this part. The reclamation plan shall address the life of the operation and indicate the size, sequence, and the timing of the subareas for which it is anticipated that individual permits will be sought.

(5) Each applicant for a coal mining permit shall submit as part of the application a certificate issued by an insurance company authorized to do business in the state certifying that the applicant has in force for the strip- or underground-mining and reclamation operations for which the permit is sought a public liability insurance policy, or evidence that the applicant has satisfied other state or federal self-insurance requirements. This policy shall provide for personal injury and property damage protection in an amount adequate to compensate any persons damaged as a result of strip- or underground-coal-mining and reclamation operations, including use of explosives, and entitled to compensation under applicable provisions of state law. The permittee must maintain the policy in full force and effect during the term of the permit and any renewal until all reclamation operations have been completed.

(6) Each applicant for a strip-mining or underground-mining reclamation permit shall file a copy of his application for public inspection with the clerk and recorder at the courthouse of the county where the major portion of mining is proposed to occur."

Section 7. Section 82-4-223, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-223. Permit fee and surety bond. (1) An application fee of $50 shall be paid before the permit required in this part shall be issued.

(2) Before a permit may be issued, the operator shall file with the department a bond payable to the state of Montana with surety satisfactory to the department in the penal sum to be determined by the board, on the recommendation of the commissioner, of not less than $200 for each acre or fraction thereof of the area of land affected, with a minimum bond of $10,000, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the requirements set forth in this part and of the rules of the board. The operator may elect to deposit cash, negotiable bonds, or negotiable certificates of deposit of any bank organized or transacting business in the United States. The cash deposit or market value of such securities shall be equal to or greater than the amount of the bond required for the bonded area. The level of bonding shall be relative to the degree of disturbance projected by the original permit and the annual report. A political subdivision or agency of the state need not file a bond unless required to do so by the board. The board shall adjust the amount of bond required if the cost of reclamation changes.

(3) In determining the amount of the bond, the board shall take into consideration the character and nature of the overburden, the future suitable use of the land involved, and the cost of backfilling, grading, highwall reduction, subsidence stabilization, water control, topsoiling, and reclamation to be required, but in no event shall the bond be less than the total estimated cost to the state of completing the work described in the reclamation plan."

Section 8. Section 82-4-225, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-225. Application for increase or reduction in permit area. The department may increase or reduce the area of land affected by an operation under a permit on application by an operator, but an increase may not extend the period for which an original permit was issued. An operator may, at any time, apply to the department for an amendment of the permit so as to increase or reduce the acreage affected by it. The operator shall file an application and map in the same form and with the same content as required for an original application under this part and shall pay an application fee of $50 and shall file with the department a supplemental bond in the amount to be determined under 82-4-223 for each acre or fraction of an acre of the increase approved. All procedures of this part pertaining to original applications apply to applications for the increase of the area of land affected, except for incidental boundary revisions. If the department approves a reduction in the acreage covered by the original or supplemental permit, it shall release the bond for each acre reduced, but in no case shall the bond be reduced below $10,000, except as provided in 82-4-223."

Section 9. Section 82-4-227, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-227. Refusal of permit. (1) An application for a prospecting, strip-mining, or underground-mining permit or major revision shall not be approved by the department unless, on the basis of the information set forth in the application, an on-site inspection, and an evaluation of the operation by the department, the applicant has affirmatively demonstrated that the requirements of this part and rules will be observed and that the proposed method of operation, backfilling, grading, subsidence stabilization, water control, highwall reduction, topsoiling, revegetation, or reclamation of the affected area can be carried out consistently with the purpose of this part. The applicant for a permit or major revision has the burden of establishing that his application is in compliance with this part and the rules adopted under it.

(2) The department shall not approve the application for a prospecting, strip-mining, or underground-mining permit where the area of land described in the application includes land having special, exceptional, critical, or unique characteristics or that mining or prospecting on that area would adversely affect the use, enjoyment, or fundamental character of neighboring land having special, exceptional, critical, or unique characteristics. For the purposes of this part, land is defined as having such characteristics if it possesses special, exceptional, critical, or unique:

(a) biological productivity, the loss of which would jeopardize certain species of wildlife or domestic stock;

(b) ecological fragility, in the sense that the land, once adversely affected, could not return to its former ecological role in the reasonable foreseeable future;

(c) ecological importance, in the sense that the particular land has such a strong influence on the total ecosystem of which it is a part that even temporary effects felt by it could precipitate a system-wide reaction of unpredictable scope or dimensions; or

(d) scenic, historic, archeologic, topographic, geologic, ethnologic, scientific, cultural, or recreational significance. (In applying this subsection, particular attention should be paid to the inadequate preservation previously accorded Plains Indian history and culture.)

(3) The department may not approve an application for a strip- or underground-coal-mining permit or major revision unless the application affirmatively demonstrates that:

(a) the assessment of the probable cumulative impact of all anticipated mining in the area on the hydrologic balance has been made by the department and the proposed operation thereof has been designed to prevent material damage to the hydrologic balance outside the permit area; and

(b) the proposed strip- or underground-coal-mining operation would not:

(i) interrupt, discontinue, or preclude farming on alluvial valley floors that are irrigated or naturally subirrigated, excluding undeveloped rangelands that are not significant to farming on alluvial valley floors and those lands as to which the regulatory authority finds that if the farming that will be interrupted, discontinued, or precluded is of such small acreage as to be of negligible impact on the farm's agricultural production; or

(ii) materially damage the quantity or quality of water in surface-water or underground-water systems that supply these valley floors in subsection (3)(b)(i).

(4) Subsection (3)(b) does not affect those strip- or underground-coal-mining operations that in the year preceding the enactment of Public Law 95-87 produced coal in commercial quantities and were located within or adjacent to alluvial valley floors or had obtained specific permit approval by the department to conduct strip- or underground-coal-mining operations within alluvial valley floors. If coal deposits are precluded from being mined under this subsection, the commissioner shall certify to the secretary of interior that the mineral owner or lessee may be eligible for participation in coal exchange programs pursuant to section 510(5) of Public Law 95-87.

(5) If the area proposed to be mined contains prime farmland, the department may not grant a permit to mine coal on the prime farmland unless it finds in writing that the applicant has the technological capability to restore the mined area, within a reasonable time, to equivalent or higher levels of yield as nonmined prime farmland in the surrounding area under equivalent levels of management and can meet the soil reconstruction standards of 82-4-232(3). Nothing in this subsection applies to any permit issued prior to August 3, 1977, or to any revisions or renewals thereof, or to any existing strip- or underground-mining operations for which a permit was issued prior to August 3, 1977.

(6) If the department finds that the overburden on any part of the area of land described in the application for a prospecting, strip-mining, or underground-mining permit is such that experience in the state with a similar type of operation upon land with similar overburden shows that substantial deposition of sediment in streambeds, subsidence, landslides, or water pollution cannot feasibly be prevented, the department shall delete that part of the land described in the application upon which the overburden exists. The burden is on the applicant to demonstrate that any area should not be deleted under this subsection.

(7) If the department finds that the operation will constitute a hazard to a dwelling house, public building, school, church, cemetery, commercial or institutional building, public road, stream, lake, or other public property, the department shall delete those areas from the prospecting, strip-mining, or underground-mining permit application before it can be approved. In no case may strip- or underground-coal-mining be allowed within 300 feet of any occupied dwelling, unless waived by the owner, nor within 300 feet of any public building, school, church, community, or institutional building, or public park; nor within 100 feet of a cemetery; nor within 100 feet of the outside right-of-way line of any public road, except where mine access roads or haulage roads join such right-of-way line. The department may permit such roads to be relocated or the area affected to lie within 100 feet of the road, if after public notice and opportunity for public hearing in the locality, a written finding is made that the interests of the public and the landowners affected will be protected.

(8) No strip- or underground-mining may be conducted within 500 feet of active or abandoned underground mines in order to prevent breakthroughs and to protect health or safety of miners. The department shall permit an operator to mine near, through, or partially through an abandoned underground mine or closer to an active underground mine if:

(a) the nature, timing, and sequencing of specific strip-mine activities and specific underground-mine activities are jointly approved by the department and the regulatory authority concerned with the health and safety of underground miners; and

(b) such operations will result in improved resource recovery, abatement of water pollution, or elimination of hazards to the health and safety of the public.

(9) The department may not approve an application for a strip- or underground-coal-mining operation if the area proposed to be mined is included within an area designated unsuitable for strip or underground coal mining or within an area under review for this designation under an administrative proceeding, unless in such an area as to which an administrative proceeding has commenced pursuant to this part, the operator making the permit application demonstrates that prior to January 1, 1977, he made substantial legal and financial commitments in relation to the operation for which he is applying for a permit.

(10) No permit or major permit revision for a strip- or underground-coal-mining operation may be issued unless the applicant has affirmatively demonstrated by its coal conservation plan that no failure to conserve coal will occur. The department may require the applicant to submit any information it considers necessary for review of the coal conservation plan.

(11) Whenever information available to the department indicates that any strip- or underground-coal-mining operation owned or controlled by the applicant is currently in violation of Public Law 95-87, as amended, or any state law required by Public Law 95-87, as amended, or any law, rule, or regulation of the United States or of any department or agency in the United States pertaining to air or water environmental protection, the department shall not issue a strip- or underground-coal-mining permit or major revision until the applicant submits proof that the violation has been corrected or is in the process of being corrected to the satisfaction of the administering agency.

(12) The department may not issue a strip- or underground-coal-mining permit or major revision to any applicant which it finds, after an opportunity for hearing, owns or controls any strip- or underground-coal-mining operation which has demonstrated a pattern of willful violations of Public Law 95-87, as amended, or any state law required by Public Law 95-87, as amended, of such a nature and duration and with such resulting irreparable damage to the environment to indicate an intent not to comply with the provisions of this part.

(13) Subject to valid existing rights, no strip- or underground-coal-mining operations except those which existed as of August 3, 1977, may be conducted on private lands within the boundaries of units of the national park system, the national wildlife refuge systems, the national wilderness preservation system, the wild and scenic rivers system, including study rivers designated under section 5(a) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, or national recreation areas designated by act of congress."

Section 10. Designation of land unsuitable for coal mining. (1) Any person having an interest that is or may be adversely affected may petition the department to have an area designated as unsuitable for strip- or underground-coal-mining operations, or to have a designation terminated. The petition shall contain allegations of facts with supporting evidence which would tend to establish the allegations. Within 10 months after receipt of the petition, the department shall hold a public hearing in the locality of the affected area after giving appropriate notice and publication of the date, time, and location thereof. Before the hearing, any person may intervene by filing allegations of facts with supporting evidence which would tend to establish the allegations. Within 60 days after the hearing, the department shall issue and furnish to the petitioner and any other party to the hearing, a written decision regarding the petition and the reasons therefor. The hearing need not be held if all petitioners reach agreement prior to the requested hearing and withdraw their request.

(2) If petitioned, the department shall review the area petitioned for pursuant to this section, and:

(a) shall designate it as an area unsuitable for all or certain types of strip- or underground-coal-mining operations if it is determined that reclamation pursuant to the requirements of this part is not technologically and economically feasible; and

(b) may designate it as an area unsuitable for all or certain types of strip or underground coal mining if the proposed coal mining operations will:

(i) be incompatible with existing state or local land-use plans or programs to the extent they affect mining in the area; or

(ii) affect fragile or historic lands in which these operations could result in significant damage to important historic, cultural, scientific, and esthetic values and natural systems; or

(iii) affect renewable resource lands in which these operations could result in a substantial loss or reduction of long-range productivity of water supply or of food or fiber products, these lands to include aquifers and aquifer recharge areas; or

(iv) affect natural hazard lands in which these operations could substantially endanger life and property, these lands to include areas subject to frequent flooding and areas of unstable geology.

(3) Prior to designating any land areas as unsuitable for strip- or underground-coal-mining operations, the department shall prepare a detailed statement on:

(a) the potential coal resources of the area;

(b) the demand for coal resources; and

(c) the impact of this designation on the environment, economy, and supply of coal.

(4) A designation does not prevent mineral exploration pursuant to this act of any area so designated.

(5) The requirements of this section do not apply to lands on which strip- or underground-coal-mining operations are being conducted pursuant to a permit issued under this part or where substantial legal and financial commitments in these operations were in existence prior to January 4, 1977.

Section 11. Section 82-4-231, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-231. Submission of and action on reclamation plan. (1) As rapidly, completely, and effectively as the most modern technology and the most advanced state of the art will allow, each operator granted a permit under this part shall reclaim and revegetate the land affected by his operation, except that underground tunnels, shafts, or other subsurface excavations need not be revegetated. Under the provisions of this part and rules adopted by the board, an operator shall prepare and carry out a method of operation, plan of grading, backfilling, highwall reduction, subsidence stabilization, water control, topsoiling, and a reclamation plan for the area of land affected by his operation. In developing a method of operation and plans of backfilling, subsidence stabilization, water control, grading, highwall reduction, topsoiling, and reclamation, all measures shall be taken to eliminate damages to landowners and members of the public, their real and personal property, public roads, streams, and all other public property from soil erosion, subsidence, landslides, water pollution, and hazards dangerous to life and property.

(2) The reclamation plan shall set forth in detail the manner in which the applicant intends to comply with this section and 82-4-232 through 82-4-234, as amended, and the steps to be taken to comply with applicable air and water quality laws and rules and any applicable health and safety standards. The application for permit or major revision of a permit, which shall contain the reclamation plan, shall be submitted to the department. The department shall notify various local governmental bodies, planning agencies, sewage and water treatment authorities, and water companies in the locality in which the proposed mining will take place of the application and provide a reasonable time for them to submit written comments. Any person having an interest which is or may be adversely affected or the officer or head of any federal, state, or local governmental agency or authority shall have the right to file written objections to the proposed initial or revised application for permit or major revision within 30 days of the applicant's published notice. If written objections are filed and an objector requests an informal conference, the department shall hold an informal conference in the locality of the proposed operation after adequate public notice. The department may arrange with the applicant upon request by any party to the administrative proceeding for access to the proposed mining area for the purpose of gathering information relevant to the proceeding. The department shall notify the applicant by certified or registered mail within 120 days after receipt of the complete application if it is or is not acceptable. The department may extend the 120 days an additional 120 days upon notification of the operator in writing. The department shall make written findings granting or denying the permit or revision application in whole or in part. If the application is not acceptable, the department shall set forth the reasons why it is not acceptable, and it may propose modifications, delete areas, or reject the entire application. A landowner, operator, or any person with an interest that is or may be adversely affected may by written notice request a hearing by the board. The hearing shall be held within 30 days of the request. No person who presided at the informal conference may either preside at the hearing or participate in the decision thereon. For purposes of the hearing, the board may order site inspections of the area pertinent to the application. The board shall notify the person by certified or registered mail and all other persons by regular mail within 20 days after the hearing of its decision. Every reclamation plan shall be subject to annual review and modification.

(3) In addition to the method of operation, grading, backfilling, subsidence stabilization, water control, highwall reduction, topsoiling, and reclamation requirements of this part and rules adopted under this part, the operator, consistent with the directives of subsection (1) of this section, shall:

(a) bury under adequate fill all toxic materials, shale, mineral, or any other material determined by the department to be acid producing, toxic, undesirable, or creating a hazard;

(b) as directed by rules seal off tunnels, shafts, or other openings or any breakthrough of water creating a hazard;

(c) impound, drain, or treat all runoff or underground mine waters so as to reduce soil erosion, damage to grazing and agricultural lands, and pollution of surface and subsurface waters;

(d) remove or bury all metal, lumber, and other refuse resulting from the operation;

(e) use explosives in connection with the operation only in accordance with department regulations designed to minimize noise, damage to adjacent lands, and water pollution and ensure public safety and for other purposes;

(f) adopt measures to prevent land subsidence unless the board approves a plan for inducing subsidence into an abandoned operation in a predictable and controlled manner with measures for grading, topsoiling, and revegetating the subsided land surface. In order for a controlled subsidence plan to be approved, the applicant must show that subsidence will not cause a direct or indirect hazard to any public or private buildings, roads, facilities, or use areas, constitute a hazard to human life or health, or constitute a hazard to domestic livestock or to a viable agricultural operation, or violate any other restrictions the board may consider necessary.

(g) stockpile and protect from erosion all mining and processing wastes until these wastes can be disposed of according to the provisions of this part;

(h) deposit as much stockpiled waste material as possible back into the mine voids upon abandonment in such manner as to prevent or minimize land subsidence. The remaining waste material shall be disposed of as provided by this part and the rules of the board.

(i) seal all portals, entryways, drifts, shafts, or other openings between the surface and underground mine workings when no longer needed;

(j) to the extent possible using the best technology currently available, minimize disturbances and adverse impacts of the operation on fish, wildlife, and related environmental values and achieve enhancement of such resources where practicable;

(k) minimize the disturbances to the prevailing hydrologic balance at the mine site and in associated offsite areas and to the quality and quantity of water in surface-water and ground-water systems both during and after strip- or underground-coal-mining operations and during reclamation by:

(i) avoiding acid or other toxic mine drainage by such measures as, but not limited to:

(A) preventing or removing water from contact with toxic-producing deposits;

(B) treating drainage to reduce toxic content which adversely affects downstream water upon being released to water courses;

(C) casing, sealing, or otherwise managing boreholes, shafts, and wells and keeping acid or other toxic drainage from entering ground and surface waters;

(ii) (A) conducting strip- or underground-mining operations so as to prevent, to the extent possible using the best technology currently available, additional contributions of suspended solids to streamflow or runoff outside the permit area but in no event shall contributions be in excess of requirements set by applicable state or federal law;

(B) constructing any siltation structures pursuant to (ii)(A) of this subsection prior to commencement of strip- or underground-mining operations, such structures to be certified by a qualified registered engineer to be constructed as designed and as approved in the reclamation plan;

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1370 1979

(iii) cleaning out and removing temporary or large settling ponds or other siltation structures from drainways after disturbed areas are revegatated and stabilized and depositing the silt and debris at a site and in a manner approved by the department;

(iv) restoring recharge capacity of the mined area to approximate premining conditions;

(v) avoiding channel deepening or enlargement in operations requiring the discharge of water from mines;

(vi) preserving throughout the mining and reclamation process the essential hydrologic functions of alluvial valley floors in the arid and semiarid areas of the country; and

(vii) such other actions as the department may prescribe;

(l) conduct strip- or underground-mine operations in accordance with the approved coal conservation plan;

(m) stabilize and protect all surface areas, including spoil piles, to effectively control air pollution;

(n) seal all auger holes with an impervious and noncombustible material in order to prevent drainage except where the department determines that the resulting impoundment of water in such auger holes may create a hazard to the environment or the public health and safety;

(o) develop contingency plans to prevent sustained combustion;

(p) refrain from construction of roads or other access ways up a streambed or drainage channel or in such proximity to such channel so as to seriously alter the normal flow of water;

(q) meet such other criteria as are necessary to achieve reclamation in accordance with the purposes of this part, taking into consideration the physical, climatological, and other characteristics of the site;

(r) with regard to underground mines, eliminate fire hazards and otherwise eliminate conditions which constitute a hazard to health and safety of the public;

(s) locate openings for all new drift mines working acid-producing or iron-producing coal seams in such a manner as to prevent a gravity discharge of water from the mine.

(4) An operator may not throw, dump, pile, or permit the dumping, piling, or throwing or otherwise placing any overburden, stones, rocks, mineral, earth, soil, dirt, debris, trees, wood, logs, or any other materials or substances of any kind or nature beyond or outside of the area of land which is under permit and for which a bond has been posted under 82-4-223, as amended, or place the materials described in this section in such a way that normal erosion or slides brought about by natural physical causes will permit the materials to go beyond or outside of that area of land. An operator shall conduct the strip- or underground-mining operation in such a manner as to protect areas outside the permit area."

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1371 1979

Section 12. Section 82-4-232, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-232. Area mining required — bond — alternative plan. (1) Area strip mining, a method of operation which does not produce a bench or fill bench, is required where strip mining is proposed. All highwalls must be reduced and the steepest slope of the reduced highwall shall be no greater than 20 degrees from the horizontal. Highwall reduction shall be commenced at or beyond the top of the highwall and sloped to the graded spoil bank. Reduction, backfilling, and grading shall eliminate all highwalls and spoil peaks. The area of land affected shall be restored to the approximate original contour of the land. When directed by the department, the operator shall construct in the final grading such diversion ditches, depressions, or terraces as will accumulate or control the water runoff. Additional restoration work may be required by the department according to rules adopted by the board.

(2) In addition to the backfilling and grading requirements, the operator's method of operation on steep slopes may be regulated and controlled according to rules adopted by the board. These rules may require any measure whatsoever to accomplish the purpose of this part.

(3) For coal mining on prime farmlands, the board shall establish by rule specifications for soil removal, storage, replacement, and reconstruction, and the operator shall as a minimum be required to:

(a) segregate the A horizon of the natural soil, except where it can be shown that other available soil materials will create a final soil having a greater productive capacity; and if not utilized immediately, stockpile this material separately from other spoil, and provide needed protection from wind and water erosion or contamination by other acid or toxic material;

(b) segregate the B horizon of the natural soil, or underlying C horizon or other strata, or a combination of such horizons or other strata that are shown to be both texturally and chemically suitable for plant growth and that can be shown to be equally or more favorable for plant growth than the B horizon in sufficient quantities to create in the regraded final soil a root zone of comparable depth and quality to that which existed in the natural soil; and if not utilized immediately stockpile this material separately from other spoil, and provide needed protection from wind and water erosion or contamination by acid or toxic material;

(c) replace and regrade the root zone material described in (b) above with proper compaction and uniform depth over the regraded spoil material; and

(d) redistribute and grade in a uniform manner the surface soil horizon described in (a) above.

(4) All available topsoil shall be removed in a separate layer, guarded from erosion and pollution, and kept in such a condition that it can sustain vegetation of at least the quality and variety it sustained prior to removal, provided that the operator shall accord substantially the same treatment to any subsurface deposit of material that is capable, as determined by the department, of supporting surface vegetation virtually as well as the present topsoil. After the operation has been backfilled and graded, the topsoil or the best available subsurface deposit of material which is best able to support vegetation shall be returned as the top layer.

(5) As determined by rules of the board, time limits shall be established requiring backfilling, grading, subsidence stabilization, water control, highwall reduction, topsoiling, planting, and revegetation to be kept current. All backfilling, subsidence stabilization, sealing, grading, and topsoiling shall be completed before necessary equipment is moved from the operation.

(6) When the backfilling, grading, subsidence stabilization, water controls, and topsoiling have been completed and approved by the department, the commissioner, after public notice and opportunity for hearing, may release so much of the bond which was filed for that portion of the operation as the commissioner may determine, provided that no less than $200 per acre shall be retained by the department until such time as the planting and revegetation is done according to law and approved by the department, at which time the commissioner shall release the bond in the remaining amount. No part of the bond or deposit may be released under this subsection so long as the lands to which the release would be applicable are contributing suspended solids to streamflow or runoff outside the permit area in excess of the requirements set by this part or until soil productivity for prime farmlands mined for coal has returned to equivalent levels of yield as nonmined land of the same soil type in the surrounding area under equivalent management practices as determined from the soil survey performed pursuant to this part. Where a silt dam is to be retained as a permanent impoundment, the portion of bond pertaining thereto may be released under this subsection so long as provisions for sound future maintenance by the operator or the landowner have been made with the department. Any person with a valid legal interest that might be adversely affected by release of the bond or the responsible head of any federal, state, or local governmental agency that has jurisdiction by law or special expertise with respect to any environmental, social, or economic impact involved in the operation or is authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards with respect to such operations shall have the right to file written objections to the proposed release with the department within 30 days of public notice. The hearing shall be held at the state capital or, if an objector so requests, in the locality of the proposed bond release. For purposes of the hearing, the board may order site inspections of the area for which bond release is sought and other strip- or underground-mining operations carried on by the applicant in the area. Without prejudice to the rights of the objectors or the applicant or to the responsibilities of the department, the department may establish an informal conference to resolve written objections.

(7) An operator may propose alternative plans other than backfilling, grading, highwall reduction, or topsoiling if the restoration will be consistent with the purpose of this part. These plans shall be submitted to the department, and after consultation with the landowner, if the plans are approved by the board and complied with within the time limits as may be determined by the board as being reasonable for carrying out the plans, the backfilling, grading, highwall reduction, or topsoiling requirements of this part may be modified by the board. An operator who proposes alternative plans that will affect an existing permit shall comply with the notice requirement of 82-4-222(1)(k)."

Section 13. Section 82-4-235, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-235. Planting report. (1) At least 60 days prior to the date of each permit expiration, the operator shall file a planting report with the department on a form to be prescribed and furnished by the department, giving the following information:

(a) identification of the operation;

(b) the type of planting or seeding, including mixtures and amounts;

(c) the date of planting or seeding;

(d) the area of land planted;

(e) any other relevant information the department requires.

(2) All planting reports shall be certified by the operator.

(3) Inspection and evaluation for permanent diverse vegetative cover shall be made as soon as it is possible to determine if a satisfactory stand has been established. If the department determines that a satisfactory permanent diverse vegetative cover has been established, it shall release the remaining bond held on the area reclaimed after public notice and an opportunity for a hearing as provided in 82-4-232(6). In no event shall such remaining bond be released prior to a period of 10 years after the last year of augmented seeding, fertilizing, irrigation, or other work required under this part for those operations or portions of operations that were seeded after February 2, 1978, or prior to a period of 5 years after initial planting for all exploration activities and all other operations."

Section 14. Section 82-4-239, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-239. Reclamation by board. (1) The board may have reclamation work done by its own employees or by employees of other governmental agencies, soil conservation districts, or through contracts with qualified persons. The board may construct, operate, and maintain plants for the control and treatment of water pollution resulting from mine drainage.

(2) Any funds or any public works programs available to the board shall be used and expended to reclaim and rehabilitate lands that have been subjected to strip mining or underground mining that have not been reclaimed and rehabilitated in accordance with the standards of this part. The board shall cooperate with federal, state, and private agencies to engage in cooperative projects under this section.

(3) Agents, employees, or contractors of the department may enter upon any land for the purpose of conducting studies or exploratory work to determine whether such land has been strip- or underground-mined and not reclaimed and rehabilitated in accordance with the requirements of this part and to determine the feasibility of restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of any adverse effects of past coal-mining practices. Upon request of the commissioner, the attorney general shall bring an injunctive action to restrain any interference with the exercise of the right to enter and inspect granted in this subsection.

(4) If the department makes a finding of fact that:

(a) land or water resources have been adversely affected by past coal-mining practices; and

(b) the adverse effects are at a stage where in the public interest action to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent should be taken; and

(c) the owners of the land or water resources where entry must be made to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices are not known or readily available; or the owners will not give permission for the department or its agents, employees, or contractors to enter upon such property to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices;

then agents, employees, or contractors of the department, after giving notice by mail to the owner, if known, or, if not known, by posting notice upon the premises and advertising in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the land lies, may enter upon property adversely affected by past coal-mining practices and any other property necessary for access to such mineral property to do all things necessary or expedient to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices. This act is not an act of condemnation of property or of trespass but rather an exercise of the power granted by sections 1 and 2, Article IX of the Montana constitution.

(5) (a) Within 6 months after the completion of projects to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent adverse effects of past coal-mining practices on privately owned land, the department shall itemize the money so expended and may file a statement thereof in the office of the clerk and recorder of the county in which the land lies, together with a notarized appraisal by an independent appraiser of the value of the land before the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of adverse effects of past coal-mining practices if the money so expended shall result in a significant increase in property value. Such statement constitutes a lien upon the land. The lien may not exceed the amount determined by the appraisal to be the increase in the market value of the land as a result of the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices. No lien may be filed against the property of any person, in accordance with this subsection, who owned the surface prior to May 2, 1977, and who neither consented to nor participated in nor exercised control over the mining operation which necessitated the reclamation performed under this part.

(b) The landowner may petition within 60 days of the filing of the lien to determine the increase in the market value of the land as a result of the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices. The amount reported to be the increase in value of the premises constitutes the amount of the lien and shall be recorded with the statement herein provided. Any party aggrieved by the decision may appeal as provided by law.

(c) The lien provided in this section shall be recorded at the office of the county clerk and recorder. The statement constitutes a lien upon the land as of the date of the expenditure of the money and has priority as a lien second only to the lien of real estate taxes imposed upon the land.

(6) The board may acquire the necessary property by gift or purchase or, if the property cannot be acquired by gift or purchase at a reasonable cost, proceedings may be instituted in the manner provided in Title 70, chapter 30, part 1, against all nonaccepting landholders if:

(a) the property is necessary for successful reclamation;

(b) the acquired land after restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices will serve recreation and historic purposes, conservation and reclamation purposes, or provide open space benefits; and

(c) permanent facilities such as treatment plants or relocated stream channels will be constructed on the land for the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past strip- or underground-coal-mining practices; or acquisition of coal refuse disposal sites and all coal refuse thereon will serve the purposes of [this part] in that public ownership is desirable to meet emergency situations and prevent recurrences of the adverse effects of past coal-mining practices."

Section 15. Section 82-4-251, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-251. Noncompliance — suspension of permits. (1) The commissioner or an authorized representative of the department shall, if he determines on the basis of an inspection that any condition or practices exist or that the permittee is in violation of any requirement of this part or any permit condition required by the part that creates an imminent danger to the health or safety of the public or is causing or can reasonably be expected to cause significant and imminent environmental harm to land, air, or water resources, immediately order cessation of strip- or underground-coal-mining and reclamation operations or the portion thereof relevant to the condition, practice, or violation. The cessation order remains in effect until the commissioner or his authorized representative determines that the condition, practice, or violation has been abated or until modified, vacated, or terminated by the commissioner or his authorized representative pursuant to subsection (5). If the commissioner or his authorized representative finds that the ordered cessation of strip- or underground-coal-mining and reclamation operations, or any portion thereof, will not completely abate the imminent danger to the health or safety of the public or the significant and imminent environmental harm to land, air, or water resources, he shall in addition to the cessation order impose affirmative obligations on the operator requiring him to take whatever steps the commissioner or his authorized representative considers necessary to abate the imminent danger or the significant environmental harm.

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1376 1979

(2) When, on the basis of an inspection, the department determines that any permittee is in violation of any requirement of this part or any permit condition required by this part which does not create an imminent danger to the health or safety of the public or cannot be reasonably expected to cause significant and imminent environmental harm to land, air, or water resources, the commissioner or authorized representative shall issue a notice to the permittee or his agent fixing a reasonable time not exceeding 90 days, for the abatement of the violation and providing opportunity for public hearing. If, upon expiration of the period of time as originally fixed or subsequently extended, for good cause shown and upon the written finding of the commissioner or his authorized representative, the commissioner or his authorized representative finds that the violation has not been abated, he shall immediately order a cessation of strip- or underground-mining and reclamation operations or the portion thereof relevant to the violation. Such cessation order remains in effect until the commissioner or his authorized representative determines that the violation has been abated or until modified, vacated, or terminated by the commissioner or his authorized representative pursuant to subsection (5). In the order of cessation issued under this subsection, the commissioner shall determine the steps necessary to abate the violation in the most expeditious manner possible and shall include the necessary measures in the order.

(3) When, on the basis of an inspection, the commissioner or his authorized representative determines that a pattern of violations of any requirements of this part or any permit conditions required by this part exists or has existed and if the commissioner or his authorized representative also finds that such violations are caused by the unwarranted failure of the permittee to comply with any requirements of this part or any permit conditions or that such violations are willfully caused by the permittee, the commissioner or his authorized representative shall forthwith issue an order to the permittee to show cause as to why the permit should not be suspended or revoked and shall provide opportunity for a public hearing. If a hearing is requested the commissioner shall inform all interested parties of the time and place of the hearing. Upon the permittee's failure to show cause as to why the permit should not be suspended or revoked, the commissioner or his authorized representative shall forthwith suspend or the board shall revoke the permit. When a permit has been revoked, the board may order the performance bond forfeited.

(4) Any additional permits held by an operator whose mining permit has been revoked shall be suspended and the operator is not eligible to receive another permit or to have the suspended permits reinstated until he has complied with all the requirements of this part in respect to former permits issued him. An operator who has forfeited a bond is not eligible to receive another permit unless the land for which the bond was forfeited has been reclaimed without cost to the state or the operator has paid into the reclamation account a sum together with the value of the bond the board finds adequate to reclaim the lands. The department may not issue any additional permits to an operator who has repeatedly been in noncompliance or violation of this part.

(5) Notices and orders issued pursuant to this section shall set forth with reasonable specificity the nature of the violation and the remedial action required, the period of time established for abatement, and a reasonable description of the portion of the strip- or underground-mining and reclamation operation to which the notice or order applies. Each notice or order issued under this section shall be given promptly to the permittee or his agent by the department or the commissioner or his authorized representative who issues the notice or order. All such notices and orders must be in writing and be signed by the authorized representatives. Any notice or order issued pursuant to this section may be modified, vacated, or terminated by the commissioner or his authorized representative, provided that any notice or order issued pursuant to this section that requires cessation of mining by the operator expires within 30 days of actual notice to the operator unless a public hearing is held at the site or within such reasonable proximity to the site that any viewings of the site can be conducted during the course of public hearing.

(6) An operator issued a notice or an order of abatement pursuant to this section or any person having an interest that is or may be adversely affected by an order or by modification, vacation, or termination of an order, may apply to the department for review of that order within 30 days of its issuance or within 30 days of its modification, vacation, or termination. Upon receipt of the application, the department shall make an investigation. The investigation shall provide an opportunity for public hearing at the request of the applicant or the person having an interest who is or may be adversely affected, to enable the applicant or the person to present information relating to the issuance and continuance of the notice, order, or the modification, vacation, or termination of it. The filing of an application for review under this subsection may not operate as a stay of any order or notice. The department shall make findings of fact and issue a written decision incorporating an order vacating, affirming, modifying, or terminating the order.

(7) Whenever an order is issued under this section or as the result of any administrative proceeding under [this part], at the request of any person a sum equal to the aggregate amount of all costs, expenses, and attorney fees as determined by the department to have been reasonably incurred by such person for or in connection with his participation in such proceedings, including any judicial review of agency actions, may be assessed against either party as the court, resulting from judicial review, or the department, resulting from administrative proceedings, considers proper.

(8) In order to protect the stability of the land, the commissioner or his authorized representative shall order cessation of underground coal mining under urbanized areas, cities, towns, and communities and adjacent to industrial or commercial buildings, major impoundments, or permanent streams if he finds imminent danger to inhabitants of the urbanized areas, cities, towns, and communities."

Section 16. Section 82-4-252, MCA, is amended to read:

"82-4-252. Mandamus. (1) A resident of this state or any person having an interest which is or may be adversely affected, with knowledge that a requirement of this part or a rule adopted under this part is not being enforced or implemented by a public officer or employee whose duty it is to enforce or implement the requirement or rule, may bring the failure to enforce to the attention of the public officer or employee by a written statement under oath that shall state the specific facts of the failure to enforce the requirement or rule. Knowingly making false statements or charges in the affidavit subjects the affiant to penalties prescribed under the law of perjury.

(2) If the public officer or employee neglects or refuses for an unreasonable time after receipt of the statement to enforce or implement the requirement or rule, the resident or person having an interest which is or may be adversely affected may bring an action of mandamus in the district court of the first judicial district of this state, in and for the county of Lewis and Clark, or in the district court of the county in which the land is located. The court, if it finds that a requirement of this part or a rule adopted under this part is not being enforced, shall order the public officer or employee whose duty it is to enforce the requirement or rule to perform his duties. If he fails to do so, the public officer or employee shall be held in contempt of court and is subject to the penalties provided by law.

(3) Any person having an interest that is or may be adversely affected may commence a civil action on his own behalf to compel compliance with this part against any person for the violation of this part or any rule, order, or permit issued hereunder. However, no such action may commence:

(a) prior to 60 days after the plaintiff has given notice in writing to the department and to the alleged violator; or

(b) if the department has commenced and is diligently prosecuting a civil action to require compliance with the provisions of this part in any rule, order, or permit issued hereunder. Any person may intervene as a matter of right in any such civil action. Nothing in this section restricts any right that any person may have under any statute or common law to seek enforcement of this part or the rules adopted hereunder or to seek any other relief.

(4) Any person who is injured in his person or property through the violation by any operator of any rule, order, or permit issued pursuant to this part may bring an action for damages (including reasonable attorney and expert witness fees) only in the county in which the strip- or underground-coal-mining operation complained of is located. Nothing in this subsection affects the rights established by or limits imposed under chapter 71 of Title 39.

(5) The court, in issuing any final order in any action brought pursuant to subsection (3), may award costs of litigation (including attorney and expert witness fees) to any party whenever the court determines such award is appropriate. The court may, if a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction is sought, require the filing of a bond or equivalent security in accordance with the Montana Rules of Civil Procedure."

Section 17. Section 82-4-254, MCA, is amended to read:

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1379 1979

"82-4-254. Violation — penalty. (1) A person or operator who violates any of the provisions of this part, rules or orders adopted under this part, or permit, term, or condition, and any director, officer, or agent of a corporation who willfully authorizes, orders, or carries out a violation, shall pay a civil penalty of not less than $100 or more than $5,000 for the violation and an additional civil penalty of not less than $100 or more than $5,000 for each day during which a violation continues and may be enjoined from continuing such violations as hereinafter provided in this section. Any person or operator who fails to correct a violation within the period permitted by law, rule of the board or department, or order of the commissioner shall be assessed a penalty of not less than $750 for each day during which such failure or violation continues. The period permitted for correction of a violation shall not, in the case of any review proceeding under 82-4-251(6), end until entry of a final order suspending the abatement requirements or until entry of an order of court ordering suspension of the abatement requirements.

(2) The department shall notify the person or operator of the violation. The person or operator shall by filing a written request within 20 days of receipt of the notice of violation be entitled to a hearing on the issues of whether the alleged violation has occurred and whether the penalty proposed to be assessed is proper. The department shall issue a statement of proposed penalty no more than 10 days after notice of violation. After the hearing or after the time for requesting a hearing has expired, the board shall make findings of fact and shall issue a written decision as to the occurrence of the violation and the amount of penalty warranted and shall order the payment of a penalty in that amount. The person or operator shall remit the amount of the penalty within 30 days of the order. If the person or operator wishes to obtain judicial review of the assessment, he shall submit with the penalty a statement that the penalty is being paid under protest and the department shall hold the payment in escrow until judicial review is complete. Any person or operator who fails to request and submit testimony at the hearing provided for in this subsection or who fails to pay the assessed penalty under protest within 30 days of the order assessing the penalty forfeits his right to seek judicial review of the violation or penalty determinations. These penalties are recoverable in any action brought in the name of the state of Montana by the attorney general in the district court of the first judicial district of this state, in and for the county of Lewis and Clark, or the district having jurisdiction over the defendant.

(3) The attorney general shall, upon request of the commissioner, sue for the recovery of the penalties provided for in this section and bring an action for a restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction against an operator or other person who:

(4) Any relief granted by a court under subsection (3)(a) continues in effect until the completion or final termination of all proceedings for review of such under this part unless, prior thereto, the district court granting the relief sets it aside or modifies it.

(5) A person who violates any of the provisions of this part, any determination or order adopted under this part, or who willfully violates any permit condition issued under this part is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than $500 and not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than 1 year, or both. Each day on which the violation occurs constitutes a separate offense.

(6) Any person who knowingly makes any false statement, representation, or certification, or knowingly fails to make any statement, representation, or certification in any application, record, report, plan, or other document filed or required to be maintained pursuant to this part shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or both.

However, if the department fails to notify the applicant in writing within 30 days after the purported filing of an application that the application is incomplete and fails to list the reasons why the application is considered incomplete, the application is considered filed as of the date of the purported filing.

(7) Where an application for a permit requires the compilation of an environmental impact statement under the Montana Environmental Policy Act, the department shall notify the applicant in writing within 180 days of the receipt of a filed application, as defined in subsection (5), of the approval or denial of the application. However, where an application does not require the compilation of an environmental impact statement, the department shall notify the applicant in writing within 60 days of the receipt of a filed application, as defined in subsection (5), of the approval or denial of the application. Notification of approval or denial may be served personally or by registered or certified mail on the applicant or his agent.

(8) When the department approves or denies the application for a permit under this section, a person who is jointly or severally adversely affected by the department's decision may request, within 15 days after the department renders its decision, upon affidavit setting forth the grounds therefor, a hearing before the board. A hearing shall be held under the provisions of the Montana Administrative Procedure Act.

(9) The department's decision on the application is not final unless 15 days have elapsed and there is no request for a hearing under this section. The filing of a request for a hearing postpones the effective date of the department's decision until the conclusion of the hearing and issuance of a final decision by the board."

Section 5. Section 75-2-301, MCA, is amended to read:

"75-2-301. Local air pollution control programs. (1) A municipality or county may establish a local air pollution control program on being petitioned by 15% of the qualified electors in its jurisdiction and, if the program is consistent with this chapter and is approved by the board after a public hearing conducted under 75-2-111, may thereafter administer in its jurisdiction the air pollution control program which:

(a) provides by ordinance or local law for requirements compatible with, more stringent, or more extensive than those imposed by 75-2-203, 75-2-212, and 75-2-402 and rules issued under these sections;

(b) provides for the enforcement of these requirements by appropriate administrative and judicial process; and

HeinOnline -- 1979 vol. II 1406 1979

(c) provides for administrative organization, staff, financial, and other resources necessary to effectively and efficiently carry out its program.

(2) If the board finds that the location, character, or extent of particular concentrations of population, air contaminant sources, or geographic, topographic, or meteorological considerations or any combination of these are such as to make impracticable the maintenance of appropriate levels of air quality without an areawide air pollution control program, the board may determine the boundaries within which the program is necessary and require it as the only acceptable alternative to direct state administration.

(3) If the board has reason to believe that an air pollution control program in force under this section is inadequate to prevent and control air pollution in the jurisdiction to which the program relates or that the program is being administered in a manner inconsistent with this chapter, the board shall, on notice, conduct a hearing on the matter.

(4) If, after the hearing, the board determines that the program is inadequate to prevent and control air pollution in the jurisdiction to which it relates or that it is not accomplishing the purposes of this chapter, it shall require that necessary corrective measures be taken within a reasonable time, not to exceed 60 days.

(5) If the jurisdiction fails to take these measures within the time required, the department shall administer within such jurisdiction all of the provisions of this chapter. The department's control program supersedes all municipal or county air pollution laws, rules, ordinances, and requirements in the affected jurisdiction. The cost of the program shall be a charge on the municipality or county.

(6) If the board finds that the control of a particular air contaminant source because of its complexity or magnitude is beyond the reasonable capability of the local jurisdiction or may be more efficiently and economically performed at the state level, it may direct the department to assume and retain control over that air contaminant source. No charge may be assessed against the jurisdiction therefor. Findings made under this subsection may be either on the basis of the nature of the sources involved or on the basis of their relationship to the size of the communities in which they are located.

(7) A jurisdiction in which the department administers its air pollution control program under subsection (5) of this section may, with the approval of the board, establish or resume an air pollution control program which meets the requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

(8) A municipality or county may administer all or part of its air pollution control program in cooperation with one or more municipalities or counties of this state or of other states."

Section 6. Section 75-2-401, MCA, is amended to read:

"75-2-401. Enforcement. (1) When the department believes that a violation of this chapter or a rule made under it has occurred, it may cause written notice to be served personally or by registered or certified mail on the alleged violator or his agent. The notice shall specify the provision of this chapter or rule alleged to be violated and the facts alleged to constitute a violation and may include an order to take necessary corrective action within a reasonable period of time stated in the order. The order becomes final unless, within 30 days after the notice is received, the person named requests in writing a hearing before the board. On receipt of the request, the board shall schedule a hearing.

(2) If, after a hearing held under subsection (1) of this section, the board finds that violations have occurred, it shall either affirm or modify an order previously issued or issue an appropriate order for the prevention, abatement, or control of the emissions involved or for the taking of other corrective action it considers appropriate. An order issued as part of a notice or after a hearing may prescribe the date by which the violation shall cease and may prescribe time limits for particular action in preventing, abating, or controlling the emissions. If, after hearing on an order contained in a notice, the board finds that no violation is occurring, it shall rescind the order.

(3) Instead of issuing the order provided for in subsection (1), the department may either:

(a) require that the alleged violators appear before the board for a hearing at a time and place specified in the notice and answer the charges complained of; or

(b) initiate action under 75-2-412 or 75-2-413.

(4) This chapter does not prevent the board or department from making efforts to obtain voluntary compliance through warning, conference, or any other appropriate means.

(5) In connection with a hearing held under this section, the board may and on application by a party shall compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence on behalf of the parties."
